DISMEMBERED BODY

Trunk of Girl Found in a Dress Suit Case

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The police of Winthrop and Medical Examiner Francis A. Harris of this city were called upon last night to investigate the death of a woman whose dismembered body was found in a suit case in the water near the Winthrop Yacht club house. There were no marks by which the remains could be readily identified.

The property of the Winthrop Yacht club is situated on the long narrow peninsula which makes entrance into Boston harbor. The local city is three miles from the city.

At 5.20 o'clock last evening two Winthrop residents, Alfred D. Allen and Randolph Pollard, who are members of the yacht club, were standing on the float near the club house. While engaged in conversation they noticed a suit case covered with olive green leather, floating deep in the water.

Thinking that it might have been lost overboard from a yacht, they took it from the water. They were unable to find any identifying marks on it and the men opened the suit case. They were startled to find the nude trunk of a woman wrapped in a strip of white oil cloth. There were no marks of identification. The police were immediately notified and the suit case with its contents was removed to the police headquarters at Winthrop.

Medical Examiner Harris viewed the body and later it was turned over to an undertaker. The medical examiner is of the opinion that the body had been in the water not longer than 24 hours.

Two cuts were found on the trunk, one extending from the breastbone down the entire length of the body, and another from the right hand side above the hip bone and meeting the other cut. There were four stitches in the latter cut. The intestines had been removed, indicating that the woman had been operated upon for an internal trouble. The body had evidently been dismembered by a sharp knife. The cuts were clean and no bones were broken.

The police hold the opinion that some one acquainted with surgery did the work. The theory of those who saw the remains is that some person attempted an operation and, failing decided to cut up the body and dispose of it in order that the authorities would not learn of the woman's death. It is thought that the suit case was taken on board some steamer, possibly the Nahant boat or a yacht, and dropped into the harbor, the wind and tide carrying the object to Winthrop.

The police estimate that the age of the victim was about 34 years and that the weight would be in the vicinity of 120 pounds. The body is that of rather a small woman and would not exceed, the police think, five feet four inches in height.

THE POLICE

HAVE NO CLEW TO IDENTITY OF WOMAN.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The police of Winthrop, Boston and the state are giving their combined efforts in an attempt to unravel the mystery, which surrounds the crime discovered yesterday by the finding of the dismembered trunk of a woman in a dress suit case floating in the water off the Winthrop Yacht club's pier. Officers were at work on the case for several hours during the night but learned nothing that might lead to clew.

The Boston police are searching the city in the hope of locating the missing woman, as they are of the opinion that the crime was committed here.

The police of Winthrop state that the victim was probably not of that town, as they know of no one missing.

SAIMAN SIRK

HAS BOUGHT MORE PROPERTY IN BOSTON.

A Boston exchange says:

J. P. Webber has conveyed to Saiman Sirk the property numbered 635 and 635A Tremont street, south end, a four-story brick structure and 1600 feet of land, near West Canton street, in Boston. It has a taxable valuation of $20,500, of which sum $5200 is on the land.

Saiman Sirk has also taken title to west end property that numbered 28 Samford street, also in Boston, having been deeded to him by J. P. Webber. It comprises a three and a half story and basement brick building and 1800 feet of land, situated near Cambridge street and of total taxable valuation of $11,200, $9,000 is on the land. The property numbered 14 Allen street, running through to McLean street, Boston, title to which recently passed to Morris Weinstein, has been conveyed by him to Nathan Sklover. It is taxed on a valuation of $5000. The location is near Chambers street.

MORE DIPHTHERIA.

One new case of diphtheria was reported at the office of the health department this morning. There was also one death reported from the disease.

There were no new cases of cerebro sinpal meningitis and nothing further has been heard from the case reported Wednesday by Dr. Gallagher.

FRANCE AROUSED

Venezuela's Act Has Stirred Up Bitter Feeling

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The offensive attitude of Venezuela toward M. Taigny, the French charge d' affairs at Caracas, has aroused indignation in official quarters here. Although the ministry has not yet taken definite action, it is said in the highest quarters that Premier Rouvier undoubtedly will demand that Venezuela disavow the offensive action and adopt a course conformable with the usual courtesies of diplomatic intercourse.

The Venezuelan authorities are now seeking to show that their action was directed against M. Taigny personally and not against the French government, but the officials here do not express the distinction between M. Taigny personal and official capacity. He has high standing at the foreign office where he recently served and aided Ambassador Cambon at Washington during the most delicate phases of the Spanish war negotiations. Therefore there is no indication here to permit Venezuela to make a scapegoat of him.

The official directly charged with handling Venezuelan questions, explained the general status of the controversy as follows:

Venezuela supports the closing of the French Cable company's inland stations on the ground of the decision of the Venezuelan courts. France does not question the general right of the courts but maintains that the decision of the courts contained nothing authorizing the executive branch to seize and shut up the cable stations.

Moreover only a day before shutting up the inland stations Venezuela gave assurances that General Velutini the Venezuelan minister at Paris, would take steps to satisfactorily adjust the question. Therefore M. Taigny protested on the ground that the court's decision did not justify closing stations. This protest was not M. Taigny's personally but followed specific instructions from the foreign office. Therefore, it is impossible to raise a personal issue. A separate verbal protest was made against the expulsion of Manager Brun, of the French Cable company on the ground that the right to expel foreigners does not apply to M. Brun, who was permanently domiciled in Caracas. It is to be expected that a demand will be made that Venezuela disavow the action taken. The subsequent course of France will depend upon Venezuela's reply.

Inquiry makes it practically certain that Venezuela has placed orders at the Creusot works for eight field batteries and four mountain batteries, the latter consisting of four guns each.

GAS KILLED TREES

Hearing Before the Park Commission

The park commission last night listened to the complaints of a number of indignant Middlesex Village residents and property owners who are losers through the "asphyxiation" of a number of shade trees in that section of the city, alleged to have been the result of illuminating gas escaping from a large main placed in upper Middlesex street by the Lowell Gas Light company about a year ago.

Testimony presented by the complainants was in effect that thirty trees along either side of Middlesex street through the village, including several stately elms, some fine maples, silver-leafed poplars and Hadens, are barren and fading away and about a dozen more are in the dying stages and the escaping gas is the alleged cause of it all.

After the property holders had their say, Judge Pickman, chairman of the commission, stated that there was nothing the commission could do for the individual citizens, but he read an extract from a decision given in a test case similar in every respect to this one which was tried before a jury at Springfield, Mass., about a year ago.

In that case the City Forester brought suit in behalf of the city of Springfield against the gas light company on the ground that the company was guilty of criminal negligence in allowing gas to be sent through a defective main.

In consequence of this defect in the main, as in the case of Middlesex Village, several of the trees in the street were killed and the jury found a verdict against the company.

The damage for the loss of one tree was placed at $150 by the judge.

Many individual claims were put in after the verdict was returned, and all were settled at the same price per tree.

Judge Pickman simply read this decision as a suggestion and from the comment heard as the village people left the commission chamber, after the hearing, it is safe to predict that the gas company will have several civil suits on its hands in a short time.

The hearing was called to order shortly before eight o'clock by Judge Pickman, and O. M. Pratt, who lost three trees was the first speaker. Geo. L. Fowler was next and following him came Judge Samuel P. Hadley of the municipal court.

He said in part:

"The great elm on the corner in the village will be dead in a year. This was a truly magnificent tree. One should look down on the trees of the village from what is known as Baldwin hill. There the awful havoc is fully apparent. Mr. Welch complained to me about his cellar being filled with gas. There was no trouble at his home, it all came from the street. I look upon this as a positive calamity to our erstwhile beautiful village. I wouldn't have taken $100 for my big tree and there are some dead and dying on the other side of the street that are or were worth more.

"When the main was being laid I went out to see the men laying it. I went and looked and the men at work did not act to me as if they knew their business. The joints were very poorly put together."

Michael Welch told of discovering the odor of gas in his cellar directly after

Miss Hope was for 17 years principal of the Boston Cooking School. She ought to be a good judge of cooking stoves. She says: "I consider the Crawford the best of them all. It uses less coal and gives a more even heat than any range I ever saw."

Many other well-known cookery teachers pay us good money for Crawfords while other makes are offered them free.

A. E. O'Heir & Co. Agts.,

The [illegible] myths war cabl. He said the [illegible] strong and he feared a disorder every time he went into the cells for with a lantern. He said that every member of his household had been sick during the winter as a result of the gas odor and that two handsome bay trees which were growing in the yard were killed.

George E. Moran, Charles A. Frost, James C. Smith, Alice P. Knapp, John F. Hadsell, Esq., representing the Kay estate, James Miller, R. F. Hoey, J. H. Clough and others were heard also.

There was not a representative of the Gas Light company present. City Solicitor James H. Hill was there and he made examinations of several of the petitioners who seemed to think they had cases against the city.

The hearing was continued by the commission to Monday evening.

VERY BRISK FIRE

Started in Denis O'Brien's Residence

A dangerous fire broke out in the dwelling house of Denis O'Brien at 65 Durant street shortly before 10 o'clock this morning and but for the prompt discovery and efficient work of the firemen the house would have been destroyed. As the house is situated on a high point of land the blaze and huge volumes of smoke were visible all over the city. Mr. O'Brien was unable to estimate the damage done to the house and contents, though the greater part of the damage was due to water.

When the fire started Mrs. O'Brien and one of her children were on the premises. Mrs. O'Brien was in the garden when a Mrs. Shums, who is visiting friends in a house across the street shouted to Mrs. O'Brien that the house was afire. At that time smoke was issuing from the rear attic windows and through the roof.

She immediately telephoned to the Fourth street engine house and box 10 and the truck responded. As the truck was going up Third street hill the men noticed that the whole rear part of the roof was ablaze and Captain Downs ordered one of his men to pull in the alarm from box 61.

When the apparatus arrived the fire was burning fiercely but it took but a short time to lay a couple of line of hose and with the assistance of the chemical the fire was confined to the attic and the rear part of the roof. There was considerable furniture and other articles stored in the attic and these suffered considerable damage.

It was learned that there was a hole in the plastering in the attic, the hole being located near a rear chimney, and that the children using the attic as a play room often put rags and papers in the hole. The overheating of the chimney this morning set fire to the rags and paper and ignited the wood and lath work and then continued on its way to the roof.

Owing to the fact that hose 10 came on a telephone alarm that company had its line on the fire before the protective company arrived with the rubber blankets and the water soaked through the different floors, wetting practically every room in the house.

T. C. Lee Co. carried the insurance on the house and furniture.

TELEPHONE ALARM.

A telephone alarm shortly after ten o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a fire in a cottage at 17 Anderson street belonging to George L. Hubbard. The fire was caused by an oil stove, but was extinguished before any damage was done to the building.

FOUGHT OVER COW

Lively Neighborhood Squabble in Tyngsboro

It was a peaceable, mild-eyed, and chewing cow and thereby hangs a tale.

And the tale of the cow was rehearsed before Judge Hadley in police court, this morning with a number of amusing details.

Joseph F. Demers pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on Mrs. Georgiana McEnnis as the result of a struggle for possession of the aforesaid cow. And the eleven witnesses pro and con introduced a very amusing variety of dialects. Lawyer Hamel appeared for the defendant and Deputy Welch for the government.

The cow is owned by Mrs. McEnnis and a month ago her husband gave the animal to Demers for a month, with the signed agreement that Demers could have full possession of the animal for that time "for her keep." Last Sunday, the time being up Mrs. and Miss McEnnis went to Demers and reading the conditions of the agreement to him informed him that they had come to take the animal away. Mr. Demers told them that they would find the cow in pasture and to take her, but added: "Give me back that agreement before you take her."

"We won't give you the agreement until we take her," said Miss McEnnis.

"Then you won't take her," said Demers.

And that's how it started. The two women went to the pasture and started to put a halter on the cow. Demers got the halter away from them, whereupon they grabbed the animal by the horns and tried to lead her away. Demers, they claim, struck them with the halter and struck Mrs. McEnnis with his fist knocking her down and bruising her arm. Then the cow moved to the shade of an old apple tree with the contestants all fastened to different parts of her anatomy and in the mix-up Mrs. McEnnis was quite roughly used. Finally Mr. Demers got possession of the animal and locked her in the barn.

Three other witnesses heard Demers say he would not give up the animal and subsequently saw Mrs. McEnnis knocked down.

For the defence Demers claimed that he did not want to give up the cow unless he first got back his agreement but denied doing any striking. He claimed that the cow tripped up Mrs. McEnnis, causing her to fall.

One of the witnesses with a delightful French dialect said he saw Mr. Demers, two ladies and a cow all struggling together. There were seven witnesses for the defence and all were positive that Demers didn't strike Mrs. McEnnis. Judge Hadley reviewing the evidence said that Mrs. McEnnis was entitled to the cow on demand and that the defendant had no right to interfere with her. He fined Demers $15 for the assault. Demers appealed but afterward withdrew it.

SATCHEL FOUND

Was Stolen at Bedford Springs Hotel

LEXINGTON, Mass., Sept. 22.—A satchel containing shares of stock and a memorandum book which were stolen from the room of Mrs. E. C. Butler at the Hotel Sweet Water, Bedford Springs, September 5, were found today hidden in a heap of stones not far from the scene of the robbery. The jewelry and money, however, which were also stolen, could not be found. The discovery today was made by a man named Peter Dolan, who was repairing a section of Sweet Water avenue. He immediately notified the police, who took charge of the satchel and contents. Further search for the missing money and jewelry was unavailing and the mystery of the robbery is still as deep as when it was first committed. The Sweet Water crime was one of peculiar daring and conception. On the night of Sept. 5, some person at present unknown to the police rode up to the hotel on horseback. It is believed that by standing up on the animal's back the man was able to reach a portico under Mrs. Butler's window. From there an easy entrance was gained to the room and the apartment ransacked without awakening the sleeping woman. The crime was discovered the next morning when Mrs. Butler awoke, but until today the police were unable to find a single clew in the case.

Miss Bertha McKay of Calais, Me., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. D. Rollins, of Chelmsford street.

Mrs. Ada Poff of Beach street will spend the next two weeks at Rochester and Raymond, N. H.

SMALL CITIES

Will be Cut Out by the N. E. League

Reorganization plans for the Connecticut league were given additional impetus—this week by the announcement that the Holyoke baseball club favors the scheme. The Holyoke club, producer of two pennant winners in two years, will be a powerful ally for the reorganizers, as Manager O'Neil of Springfield long ago announced that he would work for a complete reorganization.

The statement last week of the idea held by Manager Tom McDermott of Fall River has created an immense amount of talk all over the circuit and in New England league cities. That the promoters have a big job on their hands there is no doubt, but they intend to tackle the proposition at the annual meeting of the Connecticut league in Springfield Oct. 20.

The cities mentioned for the new combine include Holyoke, Springfield, Hartford, Bridgeport and New Haven of the Connecticut league, Fall River, New Bedford and Lynn of the New England league, and Worcester, for a short time in 1904 a member of the Connecticut circuit. Troy and Albany of the New York State league have been added to the list of possibilities.

President Jens J. Madsen of the Hoyloke club said that he and his colleagues are agreed that a reorganization is not only desirable but necessary. He talked the matter over with Manager McDermott when the latter was in this vicinity last week, and agreed to lend his assistance to the project. Self-preservation for the larger cities in the Connecticut league circuit is believed to demand immediate action and President Madsen says it would never do to let matters drift along until spring, as was the case with the New Haven muddle in the past season.

Tempting financial inducements were held before the eyes of the magnates hereabouts by Manager McDermott. He said Lynn is one of the best of minor league cities and he promised that New Bedford and Fall River, which are Holyoke and Springfield rivals over again, will do their share to make the plan a success. As an exmaple of having small cities in the circuit, Mr. McDermott told of a visit to Concord by his team when Fall River and Concord were fighting for the pennant, saying the money received by his team was about $60.

History shows that the same sort of thing has been true in the Connecticut league when any of the teams in the small cities were putting up a respectable fight for the flag. When Hoyloke and Meriden were setting the pace in 1903, few trips of Holyoke to Meriden were worth the trouble financially. The only notable exception was the closing game of the season, and then 500 Holyoke rooters accompanied their team to the Silver City.

AMATEUR BASE BALL

The Ketchup Club of Dracut plays the Centralville Blues at Spalding park on next Saturday afternoon. This game is agreed between the two managers to be for the championship of the city. Hickey and Burke will be the battery for the Dracut team, while Cronin and Vaughn will work with the Blues.

The Red Men want a game with the Ketchups before the season closes as each team has won one game. Manager Donovan of the Red Men states that his team will play ball until the snow flies if he can find anyone to play against it. Manager Donovan believes that if the Ketchups are game ones they will play the "rubber" with the Indians.

DIAMOND NOTES.

Geier of the St. Paul team threw out two men at first base from right field in a game the other day. The most surprising feat of the season in that line was done by Elberfield in Vicksburg last spring on the training trip. Elberfield played centre field that day and threw out two batters at first base.

One reason why collegians do not play a better grade of baseball may be due to the howl against summer ball. As one prominent professional recently observed, the college men are afraid to take a ball in their hands in summer, and the only playing they do is in the spring at college.

Speaking of the proposed post-season series between the Browns and the Cardinals, Stanley Robison says he is willing to give the players half of the net receipts. He suggests that the two teams divide this 50 per cent., 65 per cent. to the winner and 40 per cent. to the loser.

Bill Hart, the old-time pitcher, tells of a game played by the Lincoln team against the Wichitas back in 1887. The Kansans won the first game 4 to 3, which so rankled in the breasts of the Nebraskans that they trimmed the Sunflower men the next day, 46 to 7, making 50 hits. "No man on our team had less than five hits," says Hart. "We made nineteen runs in one inning."

The members of the Lincoln team at the time were: Swartzel, Dolan, Hart and Atkinson, pitchers; Kid Baldwin and Charlie Hoover, catchers; Beckley, first base; Dave Rowe, second base; Joe Herr, short; Fred Lang, third base; Schaefer, Reeder and Hall, outfielders.

In the eastern league a hot campaign is being waged, the intention being to oust President Power. A Buffalo paper mentions David Fultz, the New York A. L. outfielder, as a possibility for the position. Pat Powers is likely to be president of the league as long as he wants the place.

Jack Kiernan can be located at Leominster. He has been engaged as exchange editor on a paper there, and if Jack doesn't get enough press notices in for himself during the winter to land him in the Eastern league, then he will undoubtedly cavort around the left garden here next season and gather them in.—(Fall River Globe.)

Ed Hahn, the new outfielder from the Southern League, continues his good work as the head of the batting list of the New York Americans and is close to .350 for a score of games. He gained considerably on Keeler last week as the little fellow did not play in every game and was slightly off form in those that he did take part in.

At the reception tendered Messrs. Gulheen and O'Hara last evening by the Glee-Glu Club, Mr. Gulheen was presented with a handsome gold watch fob. Michael Hughes made the presentation speech, and Tommy responded fittingly. Master Griffiths presided at the piano, and J. Baptiste Laflamme used the cutlass. Tommy Gulheen was presented with a handsome diamond ring while in Holyoke. "Friends," Tommy says, did the trick, but there are suspicions.—(Fall River Herald.)

Ganley, one time of Brockton, who joined the Pittsburg forces two weeks ago, has averaged more than two hits to a game and he is making a strong fight for a regular position on the team.

A Harrisburg (Pa.) special says: "The directors to a man favor 'Billy' Hamilton, and his election will follow. His acceptance has been assured, but it will be with the understanding that a different system will be followed. Manager Hamilton is to have full charge of the team. Manager Hamilton will lose no time to get in touch with desirable material."

FAMOUS WHISTLER.

MISS TRUAX VERY POPULAR HERE.

Miss Louise Truax, the protege of Miss Helen Gould, visited Lowell last night and entertained one of the largest audiences that has yet been attracted to the new building of the local Y. W. C. A. Miss Truax is the whistler who made such a favorable impression on the Lowell people the last time she entertained in this city.

Arthur C. Spalding was the accompanist and solos were sung by Miss M. L. Eveleth, contralto soloist at the Eliot church, and Miss Nowell, a soprano soloist. Miss Nowell also gave a piano solo. Miss Gertrude Edmunds of the Training school was the reader and the three pieces she gave met with much applause.

The hall was crowded and there were as many people on the stairs and in the hallway.

Miss Truax came to the Y. W. C. A. upon this occasion of her own accord, as she was so well pleased with the reception she had received upon her last visit.

Y. M. C. I. TABLE.

The members of the Y. M. C. I. table of the coming bazaar of the Immaculate Conception church, held a pleasant dancing party in Prescott hall last night, there being about one hundred couples in attendance. Music for dancing was furnished by the Colonial orchestra, and those who officered the affair were:

General manager, George A. Willett; assistant general manager, John H. McCaffrey; floor director, James J. Flanagan; assistant floor director, William O'Meara; chief aid, Thomas Finerty.

BOY'S CRIMES

STARTLING STORY TOLD IN PROVIDENCE COURT.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 22.—The arrest of Leroy Staples, Andrew Watt and Edwin A. Steere, all 15 years old, disclose a startling chapter of juvenile depravity. Within a fortnight the three boys maliciously drove off a horse and carriage, stole a lot of trading stamps, attempted highway robbery, set a barn on fire, stole a woman's wallet and discussed burning a lumber yard. With the money in the wallet Watt and Staples started for New York, but were arrested by the New London police. They weakened and confessed the other crimes, which led to the arrest of young Steere.

Staples was sent to the reform school during his minority.

BOXING GOSSIP

The sporting writer of the Boston Traveler gives the following definition of fame:

Every dog has—well, anyway, James Edward Britt, who but a few days ago was comfortably reclining in the lap of glory, is today lonesome gazing out of the attic window wondering whither all the lovers have flown. Where once the outer space was filled with extended hands eager to duke James Edward's trusty right, now the dark and dismal mist of oblivion hovers sorrowingly about. The gladsome shouts of an overwhelming army of admirers no longer echo forth sweet melody into the ears of the champion's ear, and only an occasional word of greeting from the bill collector or the ash man stimulates Jimmy's waning courage.

But, what new sounds are those emanating from the direction of the prosperity factory? Why, that is only a riot caused by people trampling one another under foot in a vain attempt to get close enough to shake the hand of Battling Nelson, champion lightweight of the world. Nelson is the fistic lion at present and is now occupying an enviable position on the crest of the wave of popularity.

Nelson has been an habitual short ender during his entire ring career. He always was about a 10 to 7 long shot. Even in this last fight, which he won so conclusively, his defeat was universally predicted by the sporting public. People always regulate their opinions according to the strong qualities of the leading man in the business. When Britt occupied the light-weight throne, all men of the class were judged from the standpoint of science and brain work. This accounts for the tardiness of most sports in flocking to Nelson's standard of ruggedness. But now that the Dane has materialized to the satisfaction of every one, all light-weight proclivities will be judged from the standpoint of stamina and punching ability.

A few weeks ago a boxing exhibition given by Battling Nelson could not have taken in expense in a penny arcade. But now not Battling Nelson, but the Lightweight Champion of the World packs a large playhouse every night by simply going a few rounds with his sparring partner.

Before the fight he was fortunate to get a letter once in a while from some close friend, but now it would take about 7 secretaries to handle his correspondence. A few days ago Billy Nolan was generally adjudged a suspicious character, but today the whole sporting world is at his feet and every one is congratulating him on his diplomacy.

AN IMPORTANT ELEMENT

When it comes to buying clothing is style. Even though the fabric and pattern is to your liking, you would not buy a garment unless the style were correct.

STYLE

Is, perhaps, the most notable feature of our garments. No local custom tailor can afford to hire such high salaried designers as are kept in the constant employ of the makers of our clothing. The entire time of these artists is taken up in modelling each successive season, garments that dictate the style the country over. Only such expert men tailors as made our garments can work out the fine points of these designs with any degree of success. Ordinary clothing is put together—not tailored—by women of the sweat-shop, and consequently lacks every element of style and correctness.

THOSE BOND DEALS

Perkins Tells How New York Life Managed Them

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—The probing of the methods of life insurance companies was resumed today by the legislative investigating committee. Before the day's proceedings were begun Charles E. Hughes, counsel to the committee, said he believed that facts of more importance and greater interest than any developed thus far still remained to be brought out.

"We have not yet reached the meat of this inquiry," said Mr. Hughes, "in fact, we have only started it."

The first witness today was John F. McCullagh of Albany, who is employed by Andrew A. Hamilton. The checks for $100,000 given by the New York Life Insurance company to Mr. Hamilton bore McCullagh's name as endorser but the witness said he knew nothing about the checks except what he had read in the newspapers. He did not know whether Mr. Hamilton appeared before legislative committees, nor did he know anything about his employer's accounts in the New York State National Bank of Albany. He did not know of any other account of Mr. Hamilton's in Albany but knew he was elected a director of the Albany Trust company about a year ago. The witness said he did not know where Mr. Hamilton's books were nor would he know where to find any of his employer's cancelled checks. Mr. McCullagh said further that he knew nothing whatever about the $100,000 presented to Hamilton and concerning which Mr. McCall, president of the N. Y. Life Insurance company, was examined yesterday.

George W. Perkins, vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Co., and a partner in the banking firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., was the next witness. He was asked to produce the check for $500,000 given to J. P. Morgan & Co. by the New York Life Insurance company for $500,000 of bonds of the Navigation syndicate. These bonds were sold by the New York Life Insurance Co. to J. P. Morgan, at the close of the calendar year, December 31, 1901, and bought back on the next business day, January 2, 1902. The check of J. P. Morgan & Co. for $500,000 in payment for the bonds also was asked for. Mr. Perkins then presented a statement of the New York Life Insurance company's joint accounts from 1897 to 1905.

Mr. Perkins also presented a number of other financial statements that had been requested. Then he said: "Mr. Hughes, I think I have everything you have asked for. I wished to make a correction on the records. I think you assumed the object of the navigation syndicate transaction between the New York Life and J. P. Morgan & Co. was to enable the former to reduce their holdings temporarily from $4,000,000 to $3,200,000. You asked whether our purpose was to report $3,200,000 instead of $4,000,000. The record as furnished me records me as answering 'Yes Sir.' I wish to correct that. I did not mean that. I do not mean it."

"You mean to say 'No'?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"I mean to say 'No,'" replied Mr. Perkins.

Mr. Perkins tried to take up another subject but Mr. Hughes would not let the witness proceed.

He asked Mr. Perkins to produce all certificates the New York Life held on Dec. 31, 1903, showing its participation in the navigation syndicate and he particularly wished to know what instrument or certificate the New York Life Insurance company delivered J. P. Morgan & Co. on that date.

"I will be glad to furnish the information," said the witness. Among the joint accounts, Mr. Hughes found a participation of the New York Life Insurance company with C. T. Wing & Co., in which on the purchase of railroad bonds to the sum of $1,750,000 the New York Life Insurance company received a profit of $32,753.

The witness did not know what profits the firm of C. T. Wing & Co. got in the transaction.

"From this account it looks as if the New York Life put up all the money," said Mr. Hughes.

"Do you know whether that is true or not?"

"I do not. I am not the bookkeeper, but I presume the accounts are correct."

Mr. Perkins was temporarily excused and Milton Monroe Madison, bookkeeper of the New York Life Insurance company, was called. He identified extracts from the books of the New York Life showing that in the Wing & Co. account the New York Life Insurance Co. paid out $1,700,000. Some bonds were withdrawn by the insurance company leaving $1,250,000 bonds in the joint account.

Mr. Perkins was recalled and said: "We went into this transaction to get these bonds as cheaply as possible. I fear, Sir, that you are under the impression that we went into this business so as to let others make money out of the action but that is not so."

"We will skip the motive," interrupted Mr. Hughes. "Let us get at the facts. I do not wish to discuss the matter at all with you. Let us have the facts."

"All right, Sir."

"Did the New York Security & Trust company buy any bonds for your company?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"I cannot say, for that was four years before I took charge of the finance department of the company."

Mr. Perkins said that in 1898 the New York Life Insurance company took $2,100,000 of Chicago and Northwestern 3½ per cent. bonds in joint account with Goldman Sachs & company, a portion of which were sold with a profit for the insurance company of $13,740.

Mr. Madison was recalled and testified that the profits were shared by the life insurance company and Goldman Sachs & Co., and that if there had been a loss it would have been equally shared.

Mr. Perkins again took the stand and said that in another joint account with Goldman Sachs & Co., the latter company bought the bonds amounting to $1,420,000 and that the New York Life Insurance company carried them until they were sold. The profits were divided, each receiving $12,184.

It was shown that the profits of the New York Life Insurance company from 1899 to 1901 inclusive, in joint accounts were $388,382.

Testifying regarding another bond transaction, Mr. Perkins said that Goldman Sachs & company bought the bonds in the market and that the policy of the life insurance company has not been to buy bonds merely for the purpose of selling them.

A joint account in Missouri Pacific five showed profits of $48,372 each to the insurance company and of $9112 to George W. Bartholomew, a broker. In a joint account with Farson, Leach & company in 1901, in which bonds amounting to $1,100,000 were handled the profits were divided, the insurance company receiving $22,005.

"Do I understand," said Mr. Hughes, "Farson, Leach & company did not put up any of the money?"

"Another way of putting it," replied Mr. Perkins, "they did all the work and we furnished the money. We received the money for our bonds and divided the profits."

"What is the work they did?"

"They called our attention to the bonds and carried out the purchase and the sale."

Mr. Perkins explained that the purchase of Long Island R. R. refunding fours by the New York Life of $3,015,000 at 92 less 1 per cent. was a joint account with the company and W. S. Fanshawe on which the profits to the New York Life were $81,853.50 and to Mr. Fanshawe were $27,60[illegible].

"Why did Mr. Fanshawe make so large a sum?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"That was the way we made the trade at the beginning," said Mr. Perkins.

In a New York City bond issue and other joint accounts with Harvey Fisk & company, each firm carried its own share of the bonds and took out its share of the profit.

In a joint account with W. S. Fanshawe & company, in 1901, to take an issue of Northern Pacific and Great Northern bonds, Mr. Perkins said J. P. Morgan & company were the syndicate managers and the money for the purchase was furnished by the New York Life Insurance Co.

A number of other joint accounts were gone over and then Mr. Perkins was granted permission to make a statement.

"In these joint accounts," he said, "we have never made a loss. Our profits from 1897 to date have been on these joint accounts $656,972 and when the value of the bonds withdrawn are considered the profits of every description run up to $856,601.

"There is one other person, however connected with the contracts I would like to mention in order to have his name on the record. Mr. Hughes himself. He is a policy holder in the New York Life Insurance company and as such is a party to all these contracts."

"Considering my vital interest in these matters," said Mr. Hughes, "I intend at a future date to probe very fully into them."

At this point a recess was taken.

THE PRESIDENT

Discussed Insurance With "Big Three"

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 21.—Secretary of State Elihu Root, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Joseph H. Choate, formerly American ambassador to Great Britain, who spent last night at Sagamore Hill as guests of President Roosevelt, left today for New York.

The conference between the president and his visitors was admittedly important and the principal topic of discussion was the recent disclosures in the investigation of the conduct of the life insurance companies of New York, being made by the New York legislative committee. The president has in course of preparation his annual message to the congress and as he proposes to discuss the insurance question in that message, with special reference to federal legislation for the regulation of insurance he naturally desired to confer with his close friends as to the manner in which he should treat the subject. It is known that the conference last night continued until a late hour. No details of the conference are obtainable. It is known, however, that the president has had in mind the desirability of federal regulation of life insurance corporations.

The president has been urged strongly to recommend to the congress the enactment of such legislation as will give the federal government supervisory control of insurance companies.

Whether the disclosures of payment of certain corporations of campaign contributions has anything to do with the present inquiry by the president or whether that subject was considered even at last night's conference cannot be told.

SCARED BY GUN

Boy Forced to Capture Accomplice

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Before the astonished gaze of hundreds of citizens, who joined in a chase in Harlem streets last night, Policeman David Lawlor, pointing a pistol at the head of a prisoner and threatening him with death if he refused to obey, made him chase an alleged accomplice for half a mile until the fugitive was caught. Thus the patrolman succeeded in arresting both prisoners.

Lawlor's remarkable method is probably the first instance of the sort on record.

The prisoners gave as their names, Frederic Krugal, eighteen years old, of No. 1661 Avenue A, and John Monahan, sixteen years old, of No. 455 East Eighty-third street. Lawlor saw them approach Mrs. Nellie Shulvey, of No. 163 East One Hundred and Second street, at the corner of One Hundred and Sixteenth street and Third avenue, with a perambulator, in which her baby was sleeping.

Monahan asked the woman to point the direction to a certain house. As she did so the young man, it is charged, snatched her purse, upsetting the baby carriage, and then ran west down One Hundred and Sixteenth street.

Lawlor saw the commotion and rushed to the scene. He grabbed young Krugal and immediately determined to have both youths as prisoners. Pulling his revolver and placing the muzzle against the head of the prisoner, Lawlor shouted to Krugal to chase the fleeing youngster.

Krugal did not hesitate. Scores of persons had seen the carriage upset, and they joined in the pursuit, while their cries of "Stop thief!" caused hundreds to gather and take part in the chase. Through One Hundred and Sixteenth street, past Lexington Park and into Madison avenue the runaway dashed, with Lawlor and his prisoner at the head of the yelling mob behind.

Northward along Madison avenue Monahan sped. "Catch him or a bullet goes into your head!" Lawlor cried again to his prisoner.

The gap between pursued and pursuers grew narrower and narrower until, at One Hundred and Twelfth street, the remarkable chase ended. The scared prisoner, spurred on by a last deadly warning, flung himself at the runaway and brought him to earth.

Then came the crowd—a mad, infuriated mob. The man who had seen the beginning of the strange chase, angered by the upsetting of the baby carriage, tried to get at the prisoners and tear them from the iron grasp of the patrolman.

Lawlor, fearing for the safety of the youths, flung them into a doorway and then had a telephone call sent to the East One Hundred and Fourth street police station for reserves. When a patrol wagon, loaded with policemen, arrived they had to fight their way through the angry mob with their clubs.

At the station house Captain Brennan, after complimenting Lawlor, denounced the prisoners. If he had his way, he told them, they would be stripped and lashed. Monahan and Krugal will be arraigned in court today.

BADLY DAMAGED

The Juniata Was in Collision

CHATHAM, Mass., Sept. 21.—A five masted schooner, painted white, with her headgear carried away, was sighted seven miles off shore at 10.50 o'clock this morning. It is believed the vessel was in collision with the steamer Juniata which earlier in the day was observed passing here in a damaged condition. The schooner is apparently loaded and is heading for Boston. Her name could not be seen from shore.

CHIEF HARRIS

SAYS HE WILL CONTINUE INQUIRY INTO CHASE CASE.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Sept. 21.—Chief of police Harris said today that in the possibility of an inquest into the death of Mrs. Jennie Chase, the wealthy Swampscott woman who died under mysterious circumstances last week, he would continue his investigations in the case. The chief would not say, however, whether he thought an inquest would be called for. If it should be, he added, it would not be for a week or two, until after a chemical analysis had been made of the vital organs of Mrs. Chase at the Harvard medical school.

MORE INDICTED

CAMBRIDGE MAN CHARGED WITH NATURALIZATION FRAUDS.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—Indictments were returned by the Federal grand jury today before Judge Lowell in the United States circuit court against 15 Cambridge men, charging illegal naturalization and registration in connection with the last municipal election in that city. Charles George was indicted on the charge of using the United States mails to defraud. Indictments were also returned against Samuel Fine, his wife Mabel Fine and Daniel Morrison, charged with counterfeiting coins.

VETERAN FIREMEN MEET.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 21.—Veteran firemen to the number of 150 assembled today at the annual convention of the Veteran State Firemen's association, held in City Hall. The delegates were welcomed to the city by Mayor James E. Burke. The social event of the day will be a boat ride on Lake Champlain. Among the most important business matters to be taken up was whether or not the association would disband. Until this is decided no steps will be taken towards electing officers for another year.

SCHOONER ASHORE.

HALIFAX, Sept. 21.—The schooner Dominion which went ashore recently on a ledge off Yarmouth while on a passage from Digby to Port Hood, has been floated. She put into Yarmouth harbor today and will make necessary repairs there.

PANIC AT FIGHT

Spectators Fled From the Police

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—A squad of Newark policemen rudely interrupted a scrap in its fourteenth round at 2 o'clock yesterday morning at Henry Frey's boathouse on the Newark side of Newark Bay. It was a Hudson county entertainment and about 200 men from Jersey City and Bayonne were ferried across the bay in launches and rowboats. A wall of canvas had been erected around the roped arena, and chairs, tables, boxes and barrels were put in for seats. As fast as the visitors came they found places within the screen, which was roofless and was illuminated with gasoline torches. The contestants were Kid Murphy and Kid Quinn, both of Jersey City, and the go was underided when Roundsman Fitch and five patrolmen arrived and a boy who was perched high on a pile of boxes gave the alarm. The lights were quickly extinguished. Everybody clawed and fought for the opening. Men went down and were trampled in the darkness. Dozens got to the boats and others jumped into twenty feet of water and were drawn into the boats by their friends. Perhaps one or two were drowned, but there have been no reports of people being missing. A few scattered over the "dump" and fled to the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks. The principals in the bout escaped, as did the boathouse keeper. Eleven Jersey City men were caught and locked up overnight as disorderly persons. They each paid $5 fine later in the day.

Louis Graf saw the unusual preparations at Frey's on Tuesday night, and when the lights blazed out he strolled over to see what was coming off. He was invited to stop and see the mill, but declined and then he was forcibly detained. He took his detention calmly, and when he got an opportunity ran to the police station and informed Acting Captain Connell. Just for that he was invited to come out of his house and take a licking yesterday morning. He notified the police that four men were threatening his life. Patrolman Townsend arrested George Kellenbence but the others who threatened Graf got away.

LAKEVIEW PARK

WILL BE FULL OF PET ANIMALS ON SATURDAY FOR THE CHILDREN.

A grand animal hunt for the primary and the grammar school children of Lowell and the neighboring towns is the novel attraction planned by the Boston & Northern Street Railway company for next Saturday at Lakeview park. This will be no cruel slaughter of game, but an exciting animal hunt in which the children may secure the animals alive and take them home for pets, while to some fortunate boy or girl will be awarded a goat and goat-cart as the grand prize in the game. The children who are successful in the hunt will receive a real live rabbit, a live singing canary bird, or a little black and white guinea pig.

The hunt will begin next Saturday at 2.30 p. m., when the children who are in the park will assemble at the entrance for instructions. Pasteboard tags, each bearing the name of some animal and with one marked "goat and cart," will be hidden away in various parts of the park. When the hunt starts the children will look through the park for these tags, which will be attached to the lower branches of trees, to the swings, seats, and other places and the child finding a tag will be entitled to one of the pets named on the tag, by presenting the ticket at the pavilion.

There will be more than 150 of these tags which call for pet animals, besides the grand prize of the goat and cart, and there will be sport enough for all the children who want a rabbit, a guinea pig or a canary bird. Never before has such a scheme for the happiness and pleasure of New England's children been planned. The plans for this great contest have been going on very quietly for some time until now everything is in readiness.

Every little child will have a delightful time, and while their papas and brothers are away up in Maine or Canada hunting for deer and moose the little fellows and their sisters will be searching nearer home but with no less zeal, for the game that they can capture without the aid of rifles.

Defeated Cambridge by Score of 9 to 2

Game at Spalding Park Was One of the Best Seen Here This Season — Loyal Rooters Cheered Both Sides On

Here is the crack police baseball team of New England and, we'll bet money on it:

Lowell Police—McCann 3b, Castles ss, Flanagan 1b, Kelley rf, Maher lf, Donovan c, Cogger 2b, Cronin p, Whelan cf.

The Holyoke police team claims the championship, but after the game the Lowell team put up today against the Cambridge police, beating them for the second time, it is good betting that Flanagan's Pets can polish off the Holyoke coppers and a game should be arranged before the cold weather comes.

The Cambridge team with about 50 rooters headed by Sergeant Bob Murray, who ranks high among the great rooters of the state, met their rivals at Spalding park where all the local police officers who were not on duty and a number of local guests met the visitors and joined them in the good time. The visitors arrived on a special electric car about 11 o'clock and were immediately served a lunch. Then the players donned their uniforms and got down to business, the game starting promptly at noon. It was expected that Joe Riley would pitch for Lowell, but he did not show up and Joe Cronin, the well-known reporter and slab artist was put in and he pitched the game of his life. The only other ringer was Joe Kelley who played in right field. Cambridge had three ringers on the team, the battery and the third baseman. The visitors lined up as follows: Cody 1b and capt., Ginty cf, Nellon 3b, Conroy ss, Greene p, Canney lf, McCreahan c, O'Brien rf, and Walsh 2b.

The umpires were John Ivers of Lowell and a little fat man from Cambridge named John Cummings. The latter wouldn't run to the side lines to judge a foul ball, and hence made two rank decisions, the first giving Cambridge two phony runs and the second evening matters by giving Lowell two runs not deserved. But for these decisions the game would have been 7 to 0 in favor of Lowell. As it was the final score was 9 to 2 in favor of the home talent. For seven innings the game was the best played seen at Spalding park, barring none, and as the Cambridge team held the lead most of the way, the visiting rooters had great fun. Bob Murray led the Cambridge crowd while Lawyer Dan Donahue led the home rooters, and their exchanges of wit and humor flew fast and furiously. Until toward the close Lowell could do nothing with Greene's curves, while the visitors couldn't get the ball beyond the Lowell infield, and sharp plays followed each other in quick succession.

The visitors went to the bat in the first. Cody hit a hot one to McCann who made a quick stop and threw to first getting the runner. Ginty banged one along the ground at Flanagan and Eddie squeezed it and tagged him. Nellon fanned. For Lowell Green worried the local rooters much by striking out three men, McCann, the first up, was struck by the pitcher and took first. He stole second and got to third on a little passed ball, his base running opening the eyes of the visitors. Then Castles, Flanagan and Kelley fanned in succession.

In the second Conroy hit a hot one at Steve Castles, but the old New England leaguer was there with the goods and he died at first. Greene cracked one to McCann and he died at first. Canney shot up a high foul fly that Jack Donovan squeezed, and then Mr. Greene did another fine job on Lowell, striking out Maher, Donovan and Cogger.

Joe Kelley distinguished himself in the third by robbing McCreahan of a Texas leaguer by a pretty running one-hand catch. O'Brien hit a line drive to Flanagan and was two out. Walsh fanned. The home team broke the ice in this inning and got in one run. Cronin drew a pass and Whelan foul filed to Cody. Then a passed ball sent Joe to second. McCann hunted between the pitcher and the plate and McCreahan ran out and fielded the ball, throwing to first to get McCann. Cronin who had got a good start for third, came all the way home and slid in before the catcher could get back to the plate. "You'd better put an electric light on that fellow's beat," cried Dan Donahue. "He's asleep at the switch." Castles got first on Walsh's fumble and went to third on a single by Flanagan. But Kelley closed the inning with a hard grounder to Walsh who threw him out nicely.

Score: Lowell 1, Cambridge 0.

Such cheering you never heard as in this inning when a bum decision by the Cambridge umpire enabled the visitors to get the lead. Cody hit to deep left field for one of the longest hits of the season. Cody weighs over 200 pounds and made third on it. Any one else would have made a home run. Ginty hit the ball to right field, 20 feet foul, but the umpire called it fair and Cody scored while Ginty got two bases. Ginty went to third on Nellon's out, Castles to Flanagan and scored on a wild pitch. Conroy made a single by third base but tried for two and was thrown out. Greene hit to right field for a single and Kelley returned the ball to Flanagan instead of to the pitcher. Eddie hid the ball in his mit and Greene ran off the base whereupon Eddie tagged him and perhaps Greene wasn't sore on himself at being caught by an old gag like that. Lowell did not get by first in their half.

In the fifth Cronin struck out two men and fielded out the third while Greene went him a little better by striking out all three men.

Martin Maher made a fine catch in left field in the sixth while in Lowell's half Umpire Cummings allowed Lowell two runs more on a bad decision on a foul. With Castles on second and Flanagan on first Maher hit to right field about 20 feet foul but the umpire called it fair and Castles scored while Flanagan got to second. Donovan then cracked out a two-bagger and Flanagan scored.

The seventh was quick but in the eighth there was awful slaughter by the home team most of their hits being of the Texas league variety but in such quick succession as to net six runs and place the victory where the visitors couldn't get it. In this inning Castles, Flanagan, Donovan, Cogger and Whelan got singles, and Kelly and Cronin got two baggers. The visitors went out in quick order in the ninth and the game was over. The vanquished team admitted that the Lowell bunch were the best aggregation of police players that they have tackled this season.

Lunch was then served again after which Ex-Alderman Scanlon of Cambridge called to order and after a speech in which he complimented the players on both sides introduced several speakers among whom were: Rep. Barrett of East Cambridge, Rep. Hayes of Lowell; Capt. Doherty of the Fall River police, Capt. Kew, Lieut. Brosnan, Lawyer Dan Donahue, Tom Whittaker and others. The visitors returned on a special electric car late in the afternoon.

TWO RUNAWAYS

Lowell Boys Caught by Arlington Police

Richard Viancourt and John Porter, aged 11 and 12 years respectively, started out to see the world the other day, but their travels were brought to an abrupt ending today by the Arlington police. Both boys belong in this city and evidently tramped all the way to Arlington.

One of the police officers in that town found both boys hanging around the railroad tracks and after questioning them found that they belonged in this city. They were taken to the police station and word was telephoned to Lowell.

They were barefooted and looked as though they had not had much to eat. The parents of the boys were notified and will go to Arlington and bring them home. Viancourt lives at 81 Lakeview avenue while Porter lives at 9 Dewey avenue.

Viancourt is well known to the police despite the fact that he has not yet reached his twelfth year. Several weeks ago he was before the court on a larceny charge and the case was continued until the later part of next month in order to give him time to make restitution.

AN OLD RESIDENT

Mrs. Mary Lacroix Died Yesterday

Mrs. Mary F. Lacroix, an old and highly respected resident of this city, died yesterday morning at 4.20 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Kane, 55 Bartlett street, after a long illness borne with Christian fortitude.

Mrs. Lacroix was born in St. Jarvais, Can., Mar. 15, 1825, and lived in the states over 50 years and had resided in Lowell since 1872. She was a devout attendant of the French Catholic churches and was one of the founders of the Order of St. Ann in this city.

She is survived by nine children, Mrs. Oliver St. Jean, Mrs. Joseph Ledoux and Mr. Louis Lacroix of Woodstock, Vt., Frank Lacroix of Audubon, Minn.; Mrs. Ephraim Cote of Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. Leonard Wise of East Hebron, N. H.; Mrs. Simon Rousseau, Mr. Abraham Lacroix and Mrs. Thos. H. Kane of this city. She is also survived by 24 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

RESUMING WORK

Collinsville Mills Are Getting Busy Again

The Collinsville mills are not running on full time at present owing to the delay caused by the fire, but the greater part of the mill is now running and it is expected that by the first of next week every department will be in operation.

The search for the body of the man who it is supposed perished in the fire at the Collinsville mills Saturday morning, has failed to bring to light any trace of the man.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Arthur W. Colburn and Miss Mabel L. Wilcox took place at the home of the bride's mother in Malden at six o'clock Wednesday evening in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

Rev. Owen James of the Dracut Centre Congregational church performed the ceremony and Miss H. Mabel Colburn of this city presided at the piano.

Miss Wilcox was attired in a handsome gown of embroidered net over white silk and carried roses. She was attended by Miss Lillmer Hall of Manchester, N. H., who wore a gown of white crepe de chine. Mr. Wm. Fullerton was groomsman. The house was prettily decorated with potted plants and white asters.

After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served after which the happy couple left for parts unknown.

Both parties are well known in Lowell and vicinity, Miss Wilcox being a graduate of the Lowell Normal school and Mr. Colburn being prominent in political circles.

After Nov. 1, they will be at home to their friends at the Colburn homestead, Colburn Ave., Dracut.

DEATHS

CUMMINGS—Catherine V. Cummings, aged 26 years and 6 months, died today at the home of her parents, Patrick and Bridget, 18 Dunfey street. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her parents, five brothers, John, David, Fred, George and Henry, also one sister, Mary.

The funeral will take place from her late home at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and a high mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock.

BARRY—Florence Catherine Barry, aged one year, child of Michael and Catherine, died today at the home of her parents, 120 Adams street. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.

HIS FOOT INJURED.

Joseph Cole, aged 33 years and residing at 22 Aiken street, while at work on the new building of the Bigelow Carpet company, this morning received a contused wound of the big toe of the right foot caused by a heavy beam falling on it. At the Emergency hospital the nail was removed.

Miss Loretto Hannifin of Sargent street returned a few days ago after having spent a very pleasant vacation of two months at the Profile house, Franconia, N. H.

TO FIGHT MAFIA

Woman on Strange Mission in New York

Mrs. Germana Guell, an Italian woman of Sicily, is in New York on rather a strange errand. The avenger in a Mafia murder trial which has dragged its course through the Italian courts for seven years, she comes here to raise money from the New York Italians to carry on her fight. She has not been very successful in this, and she will probably go back to Italy empty handed. Indeed, she hasn't the money just now even to get back to Italy.

The story is an old one in Italy. Diego Maria Guell was "Chancellor," or Recorder of Grotte in Sicily. This is the centre of the Mafia game in Sicily. The Mafia not only indulges in murder and graft, but it runs local politics.

Diego Guell was an honest man. He found that graft had been practiced in the management of a certain local public charity and began an investigation. He was warned to desist, but he kept on. So one night he was found stabbed.

He left six daughters. The eldest was Germana, a widow. Her husband's name was Nuovalone, but after his death, following a common Sicilian custom, she kept her maiden name. She had just lost her two children when her father was killed. There were no brothers in the family; it was for this eldest daughter to avenge her father, Sicilian fashion.

Germana tried to get the authorities interested. They were only half hearted. The fear of the assassin is over all that part of Sicily. She took the case in her own hands; she was her own lawyer and detective. In a few months she had worked up a case against two brothers named Zafuto, who had been concerned with the charity funds, and against a feudist of the Mafia who, she declared, was the actual murderer. At one stage of her work she dressed in man's clothes and worked in a vineyard in order to get evidence.

In 1897 she got the Zafuto brothers and the Mafia agent to trial. It was a sensational trial and attracted attention over Italy. Italian trials are often dramatic, and Germana Guell furnished the climax here by rising up and denouncing the prisoners in court. They were found guilty and sentenced to long terms in prison, there being no (legal) capital punishment in Italy.

There followed a long legal fight between this woman and the Mafia influence, which has all the "pull" in that part of Italy. There were new trials, changes of venue, appeals. Shortly after the first trial, Germana Guell's chief witness was arrested—she says on a trumped up charge—and the trial was re-opened on the ground that he was not a fit person to give evidence. One change of venue sent the case to Potenzi, on the mainland. She had been earning her living and raising funds to prosecute by teaching in the public schools. She asked leave of absence to go to Potenzi to the trial. It was refused—again because of Mafia political influence, she says. Therefore, she gave up her post. The last stage of her fight was made on money subscribed by her friends. In May of this year the Mafians secured a revision of the case, and the prisoners were set free.

By this time Germana Guell had become almost a monomaniac on the case. A year ago, when she needed money, she wrote a letter to Mayor McClellan reciting the case and asking him to appeal to the New York Italians for money. When the prisoners were discharged she used the last of her funds to work up a case against some other supposed accomplices. They were arrested and will be tried at Potenzi in October. By this time she was penniless. The story was an old one in Italy, and there was no one to help her.

Somehow she has always had the idea that the American Italians are rich. Last month she shipped for the United States in the steerage, armed with letters of introduction from members of the Italian parliament. An Italian newspaper took up her case, and a few dollars were raised by Sicilian haters of the Mafia. Then came the earthquakes in Calabria, calling out every dollar which the Italians can give for charity, and subscriptions stopped. The money has barely paid her board and she will probably go back to Italy in October without a cent to show for her trip.

A BIGAMIST

CHARGE MADE AGAINST MISSING MOTORMAN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The troubles of Paul Kelly, the motorman of the train recently wrecked at Ninth avenue and Fifty-third street, do not seem to be confined to his responsibility for the disaster. If the story told by his wife and her friends is true, Kelly is in danger of arrest for bigamy.

Mrs. Paul Kelly, who has been the managing housekeeper for a wealthy family at Allenhurst, N. J., was notified of the terrible disaster the day it occurred by a woman friend who cut the heading from an evening newspaper, marked it "Your Husband" and sent it to her.

Mrs. Kelly came to town and was in communication with Captain Gallagher, of the West Fortyseventh street station, for several days. Her sole purpose in life, she says, has been to have her husband brought to justice; she asks for no divorce and no alimony.

Her maiden name was Kate Bolton, and before they came to this country her husband, she says, destroyed their marriage certificate, and twice she secured a copy of it from the minister at Brighton, Sussex, England, where the ceremony was performed.

From a Mrs. Fannie Light, who formerly kept a candy store at No. 328 West Fifty-second street, the following account of how Mrs. Kelly discovered her husband to be a bigamist was obtained: "Six years ago Kelly sent his wife and their scanty furniture to Boston. He told her he was out of work and would follow in a day or two. Mrs. Kelly stayed in Boston five months and then returned and went to live with a family named Farley in Woodside, N. J.

THREW FILTH

CUBANS INSULTED THE U. S. SHIELD.

HAVANA, Sept. 21.—Some unknown person or persons Tuesday night threw a quantity of filth on the escutcheon bearing the arms of the United States which is over the entrance to the American consulate at Cienfuegos. This is the second time that an outrage of this kind has occurred. An investigation of the last offense resulted in the Sub-Secretary of State calling at the American Legation here, where he offered an apology and promised that steps would be taken to prevent a recurrence of the affair.

One explanation is that the offense was committed by Liberals, with the idea that it would embarrass the government. Another is that Moderates did the work in order to discredit the Liberals.

The police at Cienfuegos are accused of having entered the Liberal club there last night and of having searched the members present for arms. It is said also that they smashed the chandeliers and pulled down pictures of Masario and Marti and trampled them. It is asserted that the idea of the police was to intimidate the Liberals before the election of members of the boards of registration, which take place on Saturday.

Affairs in Santa Clara are reported to be extremely grave. The Rural Guards are accused of committing great excesses. The courts are accused of favoring the Moderates, and it is therefore considered very doubtful whether it would be possible to secure the conviction of a Moderate for the outrage at the consulate.

COPPER MARKET STRONG.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—There was an active and strong copper share market during the early trading today. Atlantic was the special feature of strength, advancing to 25¾ up 1¾. There was scattered buying of North Butte. U. S. Mining sold at 35¾ and 36.

HAD $20,000

GYPSIES LEFT THUMB PRINTS AT BANK FOR IDENTIFICATION.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Carrying the money in gunny sacks, nine gypsies visited the First National bank today and deposited $20,000, most of which was in currency.

Each depositor pressed his thumb and fingers on an inked card and then left an impression with the cashier for identification. All the gypsies were poorly clad. They had ended a horse-trading season.

NEW ORLEANS

IS GETTING READY TO RECEIVE THE PRESIDENT.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—While the request of the Arkansas authorities for ten days' time in which to give a definite answer to Dr. White's inquiry as to whether the president's train can enter that state after leaving here has caused some disappointment, the health authorities expect that by Oct. 1 conditions will warrant the officials in the sister state in then giving the permission. Meanwhile New Orleans is going forward with its preparations to receive the president and it is the general opinion that he will come here without the slightest risk.

The conditions here are constantly improving notwithstanding occasional jumps in the number of cases, the news from the country shows improvement in some sections and aggravation of conditions in other portions.

LEROY SHEAR

NOTED FORGER TURNED OVER TO BOSTON POLICE.

BOSTON, Sept. 21—Leroy Shear, who was turned over to the Boston police upon his release from Clinton prison at Dannemora, N. Y., yesterday arrived here today in custody of an inspector.

He is charged with uttering a forged check for $109 on the R. H. White company in March, 1902. Shear is alleged to be one of the most skilful forgers in the country and has served several terms in New York prisons for that offense.

LOST ADDRESS

WOMAN IN DANGER OF BEING DEPORTED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—Because she lost the address of her son Gustave, which he sent her with the ticket for her passage to this country, Mrs. Dora Proscht, sixty years old, who arrived on the Neckar, September 11, is detained at Ellis Island, and will be deported if he is not soon found. She does not know where her son lives, nor is she sure of the correct way to spell her name. He has prospered since coming to the United States, his letters indicate.

The only clue the Ellis Island authorities have to the identity of Mrs. Proscht's son is a registered letter found in her baggage. It bears the stamp of station 73, at Richmond Hill, and the registry number 54,545. The postal authorities at Washington have been asked to co-operate with the immigration bureau in locating the woman's son.

NEW REPUBLIC

HAS BEEN RECOGNIZED BY PRES. GARCIA.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Sept. 21.—Pres. Garcia handed to a confidential agent an autograph letter addressed to Pres. Amador of Panama, recognizing the new republic.

Miguel Aristizabel has been appointed consul of Ecuador at San Francisco.

JOHN R. THAYER

Will Preside at State Convention

BOSTON, Sept. 21—John R. Thayer of Worcester was chosen to be chairman of the coming democratic state convention at a meeting of the executive committee of the democratic state committee this afternoon. Osborne Howes of Brookline was chosen chairman of the committee on resolutions.

WEDS MOTHER

OF MAN WHO ELOPED WITH HIS WIFE.

FORT DODGE, Ia., Sept. 21.—Upon promise that he would not prosecute her son, who had eloped with his wife, Mrs. Cody, of this city, agreed to locate the runaway couple for John Clark of Sioux City.

During the time that the mother was engaged in locating her missing son, Clark became infatuated with Mrs. Cody.

Cody, the husband of the woman, sought out the local authorities the other day and informed them that Clark had eloped with his wife and announced his intention of spending his bank account in locating them. At last accounts neither couple had been located.

PISTOL DUEL

FOUR ARRESTS MADE BY THE POLICE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The police crusade against the open-air hotel robbers, begun early yesterday, saved occupants of benches in two parks from loss. Central Office Detective Liebers and James Murphy of the Tenderloin squad, entered Madison Square park, apparently intoxicated, and quarreled; Murphy displayed a large roll of money and dropped into a seat. Two men soon sat beside him and he felt a hand going into his pocket. A scuffle ensued and both men were arrested. They gave their names as John Coughlin of No. 400 East Twenty-fourth street, and William Echwerlen of Mills hotel No. 2. The police say they are old offenders.

A hold-up in Hudson park by the "Humpty Collins and Chain Band" was interrupted by Detective Haggerty and Policeman Levey, who were fired upon. The fire was returned and a man on a bench was shot in the leg. After a chase of several blocks, men, who said they were Thomas Farrell of No. 248 West Tenth street, and Edward Cowan of No. 51 Leroy street, were arrested.

MONEY BACK

IF BRIDE DECIDES SHE IS NOT SUITED.

PRINCETON, Ind., Sept. 21—Miss Clyde Coursert, the daughter of a well-known farmer residing eight miles southwest of the city, has left for El Paso, Tex., to meet E. Lauffer, a business man of that city, whom she has been corresponding with for some months. Money and tickets were sent her through a certain bank in this city. If the man suits her they will be married. If not the bank will furnish money for her return.

CAPT. LEWIS

SAYS CORNWALL WAS IN COLLISION WITH ANOTHER BOAT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Captain Lewis of the steamer Cornwall, which arrived here today damaged by a collision during a dense fog near Montauk Point last night, reported that he believed that he had been in collision with a large Atlantic liner. Captain Lewis said that the other steamer disappeared in the fog and was not sighted again by his ship. He could not make out the name of this steamer, but says she must have suffered some damage. The Cornwall was struck in the bow and so badly damaged that she will be repaired in dry dock. The Cornwall is a British freight steamer from Shields.

PRINCE LOUIS

PRESENTED WITH CIVIC ADDRESS IN HALIFAX.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 21.—Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenburg was presented with a civic address by the officials of the municipality today. In response he stated that it gave him great pleasure to return to Halifax for a visit after 32 years' absence. Thirty-two years ago he was a midshipman attached to this station. He said he was pleased that a change of plans had made it possible for the British fleet to remain at Halifax for six weeks as this would enable the warships to carry out much important work.

$500 WAGER

MEN THROWN TO BOTTOM OF RIVER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Beneath the water of the East River a unique wager of $500 was settled yesterday. Two men, whose specialty is releasing themselves from handcuffs and shackles, jumped overboard from the tug Fred B. Dalzell in Atlantic Basin. The hands and feet of each were fastened together securely, and while under water the men struggled to free themselves. They were Harry Houdini and Jacques Bondini. Each had shackled the other with heavy and solid manacles.

The men sank like plummets. In one minute and ten seconds Houdini had freed his hands, and in another minute and a half, his feet. He came to the surface three times for breath and each time asked if Bondini was free.

Bondini did not succeed in getting off either the leg irons or handcuffs. He said, after the contest, that he swallowed a quantity of salt water and that it made him sick. Both men had ropes attached to them, by which they could be hauled to the surface. Each was exhausted.

INCREASE IN CUSTOMS.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 21—The Chinese customs returns for the second quarter of 1905 shows an increase of nearly 10 per cent. over those of 1904.

DIVORCE CASE

Suit That Covers Three Continents

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—A divorce suit covering three continents is that of Walter E Park, of Johannesburg South Africa, against his wife, Edith, of Lausanne, Switzerland, the action having been taken in New York yesterday. Howe & Hummel are the attorneys for the plaintiff and Allan Carruthers for the defendant.

Walter E Park is the representative in South Africa of the Frazer-Chalmers company, limited, of London. His salary as engineer is $60,000. His wife is said to be connected with some well known families of New York.

Mrs. Park, in her affidavit, complains that her husband has been gradually cutting down her allowance and asks the court during the suit to allow her $500 a month maintenance and $2500 counsel fees. Her plea was heard before Judge Traux, and the case adjourned for two weeks.

The suit is for absolute divorce according to the laws of New York. Mrs. Park, through her lawyers, denied every allegation, and in her counter suit names several actresses in South Africa.

It was shown to the court that the necessary testimony would have to be taken in Africa, Switzerland and London, and that a commission would be necessary for this purpose. It being shown that Mrs. Park was ill and could not come to this country to be present at the hearing.

According to Mrs. Park's attorney the couple went to South Africa in 1899. Later Mrs. Park went to Switzerland for her health. Until the close of 1901 the husband sent her $500 a month, when he went to Switzerland and asked her to apply for a divorce. This she declined to do, and he is said to have reduced her allowance to $300 a month until August, 1903, after which time and for a year he sent her but $250 a month.

The lawyer also declared that in February, 1905, Mr. Park had papers for an absolute divorce served on his wife and named Frank P. Wood, asking also for a commission to take the testimony of Mrs. Harry Tonkin of Natal, South Africa.

$10,000 LOSS

THE STATE WILL TRY TO RECEIVE IT.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 21.—According to Attorney-General Charles W. Miller, the state will make an effort to collect the money which, it is charged, was lost by David E. Sherrick, ex-auditor of the state, at the gaming table.

"The state has the right to follow and collect all funds belonging to the state used by Mr. Sherrick," said M. Miller, today.

The amount referred to is the $40,000 that Governor Hanly, in his speech yesterday at Hamilton, said Sherrick lost at French Lick in April, 1903. It is understood, however, that the Governor has evidence that other sums have been lost.

By tomorrow the shortage of Sherrick will have been reduced to $127,372.

ENDS LIFE

MAN HAD JUST BECOME RECONCILED TO WOMAN WHO LEFT HIM.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—Just reconciled with his wife, whom a quarrel had caused to leave him, and to return to live with her and their four-year-old son, Emil Robert, an architectural decorator, forty, committed suicide yesterday by inhaling chloroform at the house of Dr. Henry De Kraft, No. 113 West Forty-ninth street. His death was discovered by Mrs. Chapman, who, after several attempts to rouse Robert, concluded something was wrong and told Dr. De Kraft, who opened the door with a passkey, and found the body.

Robert had taken elaborate and determined measures to end his life. He had saturated two sponges with chloroform and bound them about his nose and mouth. These sponges he fastened in place by placing a silk handkerchief over them and knotting it back of his head. Then with a heavy blanket over his head and shoulders, he lay face downward, on the bed. It is probable he sank into a sleep from which he never awoke. He had been dead ten or twelve hours when found.

Up to a few months ago Robert lived happily with his wife, Margaret, and four-year-old son, Emil, Jr. They quarreled over what his wife now says was a trivial mater and she went back to her mother's home at No. 842 Sixth avenue. In the height of her anger she had her husband summoned to a police court and ordered to pay her $5 a week. After a while he began calling at her mother's to see her and their son. They would have returned to live with each other next week.

A RATTLESNAKE

SUNK ITS FANGS IN FARMER'S FACE.

WINAMAC, Ind., Sept. 21.—Charles Hardin, a farmer of Pulaski County, went to his barn to feed his horses, and while reaching into a bin that contained oats he was struck in the face by a four-foot rattlesnake, whose fangs were so deeply imbedded in the muscles of Mr. Hardin's face that the snake could not be released until its head was cut off and the fangs extracted with steel nippers.

BRASS BAND

GREETED INDICTED MAN ON HIS RETURN HOME.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Returning home to face indictments of illegal liquor selling and for shooting a man in a fight, John Kissonack, a rich saloon keeper, of Raritan, N. J., yesterday made a triumphal entry into the town escorted by a procession, with a brass band, which accompanied the flower-decked carriage in which the accused was riding. The spectacle aroused the indignation of his enemies, who prepared to shower him with eggs, but before the attack could be made he left his carriage, and, gloved in white and carrying a large bouquet, sought refuge in the house of a friend.

Kissonack left Raritan a few months ago after he had been held in $5,000 bail for shooting John Stevenson in a saloon brawl. Stevenson is a physical wreck as the result of his wounds.

PACKERS FINED

Ordered by Court to Pay $25,000

THEY HAD PLEADED GUILTY

Of Conspiracy to Accept Railroad Rebates

CHICAGO, Sept. 21. Four officials of the Schwarzchild and Sulzberger Packing company of Chicago were fined an aggregate of $25,000 by Judge Humphrey in the United States district court here today. The fines followed a plea of guilty to indictments charging conspiracy to accept railroad rebates. The defendants were: Samuel Weir of New York, vice-president of the company; H. S. Cusey, traffic manager, Van Stworth and C. Todd, assistant traffic manager.

Mr. Weir was fined $10,000, the other three $5,000 each.

With the entering of the plea the declaration was made that unless at least one of the cases is immediately settled, the life of Samuel Weir, who is vice-president of the company, and one of the defendants is in jeopardy. He is said to be a nervous wreck and fears are entertained for his life if he had been allowed to continue under the stigma of an indictment. The plea was entered, it is declared, after a complete understanding had been reached between counsel for the defendants and Attorney-General Wm. H. Moody. While in Chicago Mr. Moody was appraised of the condition of Mr. Weir and it is said agreed to the entry of a plea of guilty with the understanding that the jail provision of the law under which the indictment was returned should be waived and merely a fine imposed. The same concession was made in the case of the other three defendants.

The four defendants were charged with unlawfully combining and agreeing to solicit rebates for the Schwarzchild and Sulzberger company from six railroads, including the Boston & Maine.

Charges were made that the defendants conspired with each other in presenting supposed claims for damages which were in reality claims for rebates.

The plea made today does not in any way affect the charge of interference with government witnesses made in a previous indictment returned against Cusey and other Schwarzschild and Sulzberger men.

AN EXPLOSION

PROBABLY STARTED THE FIRE IN THE MIKASA.

TOKIO, Sept. 21.—Regarding the battleship Mikasa disaster strong doubt is now expressed that the fire started at the base of the main mast. It is believed the conflagration must have been due to an explosion from the outset, which was followed by a greater explosion. Otherwise it is unexplainable why the flames were not extinguished by the veteran crew of the battleship, which had remained calm under the hottest fire from the Russian guns.

STRUCK BY AUTO

AGED WOMAN IS IN A SERIOUS CONDITION.

NEWPORT, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Charles Bland, who is 87 years old and partially blind, was dodging along Thames street yesterday afternoon, trying to avoid being run into by a team of horses. At the same time the big Mercedes automobile belonging to Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt, but empty save for Chauffeur Chravoglia, was coming down a hilly street leading into Thames street.

The chauffeur did not see the woman, nor did she notice the automobile until it was almost on top of her. Then the chauffeur jammed brakes down as quickly as possible, almost capsizing the machine, but was unable to prevent an accident. The left wheel went over the woman's leg, and she was picked up unconscious and badly bruised. A physician was at hand, but, though there were no bones broken, the woman's age makes her condition alarming.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, as soon as she learned of the accident, took dainties to the woman and made arrangements for her care and the service of trained nurses. The bystanders held the chauffeur blameless.

THE HOOD FARM

WON FIRST PRIZES FOR BERKSHIRES.

The Farmer's Review of Chicago, speaking of the Ohio state fair, Columbus, says: "The best show of Berkshires ever seen on the fair grounds, was the verdict of men who were in a position to know. The Hood farm of Lowell, Mass., made the best exhibit. Several of Hood's Berkshires took first prizes in their respective classes.

BLACKMAIL CASE

The Hearing Was Not Ended Today

LAWRENCE, Sept. 21.—The cases of William P. White, William H. McMullen, Michael J. Ryan and Matthew Dedrey Ripen, all charged with conspiracy to extort money from the local hotel proprietors, came up in police court before Judge Mahoney this morning. They were continued from last week. A hearing was begun but was not concluded today and the cases went over until Friday. Colonel Sweeney appeared as counsel for the defendants, while ex-Congressman William S. Knox was the attorney for the prosecution.

Clerk Mayes issued the summonses for the witnesses Wednesday and Assistant City Marshal Houghton served them. Several newspaper men were among the number summoned.

QUELLS STRIKE

MAN DREW REVOLVER ON OPERATIVES.

ROANOKE, Va., Sept. 21 Henry K. McHarg, Jr., the manager of the Twin Crozer Iron furnaces being operated by the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke company, yesterday quelled a strike at the point of a pistol.

Several of the shack house hands quit Tuesday morning, and it was believed that there would be a general strike yesterday. Manager McHarg engaged Detective Sargeant Griffin to assist him.

When the day and night shifts changed yesterday morning the young manager was on hand in his usual work garb. He noticed the strikers and many undecided laborers gathered around them. When the whistle sounded he approached the group with pistol and watch in hand, and gave all those who wanted to work one minute to get to their posts and those who did not the same time to move off the premises. A number left, but a large majority of the men proceeded to go to work.

McHarg came to Radford four years ago from New York and began work as a laborer in his father's furnace at $1.25 a day to learn the iron business. He was steadily promoted until he is now manager of one of the largest iron furnace plants in the south.

AT AMHERST

SEVERAL NEW TEACHERS TAKE THEIR PLACES.

AMHERST, Sept. 21—College terms at Amherst and Massachusetts Agriculture college, opened today with unusually large entering classes. At the agriculture institution the freshmen numbered 80 which though not quite so large as last year's class, is one of the largest in the history of the college. Prof. W. P. Brooks will continue as acting president until the trustees elect another president to succeed Henry Godell, who died early in the year.

There have been some changes in the faculty. M. A. Blake, formerly of the Rhode Island state college will be instructor in horticulture, A. V. Osmun '01 will teach botany, Prof. H. P. Gallinger will be professor of history and S. B. Haskell will instruct in agriculture.

Amherst's entering class broke all previous records in numbers, 175 enrolling in the freshman class. In this college too there are changes in the faculty. Prof Thomas C. Estey, formerly of Rochester University will instruct in mathematics, Harold B. Clumby in latin and C. F. Thomas '03 will also instruct in mathematics.

MANY CHANGES

IN ORGANIZATION OF N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 21.—Changes in the organization of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. were announced this afternoon to be effective October 1, as follows: T. Brynes, assistant to the president, is transferred to New Haven. F. S. Curtis, second vice-president is relieved of all connection with the construction and maintenance departments and transferred to Boston where he will represent the president with full authority in all matters requiring his attention. E. H. McHenry, fourth vice-president, assumes charge of all matters pertaining to the construction and maintenance departments in addition to his duties in connection with the electrical department. In the latter he will be assisted by Calvert Townley as consulting engineer. Calvert Townley, as first vice-president of the Consolidated Railway company will succeed to the duties heretofore performed by E. H. McHenry.

CARRIED CALIFORNIA'S ORANGE SHIPMENT TO THE EAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—According to reports of traffic officials of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific, the number of cars of oranges sent east during the season just closed was 29,000, comprising 10,498,000 boxes. The total value of the shipment was approximately $23,925,000.

For the season that opens early in November the railroad people estimate there will be 37,000 cars for the eastern market.

HAS THROAT TROUBLE.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Mme. Schumann-Heinck arrived here today suffering from throat trouble. A specialist was consulted and the prima donna was hurried to New York for treatment. The local engagement tonight was cancelled.

"The "Love's Lottery" company remains here until word is received from the New York management regarding the filling of future engagements.

MAY HAVE FEVER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—D. O. Halloran, pasenger agent at New Orleans, for the Southern Pacific company, upon his arrival here today on the steamer Comus, from New Orleans, was found to have an abnormal temperature and was taken to Hoffman Island for observation. With him went his wife and two children, although they showed no signs of fever.

MORE CHOLERA.

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—The official bulletin issued today announced that five new cases of cholera and three deaths were reported from noon yesterday to noon today, making the total 227 cases and 78 deaths.

ROGER'S STORY

He Testified in a $2,000,000 Suit

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—Henry H. Rogers came to the witness stand today before special examiner Causten Browne in a suit brought against him by the Bay State Gas company of Delaware. The suits to recover about $2,000,000 alleged to be due to the plaintiff, on account of the sale for the Brooklins Gas Light company. Receiver George W. Pepper of the Bay State company was not present at today's hearing, as he had returned to Pennsylvania.

LOSS $25,000

McAVOY'S CLUB-WAS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—Fire yesterday morning destroyed the upper floor of the two-story building at One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street and Eighth avenue, occupied partly by the William L. Marcy association, of which Deputy Police Commissioner McAvoy is the leading member, and partly by sub-post office station J. It also for a time threatened the destruction of the Colonial Hotel, which adjoins the building on the north.

The guests of the hotel, many of whom were still in bed, were badly frightened, as the flames began to lick up the window frames on the south side of the hotel, and there was a frantic rush for the street. Fortunately the firemen succeeded in stopping the fire at the hotel windows, and the guests were able to return to their apartments in less than half an hour after being routed out. The damage by the flames is estimated at $25,000.

A number of small explosions heard in the street are believed by the firemen to have been due to celluloid pool balls in a billiard room on the second floor.

SETTLED

AN AGREEMENT REACHED IN FREEL CASE.

BRANFORD, Conn., Sept. 21.—An adjourned hearing on the application of Mrs. Catherine Freel, of Brooklyn, N. Y., to have her son, Dr. Francis J. Freel comitted to a sanitarium for treatment for alleged alcoholism, was to have been held today in the Branford probate court, but after a long private conference between counsel in the judge's office, Judge Foote announced that the matter had been amicably settled out of court. Mrs. Freel is the widow of Edward Freel, a Brooklyn contractor, who left an estate worth about two million dollars.

FOR THE GOOD OF LOWELL

DRIVE THE GRAFTERS TO THE REAR

The art of grafting has not attained the alarming stage in Lowell that is reported from some other cities; but yet it is a growing evil that must be grappled with and effectually eradicated. When there is wilful waste and needless extravagance in any department it is due to grafting; when the city does not get a dollar's worth in labor or material for every dollar expended, then grafting may be assigned as the unmistakable cause. When any citizen comes to realize that the city is being cheated, he has a right to complain and to call a halt to official grafting. The citizens look to the mayor and city council to keep the grafters at bay; but when it comes to be a recognized fact that most members of the city council will vote for a measure detrimental to the city's interests if paid for so doing, what is the remedy? What, but to send men of a different stripe to the city council. It would be well also to send a few grafters to jail just as a warning to others, but the proof is sometimes hard to procure and very few want to have a hand in bringing the offenders to justice. Clear the city council of grafters and that body can then be relied upon to banish grafting from the various municipal departments.

If the grafters get a hold on the city departments, it will take ten years to drive them out. Therefore, make up your minds now to drive the grafters to the rear.

The country will congratulate Paul Morton if he can make the receivers of illegal loans from the Equitable disgorge.

The Japan authorities make a mistake in suspending newspapers. Even Russia has learned that such a thing is worse than useless.

Three Japanese postmasters have gotten away with $165,000 in funds that were provided to pay other officials. It is remarkable how closely the Japs are copying our American methods.

President Roosevelt shows perhaps too much courage in deciding to visit New Orleans during the epidemic of yellow fever. It is more hazardous than going down in a submarine boat.

New Zealand is to have the next world's fair, and of course we must all see it. New Zealand will have some things to show that were not exhibited either at Chicago or St. Louis.

As a proof of his gratitude for the good offices of President Roosevelt in the peace negotiations the Czar has removed certain discriminating duties laid upon American products. That is a one-sided sort of reciprocity.

Judging from recent reports there is civil war or revolution in Colombia. When General Reyes declares a dictatorship and when the supreme court is thrown into prison matters have certainly reached an extreme stage.

THE LATE JOHN C. LINEHAN.

The state of New Hampshire mourns the loss of a highly esteemed official, a man who has long been in public life, who fought in the Civil war and who in every position to which he was called, showed those qualities of manhood, ability and integrity that command confidence, while a sort of personal magnetism combined with brilliant talents made him beloved of all who knew him—we refer to the late Colonel John C. Linehan, insurance commissioner of his state. Speaking of him the Manchester Mirror says:

"No suspicion of corruption or crookedness of any kind has ever touched his administration. No favoritism has ever shaped his policy or dictated his official acts. For whatever he believed was for the good of the honest companies and the policy holders of the state, for what his judgment and his conscience approved, he has stood fearlessly and unflinchingly; and with the universal grief over the loss of the man and the friend goes the feeling that his place as a public servant can hardly be filled."

LOCAL REPUBLICANS RESPONSIBLE.

It may be well to remind the republican party in this city that it and its leaders are wholly responsible for maintaining the worst defects in our city charter. For many years it was the custom with local republicans to appeal to the legislature to help them out in one way or another in local contests. The republicans were ousted from city hall at a time when a very valuable amendment in the charter took effect.

The amendment referred to gave the mayor the power of appointing the heads of departments but because a democratic mayor was in office the republicans went to the legislature and had the measure repealed. This explains why we have had extravagance ever since, why the heads of departments defy the mayor and why it is difficult to trace responsibility for wrong doing.

It is time that the republicans should forego for the instant, the consideration of party ascendency and cooperate with the democrats—no matter which party rules at city hall—in securing this and other necessary changes in the city charter. If they continue to hold out against charter revision of the right kind then let them bear the blame for all the evil results that come to the city in extravagance, in grafting, in political jobbery that keeps up the tax rate and places new burdens upon property owners. Will the republicans please take notice?

SEEN AND HEARD

The people who last year claimed that the roller skating craze would die out in a short time are now beginning to take back water, for if anything the people are more enthusiastic over the pastime this year than ever before and the different sessions at the several rinks in this city are well patronized during the day and night.

Yesterday's fine weather was welcomed by everybody, for we all had enough of rainy weather. The clerks in the down town stores felt very jubilant over the fact that the sun made its reappearance and many of them enjoyed car rides into the country and different pleasure resorts.

It is now almost time for the brush fires to start in. The local fire department has its hands full during the spring and fall with brush fires. They are hard to fight and a fireman would rather tackle a fire in a building than a brush fire, for the smoke from the brush is generally very dense and has to be fought with the aid of extinguishers and shovels.

The railroad company is beginning to store the small open electric cars used as extras and for the Lakeview line during the summer time. Some of these cars are stored at the Lakeview avenue barn while the others are sent to the car barn at the head of First street.

The football season will soon be ushered in.

Michael F. Larkin, who has held the undisputed titles of "champion long and short distance swimmer," "champion high diver," "champion ice man," and a thousand and one other titles, all of which were "of the Merrimack valley," will soon have to defend his titles for William Leahey of Lawrence, through his manager Jim Reagan, has issued a defi which Larkin will either have to accept or park his titles into an express wagon and ship them to Lawrence. Leahey is ready and willing to swim Larkin at any distance in salt, fresh, hot or cold water, at any time or place, just for the mere honor and the title which Larkin claims to hold. As an event of this kind would attract thousands of people no doubt the two men might arrange to ask a small price from those who wished to witness the race. In case tickets should be sold Leahey wants to pick out the ticket taker, he claiming that there is a man in Lawrence who is the champion ticket taker of the world. On the other hand Mr. Larkin may introduce his friend Eddie Farrell, who takes tickets with his hands tied behind his back.

A man walked into a down town restaurant the other day and asked the waitress for a piece of Washington pie and a cup of coffee. In the course of a few minutes the waitress brought in a fine piece of pie with a nice cream top on it, and the coffee. When the pie was deposited on the table the man said: "I don't want that, I want a Washington pie. That's a George W. I want a Booker Washington pie." The waitress said she never heard tell of a Booker Washington pie "Why," the man said, "a Booker Washington pie has a chocolate top."

The vicinity of the ruins of Huntington hall is fast becoming a haven for the members of the Sons of Rest. Hundreds of these people arrive at the place early in morning and stay there until the men who are tearing down the walls, quit their work at night. They like to see other people work but have a horror of work themselves.

ARRESTED

MAN WANTED IN BOSTON WAS CAUGHT IN HALIFAX.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Word was received here last night at police headquarters of the arrest in Halifax, N. S., of Frank Gallagher, who the police allege, robbed a number of lodging houses of this city of over $200 worth of jewelry and clothing the past few months.

MAN KILLED

HE WAS DRAGGED 100 FEET BY A TRAIN.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—R. Ashton Lawrence, aged 37 years, a wealthy resident of the Chestnut Hill district, Brookline, was killed last night at the Chestnut Hill station of the Boston and Albany railroad. Mr. Lawrence who was coming to Boston to meet his wife, attempted to board the train as it was leaving the depot. He jumped onto the rear platform but lost his balance and fell to the rails. His feet, however, caught on the step and he was dragged over 100 feet before the train was brought to a stop.

ACTOR PLYMPTON

Charged With Intent to Kill

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 2.—Eben Plympton, the well known actor, was brought here yesterday from his summer home at Plympton, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill, upon Captain George Martin of New York, whom Mr. Plympton has described as his guest this season. In the neighborhood, however, Martin was thought to be the man-of-all-work around the place.

The condition of Captain Martin, who, according to report, is suffering from a fractured skull, is said to be very critical. He is at the Massachusetts general hospital, Boston. It is reported that he is still on the dangerous list, although the date of the alleged assault is said to be Wednesday of last week, Sept. 13.

What occurred on that date is not definitely known, as the stories differ. It is said, however, that the actor and his guest had been drinking a good deal on the day of the trouble, and that while at the Plympton railroad station they got into a heated discussion. It seems that from the station the two men went to Plympton's summer home on the shores of Silver lake. Later in the day two boys found the actor lying on the grass in his yard intoxicated, and his face covered with blood, evidently from scratches and bruises he had received in a fight. The boys helped him into the house.

People who have seen Plympton since say he said he got the worst drubbing himself that day that he ever received.

It is alleged, however, that Captain Martin was found in the house unconscious and it has since been declared that his skull was fractured.

MONEY GONE

DOCTOR THINKS THAT YOUNG JAP TOOK IT.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Dr. Fred W. Howard of 262 Congress street, Portland, a retired physician, who says he is now a mining promoter, told the police of division 4 last evening that he had been robbed of nearly $600 in the Winter place hotel. He claimed that a Jap, who is now in the marine corps and stationed in Charlestown, and whom he met by chance in Washington street, knew something about the affair. The man was brought to the station, where he was searched, but none of the money was found.

Dr. Howard told the police that he was walking down Washington street when he was struck by the appearance of the Jap, who seemed to be hungry. He was taken in tow and the pair went to a hotel just off Washington street, where they had dinner and something to drink. They then adjourned to the Winter place hotel. Dr. Howard said he had in a wallet in his inside pocket six $100 bills, which he received from a bank in Los Angeles just before he left the west to come to this city.

By some method, which the doctor is unable to explain, he says these bills were removed from his wallet, and in their stead were placed six $1 bills. He was sure that he had the bills of larger denomination when he met the Jap and that he had them when he went to Winter place.

PRIZE DANCE.

A prize dance was held last night at Canobie Lake park dance hall, under the auspices of the Haverhill and Southern New Hampshire Mutual Benefit association, and there were about 600 people present.

The prize dance, which was the feature of the program, did not have as many entries as was expected, but it proved to be a good drawing card, and was well carried out. A Mr. Freeman and Miss Allard of Lawrence who danced together won the first prize of $10 in gold.

The judges of the dance were eMssrs. William Mahoney, D. W. Murray and Mr. Murphy of Boston. One couple was entered from Lowell. The others were from Lawrence and Haverhill. Second prize was taken by John Casey of Lawrence and Miss Mabel Blane of Biddeford, a young woman who is visiting friends in Lawrence.

FIVE MEN KILLED

Pay Train and Combination Collided

TRAINS CRASHED ON A CURVE

$50,000 Scattered About the Tracks

HARRISBURG, Penn., Sept. 22.—Five train hands were killed and eight others seriously injured in a collision between a pay train and a combination passenger and milk train on the Philadelphia, Harrisburg & Reading railroad at Roushs curve, at Mt. Holly Springs, yesterday afternoon. None of the passengers were injured.

The pay train, consisting of a locomotive and one coach, was going west to pay the men along the division. The combination train, composed of locomotive, combination coach and two passenger coaches, was coming east. The two trains ran together on the curve, which is a sharp one, and is flanked by a heavy clump of trees.

John Amole, engineer of the pay train, jumped from his engine and landed at the foot of a 25-foot embankment. Ephraim McCleury, engineer of the milk train, was found on his engine with the whistle cord in his hand, it having been pulled clear off the machine, and all the brakes on the train set.

The pay car contained about $50,000 in checks, which were scattered about the tracks. Officials of the company here say the accident was probably due to a misunderstanding of orders.

SEWING CIRCLE MET.

The Sewing circle of the Paige Street church held its first business meeting of the season last evening and after the meeting an old fashioned New England supper was served to the members and guests present.

A large number were present, the excellent supper and a social time being enjoyed by all. The committee in charge of the supper was Mrs. John Roberts, chairman; Mrs. Margaret Hardy, Mrs. W. E. Wiggin and Mrs. Walter Chase.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular weekly meeting of the lyceum board of the C. Y. M. I. was called at the rooms with President Callahan in the chair. Considerable routine business was transacted. The literary committee has made all arrangements for the smoke talk to be held next Thursday evening and has selected M. J. Murphy of Somerville to give a lecture on some important topic.

The society intends to run an entertainment on Thanksgiving night.

A membership contest started last night. Simon Reilly was chosen captain of one team and John Cryan was chosen captain of the other. The gymnasium committee expects to start a handball tournament in the near future.

The game room committee is preparing for a whist and pool tournament which will be started in a few weeks. The members are beginning to practice for the different games. Some warm contests will take place when the old rivals face each other.

There will be a meeting of the bowling league at the rooms tonight.

The Women's Relief Corps 33 held its regular meeting, Thursday night, one member being reinstated. The sewing circle met in the afternoon, with a large attendance. The corps will give a baked bean supper Saturday, Sept. 30, from 5 to 7 o'clock. The next sewing circle will meet, October 5, at 2 o'clock. Voted to hold inspection the first meeting in November.

The first meeting of the Catholic Knights of America was held last night in Bay State hall in Central street, Charles Finn, state president of the order was present and stated the advantages of the knighthood. He said that there were 11 branches doing splendid work in Massachusetts. The total membership is said to be something like 25,000 in the United States.

There was an attendance of 36, and although no application blanks were signed, the sentiment was strongly in favor of establishing a Lowell branch. John P. Farley presided.

McAdoo Tells What He Should Be

DON'T GET FAT AND LAZY

Cut Out the Curbstone Conversations

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—Police Commissioner McAdoo appointed seventy-four patrolmen yesterday from the civil service eligible list. They were a husky lot. They all gathered in the trial room at noon, where they were addressed by the commissioner.

"Where is that soldier man?" asked the commissioner.

A strapping big fellow stepped from the rear rank. He told Mr. McAdoo, in reply to questions, that he had served two years in the Fifteenth United States Battery in the Philippines, and had lately been a recruiting officer in this city.

"You are a fine fellow," said the commissioner, after he had looked over the man's discharge paper. "You can ride a horse. I will give you a mount and put you in the traffic squad."

There were a dozen of the new men who were over six feet tall. Mr. McAdoo called them all before him and complimented them on their appearance. He was particularly pleased with a clean cut German who said that he was James Meade, lately the carriage man at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. He is 28 years old, is 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 202 pounds.

Then Mr. McAdoo called for the navy man. Whoever he was, he called on the commissioner a few days ago and asked if he was certain to be appointed. He didn't want to resign from the navy until he was sure of his new job. He didn't put in an appearance yesterday.

"I'm sorry he isn't here," said Mr. McAdoo. "He ought to go on the police boat."

Before the new men were sworn in by Col. Kipp, the chief clerk, Mr. McAdoo addressed them as follows:

I want you to keep your physical condition good. A policeman is liable to be called at any time for extraordinary duty; and if he allows himself to get fat and lazy and physically deteriorated he will not meet the demand when it is made upon him.

Be polite to citizens. You are the servants of the people of New York When they ask questions answer them. If you do not know the reply to the question, say so politely.

Do not indulge in profanity. In most military services now that is looked upon as a great fault. There is no necessity for it. It is vulgar, aside from being profane, and it detracts very much from a police officer.

You are indebted to no living or dead man for this position. You are under no obligation to me. I took you as I found you on the list, unless there was obvious cause why I shouldn't. No influence got you this place, so far as the police department is concerned. You start, therefore, with a clean sheet. No possible influence should get between you and your duty to the people of New York.

Don't talk on the corners to citizens. Patrol, because the safety of life and limb and property depends upon whether or not you are faithful on patrol. You will get a great big post, maybe a mile, up on the West Side. You leave the station house at night to go on your post, and you are the whole police department of New York in that place.

Keep your eyes open. Watch the people on the streets. Get acquainted with the habits of people. Look for suspicious characters. Take mental note of everything you see.

After you are assigned to a station house, outside the actual patrol duty, you will be on reserve with other policemen. I believe, and I assert it again, that the majority of the police of New York are an honest, law-abiding and able body of men; but among them there are some men who are not good men, either in their morals or in their efficiency as policemen. If you get a suspicion of any man in the station house, if you don't believe he is a good, honest, square man, keep away from him. If there is a crooked policeman, I might say on the force, in the precinct where you young men go, he is like a sheep with a scab.

He will begin to tell you how to beat the police department, how to shirk an honest patrol; maybe whisper to you that everybody is crooked, anyhow, and you had better get your share. He will teach you tricks that you ought not to know. Put him right down at once or you will go with him.

Although I know you won't do it, I am going to ask you if ever you get evidence of a crooked policeman, to come right to the commissioner with it. I know policemen will say, "Well, I am no informer; I won't tell the police commissioner anything about it; I will get a bad name with the rest of the force." But if you know anything of a crooked policeman, put your hand right on him and say, "This man is crooked and I know it."

I am going to tell you a story. There was a marine on board on a battleship who was constantly getting in trouble, breaking the rules. He went to an old sailor man, and he said, "I will give you all my tobacco if you will tell me how to keep out of getting in trouble."

The old sailor man—they generally despise a marine, who are the policemen, by the way of the ship—took the tobacco, and he found it was all right, and he said, "Whenever you are feeling comfortable, you are breaking a rule."

RED HATS

BAGGAGE EXAMINERS MUST NOT WEAR THEM.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—The baggage examiners attached to the office of the appraiser of the port of New York have protested against wearing red hats, and Assistant Secretary Reynolds of the treasury has revoked the order requiring them to do so. The order was issued several months ago, to become effective on May 1.

The baggage inspectors at the docks when examining trunks and finding that they contain what appears to be dutiable merchandise above the value of the $100 allowed by law, are in the habit of calling an examiner for the purpose of having the value of the articles appraised. There are comparatively few appraisers, and as haste is necessary the inspectors have sometimes caused delay and annoyance to passengers by their inability to find an appraiser instantly. It was decided to have the appraisers wear red hats in order that they might be conspicuous around the docks, thus relieving the inspectors from the necessity of hunting for them.

Although the order was to go into effect on May 1, it was suspended for the time being on account of the approach of hot weather, and the officers were allowed to wear straw hats. On September 1, however, the straw hats were ordered out of commission and the red headgear ordered in. The appraisers were the new hats two days and then a strong protest was leaked with Appraiser Whitehead. They told him that red was the badge of anarchy and that a free American citizen should not be required to wear it. They also reminded him that the porters at the Grand Central and Baltimore and Ohio stations were red caps, and that they did not care to be classed as porters or servants.

Appraiser Whitehead forwarded the protest to Washington, and after considering the matter with Secretary Shaw the order was amended Wednesday by Assistant Secretary Reynolds. Instead of the red hats the assistant appraisers will be required to wear gray fedoras, which, although not as conspicuous as red, are deemed sufficient for purposes of quick identification on the crowded wharves.

COMMITTEE REPORTS READ.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Committee reports took up the greater portion of yesterday's session of the convention of the National association of Retail Druggists. President J. L. Lemberger of the American Pharmaceutical association, told of the work done on the William Proctor, Jr. memorial fund and asked for the moral and financial support of the druggists in this project. The question was referred to the committee on finance. A pilgrimage to historic Plymouth is planned for tomorrow.

GRAND SACRED CONCERT.

The second of a series of grand sacred concerts for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Patrick's parish will be given Sunday afternoon and evening at the Academy of Music. The concerts will consist of the latest moving pictures and illustrated songs.

Among the moving pictures to be shown will be "The Bee Hive," "Hodgkin's Lunch," "Moonlight Dream," "Russian Wrestlers" and a big collection of humorous pictures never before shown in this city. Daniel J. Sullivan will be heard in three of the latest songs, being accompanied by the moving pictures.

The bill, on the whole, is a fine one and one which will be sure to please the most exacting audience. The prices for the afternoon will be 10 and 20 cents, while the evening prices will be 10, 20 and 30 cents. Seats are now on sale at the box office.

PRIEST DEAD

FR. DOWNEY WAS HEAD OF WORKING BOYS' HOME.

BEVERLY FARMS, Sept. 22—The parishioners of St. Margaret's church, Beverly Farms, and the Sacred Heart church at Manchester-by-the-Sea were shocked yesterday afternoon to learn of the death of Rev. Fr. John J. Downey, who died at the parochial residence on Haskell street at 3:15 yesterday afternoon at the age of 41, after a very short illness.

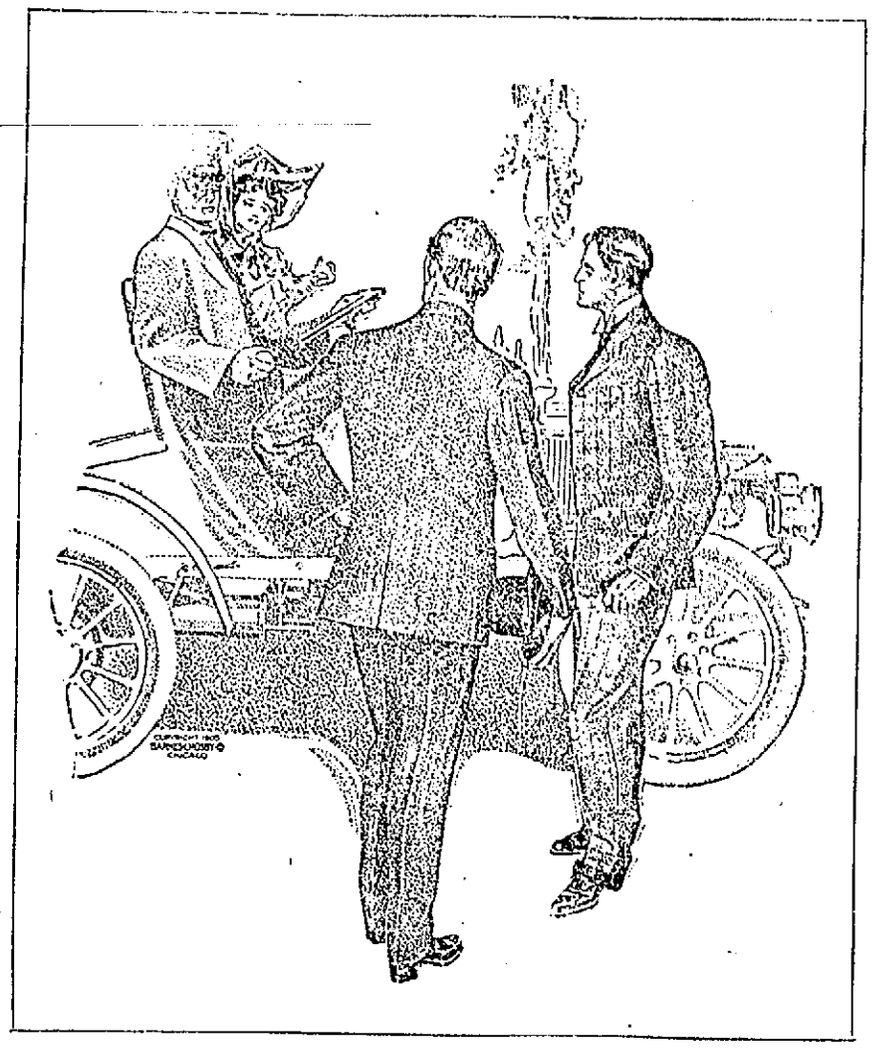

On Sunday morning he left the house at Beverly Farms to celebrate mass at St. Margaret's church, and while on his way to the carriage he was taken ill and was obliged to return to his room.

He thought little of his illness at the time, but later in the day his condition grew worse and his physician was sent for. The cause of his death was due to overwork and heart trouble.

Ready-Made That's in a Class Distinct and By Itself

The man who comes here for his Fall or Winter Suit is going to be pleasantly surprised by the smart style and excellent quality of the new suits; by the attractive patterns that are shown for the first time; by the superior and improved fit of the garments; by the broad variety from which he may choose; and above all, by the moderate prices for which he can buy thoroughly good clothing.

The clothes we sell from Rogers, Peet & Co. are recognized even by clothing manufacturers as the best ready-to-wear clothes that are made. They have reached the highest point yet attained in the production of clothes ready-to-put-on.

The suits from our own work-rooms, while they cost less than those from Rogers, Peet & Co., are thoroughly tailored, fashionably cut garments—in which the fabrics used are guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction.

If suits don't fit, we unmake them—and make them over to FIT. Even if they fit, we make such changes as you desire Suits are made to SUIT YOU.

The Fall suits are good and ready and you are invited to a practical exhibition of how to escape the tailor and save your time and money. Come in—look around at your leisure—try on all the suits you want—don't be afraid of being talked into buying.

Rogers-Peets Suits

Of the new hard-faced worsteds, new dark gray medium and wide wale worsteds, black cheviots, Thibets and unfinished worsteds, blue cheviots, serges and unfinished worsteds—and worsted cheviots. Suits in every respect as good as you could get from a first rate merchant tailor who would charge $50 to $60. We recommend these suits to the most critical men, perfectly confident that the fit and service will prove them to be as good as any suit made to measure. These Rogers-Peet's suits $15, $20 up to $32.

Men's Suits From Our Workrooms

Of hard-faced fancy worsteds, new gun metal grays in wide wale worsteds, black Thibets and unfinished worsteds — blue unfinished worsteds and new colorings in worsted cheviots. These suits are in double and single breast sacks, all of the new long model, and the coats have French hair fronts. The linings are carefully chosen for durability and the workmanship of the most pains-taking character. There is not a suit that is not unusual value—for $10, $12, $15.

Handsome Black Thibet Suits $10

A business suit that is always refined and dignified and still better than any other suit for informal wear. Cut on the new Fall patterns, longer coats with a deep vent in the back. These black Thibet suits all have hand padded collars and French hair cloth fronts and are made in single and double breast, sacks in regular, stout and long sizes. The cloth in these suits we bought many months ago, before the great advance in price. The suits are actually worth $13, they are remarkable suits for $10.

YOUNG MEN'S EXTREMELY STYLISH SUITS

More handsome suits in strictly young men's sizes than we have ever shown before. Even thus early in the season we have had a splendid business — simply because we have met the young man's idea in materials, patterns, style and price. The fashionable long sacks both double and single breast follow the outlines of the body closely and with the improved shoulders, broader lapels and deep centre vents, are better looking coats than ever.

The strongest point of our young men's suits is the fit. They are skillfully cut —and have all the individual merits of clothes from a first rate merchant tailor. If clothes do not fit—we make alterations to satisfy you. At least come in and see these smart clothes that are distinctly young men's.

YOUNG MEN'S

Smooth faced worsted suits, in very handsome Fall colorings. New shades of wide wale dark gray worsteds, wide wale heavy weight blue serges. Smooth faced worsteds are extremely desirable this season, and our collection of these fabrics is the largest we have ever shown. Double and single breasted sacks. All with fine hair cloth fronts, $10, $12 up to $25

YOUNG MEN'S

Black Thibet and unfinished worsted suits, and unfinished blue worsteds of the same smart cut as our fancy suits. These black and blue cloths were bought at much lower prices than they are worth today and the suits made especially for us. These are remarkable values, and the suits should bring at least $3 more than we ask for them. Double and single breast sacks $10 to $20.

YOUNG MEN'S

Cheviot and worsted cheviot suits, in stunning new colorings and strikingly attractive patterns. Dark gray, blue and dark green grounds with overplaids of harmonious or contrasting colors, and in clever Scotch mixtures. There is a wider range of color effects in cheviots than it is possible to produce in worsteds, and for business they are very desirable. These suits $8, $10, to $20.

MITTEN AND PARKER

Made Serious Blunder in Filing Delegates

Bad Muddle in Ward Eight Representative Contest—Lawrence Will Swap Fletcher for Next Congressman--The Democratic Senatorial Contest--Other Political Notes of Interest

There is a most discouraging mixup ahead for the ligislature in ward eight, and unless the voters are carefully instructed as to how to cast their ballots on caucus day, ward eight box will be flooded with blanks. This is no reflection upon the intelligence of the republican voters of the ward, for the candidates are such as to confuse anyone, and show a lack of foresight on the part of the candidates in arranging their lists of delegates.

There are five candidates for representative, Messrs. Bradbury, Grant, Greenwood, Mitten and Parker. But only four lists of delegates have been filed and only one list of delegates can be voted upon by the caucus. Now the voter approaching the polls knows that the ward is entitled to two candidates, and is prepared to vote for two, naturally he will mark two lists of delegates, but if he does so he casts a blank ballot, for he can only vote for one list.

The mixup becomes even more confusing on account of the manner in which some of the lists are pledged. Parker and Mitten, for instance, have filed delegates pledged only to a single candidate, while there are two other delegates, one favorable to Bradbury and Greenwood, and the other to Bradbury and Grant. Thus it would appear that a voter cannot cast a ballot for Bradbury and Mitten, or Bradbury and Parker without casting a blank ballot.

The only safe way out of the muddle it appears, is to look the list over carefully, see who the different delegates are pledged to, and then vote for 24 single names of delegates, thus voting for one list. The mixup furnishes a strong argument in favor of direct nominations.

It would seem, in view of the mixup, that candidates Parker and Mitten have made a fatal mistake in not including Rep. Bradbury's name in their lists. It is conceeded by all that he should be renominated and it is more than likely that rather than place him in jeopardy his friends will vote for the lists bearing his name, even though otherwise they would be with either Messrs. Parker or Mitten.

The Lawrence American (Republican) editorially says:

"Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher's campaign for Governor's Council is attracting a very general interest among the voters of Lawrence from the fact that they see the danger of a break in our alliance with the northern part of this district and a consequential danger to the Congressional situation. It is well understood that Lawrence is to have the next congressman if she desires it, and it is well known that we must have the support of Lowell, Chelmsford and Westford to prevail.

When Hon. W. S. Knox was our congressional candidate these places loyally supported him so long as he desired to be a candidate. The same is true when Byron Tyrell was the candidate for councillor and it would be of the deepest ingratitude not to aid Mr. Fletcher in every possible way. Inasmuch as we have nothing in common with Malden which is not in our congressional district and have so much in comon with the cities and towns of the northern part of the district, it would not be the part of wisdom to support the candidate from Malden which already has one of the fourteen executive offices of this state.

State Auditor Turner and Councillor Candidate Alfred E. Cox of Malden were guests of the Martin Luthers yesterday. Mr. Cox's presence was certainly a case of invading the enemy's country "sumo."

A party of the friends of Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher met at the New American House last evening and discussed his chances. A quite formidable bunch of republicans gathered and they promised the Westford man about everything in sight.

Registration opened yesterday and was quite large for opening and the number of young men was remarkable. The result of the sessions were as follows:

Afternoon, 1 to 3—Ward one, 4; two, 3; three, 1; four, 1; five, 1; six, 1; seven, 7; eight, 5, nine, 4.

Evening, 7 to 9—Ward one, 3; two, 9; three, 8; four, 11; five, 11; six, 6; seven, 9; eight, 7; nine, 4.

City Clerk Dadman swore in 150 out of 216 precinct officers last evening at city hall and gave them a talk on their duties and during the meeting the following problem was presented:

If a voter appeared at the caucuses and, being registered as a democrat, should demand a republican ballot, he would naturally be refused. If, however, he presses his claim, declaring that he has been wrongly recorded in his choice of party, the voter may, upon oath that this is true, vote the ticket he desires.

The ballot is marked and counted with the rest. It may be found later, however, that the voter took a false oath when he declared that he had been wrongly recorded. The problem at the meeting last night was, what would be the penalty for such false oath.

Exhaustive research failed to produce any penalty provided for in the law. The only result would be the throwing out of the ballot in case of a recount.

Out at Spalding park yesterday, Representative Barrett of Cambridge meeting "Old Hundred" Hayes, remarked: "Well, Mr. Hayes, are we going to have you with us next year?"

"Well, you can't tell," drawled Bill, slowly. "You never can tell what will happen at an election."

"He'll be there if he lives," remarked a friend of "Old Hundred," who overheard the question, and no doubt Bill is of the same opinion.

The committee in charge of Fred H. Rourke's campaign for the senatorial nomination present the proposition to the voters that a candidate with as honorable and as useful a record as a public servant should be kept in the public service in one branch or another as long as he will give his time to it. Mr. Rourke while in office they assert was confronted with a problematic condition, unprecedented in the history of the municipality and which probably will never arise again. It gave him an opportunity to earn the admiration and gratitude of his fellow citizens regardless of party. How well he met the situation and conquered it is a bright and interesting page in local municipal history and stamps Mr. Rourke as a safe and most desirable representative of the public in any branch of the public service, state or municipal. On these grounds the rallying committee urges his nomination for senator.

It's pretty good betting that Mr. Grimes of Reading will carry both Lowell wards in the sixth senatorial district. Senator Clark's record in labor legislation would hardly stand inspection by voters of a mill city like Lowell. The Grimes people are missing a great opportunity by not placing Senator Clark's labor record broadcast through the district.

"This end of the county will never get anything while the republicans of Lowell allow Teddy Weir, Roxy Shaw and Jim Ramsay to deliver them to the county ring, annually, and the best thing that has happened the republicans of Lowell in a long time is the bump which the Champlin men recently gave the ring by taking 18 delegates away from Sanderson after the latter had been delivered the entire party." Thus spoke a well-known republican to a party of friends a few days ago when the matter of county politics was under discussion.

Keep your eye on Mr. Cox of Malden. He is going to have a look-in in, after all. Last year Councillor Watson promised Mr. Cox that if Cox would step aside for him at that time he in turn would support him this year, and in fact the Lowell delegation was promised to Cox. This year, however, finds the Watsonites all hustling for ex-Senator Fletcher while though Mr. Watson, of course, is taking no hand in the contest, his confidential clerk, Mr. Richardson, is a delegate for Fletcher. There are some fair-minded republicans, however, who believe that the Watson people should live up to their promise to Mr. Cox, made last year and these will do all in their power to aid the man from Malden.

The claim recently made that Col. Goetting has 20 delegates in Lowell is now being attacked on all sides and it would appear that Draper has the pole in this city.

SUBWAY SANK

STREET RAILWAY TRACKS SETTLE SEVERAL INCHES.

BOSTON, Sept. 22—A break in the sewer at the corner of Washington and Milk streets about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon allowed the water to wash away eight feet of sheathing of the new subway, resulting in the sinking of about 20 feet of street railway tracks to the extent of three or four inches.

Fortunately no workman was near enough to be caught in the falling debris, and no street car happened to be approaching.

The subway excavation at this point is 47 feet deep.

The police and construction employes roped off the dangerous portion of the street, and sent the surface cars down Franklin street.

Traffic was delayed for four hours.

Brown of said Lowell, dated February 24th, 1896, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of said County of Middlesex, in Book 272, Page 666, for breach of the conditions contained in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction at the office of Charles A. Eveleth, Hildreth Building, No. 45 Merrimack street, room 9, in said Lowell, on Saturday, the 30th day of September, 1905, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular, a certain tract or parcel of land situated on the northwesterly side of Tucker street in said Lowell containing five thousand five hundred (5500) square feet and, thus bounded, to wit: Beginning at a stake at the most easterly corner of the premises on the northwesterly line of said Tucker street, which stake is distant southwesterly fifty feet from a stone bound at the intersection of the northwesterly line of said Tucker street with the southwesterly line of Hall street; thence running northwesterly at right angles with said Tucker street on land conveyed by the proprietors of Locks and Canals on Merrimack river to one Gaudette by deed dated 31st October, 1895, one hundred feet to a stake at land of said proprietors; thence at a right angle southwesterly fifty-five feet; thence at a right angle southeasterly on land conveyed by said proprietors to Gardner and another by deed dated 20th April, 1886, one hundred feet to the northwesterly line of said Tucker street; thence northeasterly on the northwesterly line of said Tucker street fifty-five feet to the point of beginning. Being the same premises conveyed to Felix Ouellette aforesaid, by said proprietors by deed dated 24th day of February, 1896. And subject to the reservations in said proprietor's said deed contained respecting canals, conduits and waterways. Taxes for the current year are unpaid and the premises will be sold subject thereto.

$200 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale

HARRY A. BROWN, Mortgagee.

FATALLY HURT

BOY WAS RUN OVER BY ELECTRIC CAR.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Charles Fraser, 10 years old, living with his grandmother at 319½ Meridian street, East Boston, was run over by an electric car a short distance from his home at 1.30 yesterday afternoon and an hour later died from his injuries at the City hospital relief station. The boy's face was terribly lacerated, his skull was fractured, his left leg broken and several portions of his body were bruised.

SUICIDE PACT

One Man Took Poison, Other is Missing

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Despondent because he could not obtain employment, Leva Prenblay, 27 years old, whose home is in Southbridge, attempted suicide by taking paris green, early last night. Behind the man's attempt to end his life is a pathetic story of want and salvation and final discouragement.

Prenblay came to this city about two weeks ago in search of work. He took up lodgings in the South End, and in his wanderings about town he became acquainted with a man named Smith. Smith also was looking for work, and the two became friends.

They read the daily papers and tried all the employment bureaus, but without success, and finally their money ran low. For several days they had been living on the scantiest meals, but they ran out of money and became utterly discouraged. They were rooming on Harrison av., near Broadway, but Prenblay could not remember the number of the house nor did he know his companion's first name.

When they met at their room last night and compared notes the men decided that it was hardly worth while continuing the struggle any longer, and after discussing their condition Smith suggested that they commit suicide. The proposition at first shocked Prenblay, he said, but after listening to his companion's arguments he yielded and the pair decided to die together.

They secured a quantity of paris green and each swallowed a portion of it. Prenblay sank into unconsciousness, but when he recovered he left his room and made his way out to Roxbury. He reached Tremont street, and seeing Dr. Adams' office at 1677, called upon the doctor and informed him of his attempt upon his life.

Dr. Adams immediately notified the police of division 10 and then busied himself with Prenblay. The doctor administered an emetic and did his utmost to relieve the unfortunate man. Lieut Fersenden sent the ambulance and Prenblay was removed to the City hospital. It is believed that he will recover.

The police were unable to find any trace of Smith, nor had they received any report of an attempt upon his life.

PERSONALS

The annual tea party of the primary department of the Dracut Centre church will be held Saturday afternoon at the church from 2 to 5 o'clock. In case of rain the little people will have their party on the following Saturday.

Harold Jewett, Percy Hands of Humphrey street, Melvin Masters of Moody street and George Mervis of Merrimack street will start Monday for the University of Vermont, where they will continue their studies. The young men are all graduates of the Lowell High school. Masters was well known in the athletics of the High school, being one of the fastest runners in the state.

Mrs. Anna Gould Carpenter and Mrs. John Smith of Vernon street have just returned from a pleasant trip to Portland, Me.

Mrs. Miner Williams of Oberlin, O., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Buell of this city.

A very pleasant farewell surprise party was given in behalf of the friends of Miss Olga E. Pihl last evening at the home of her parents, 37 B street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Andrews and Miss Cora Bent have just returned from a trip to Halifax, Nova Scotia, Cape Breton and Prince Edward Island.

Miss Katherine Wholey of Fall River and her cousin, Miss Julia M. Wholey of Lowell have returned from Newport, where they spent a very enjoyable "old home week." Miss Julia M. Wholey has resumed her studies at Boston university, from which institution she will graduate in June, 1906.

Rev. Charles L. Merriam, former pastor of the Highland Congregational church, now of Derry, N. H., will preach at the Highland church next Sunday, morning and evening.

Born in Dracut, Sept. 18, to Mr. and Mrs. Sam McDonald, a son.

Albert Spicer, for the past two years boss of the overhead construction work of the Boston & Northern in Haverhill, has resigned his position and, after a four weeks' vacation in Maine will come to Lowell, where he will take a similar position on the Lowell division of the same company.

TOM TAGGART

Says McCall Was Not Asked For Money

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Chairman Taggart of the Democratic National committee arrived in New York yesterday from Indianapolis. He denied the statement made by President McCall of the New York Life before the legislative insurance committee on Wednesday, that the Democratic National committee had solicited money for the campaign fund from that concern.

"No member of the national committee or any agent of the committee ever asked Mr. McCall or the New York Life for a dollar," he said.

Mr. Taggart added:

"Neither the Democratic National committee or any other authorized representative of the committee ever asked for a dollar from any insurance company."

He said he did not come to New York to testify before the Insurance Investigation committee. It was also stated at the investigation yesterday, that Chairman Taggart had not been asked to testify.

STANDS PAT

DALZELL TALKS ABOUT TARIFF REVISION.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 22.—The Hon. John Dalzell, senior representative from Allegheny county in congress, yesterday gave out a statement embodying his views on the tariff. Mr. Dalzell is a "stand patter." He said in part:

"I am not in favor of tariff revision at this time. In my judgment it would be unwise and impolitic.

"It is unnecessary. We are, as is universally conceded, enjoying a prosperity such as we nor any other people have before known. Our home market is the greatest in the world. Our foreign market has been increasing year by year under the operation of our present law.

"We can safely go to the country under the present law. It would be dangerous to do so under a new and untried one. I do not believe that there is any substantial demand outside of the democratic and mugwump press and the reciprocity theorists for tariff revision at this time. This I say deliberately after a journey across the continent clear to the Pacific coast. Everywhere I heard expressed the hope that there would be no interference with the tariff."

GEER DROWNED

HIS COMPANION HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 22.—By the upsetting of a canoe yesterday afternoon in the Connecticut river, Alfred D. Geer of Northampton, Mass., of the class of 1907, Dartmouth college, was drowned, and his companion, Francis B. Riley, '07, of Jamaica Plain, Mass., narrowly escaped with his life.

The young men started down the river in their canoe, for Claremont, 30 miles below here yesterday afternoon. They carried their canoe around Wilders falls, but in going down the rapids just below the falls, their canoe was capsized by the rapid current and young Geer's body was swept away. It has not yet been recovered. Riley was rescued in an exhausted condition, and was resuscitated with great difficulty. Geer was about 21 years of age, a member of the Sigma Mater fraternity and was prominent in college literary circles.

RECORDS GONE

DAN PATCH DID SOME GREAT WORK.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 22.—Records were broken in the races at the Allentown fair, yesterday in the presence of 15,000 people, who shouted and cheered when Dan Patch paced by two runners and with H. C. Hersey driving, went a mile in 2.01. The quarters were made in 30½, 30, 30 and 30½. An hour later Dan Patch hitched to a road wagon, cut the pacing record of his sire, Joe Patchen, from 2.11½ to 2.05. The quarters were made in 31, 32, 32 and 30.

JOSS STICK PARTY.

A joss stick party was held at the Elite rink last night and it proved to be a grand success. At the first session there were 100 in the march and in the second session 350 were on the floor, each skater in line carrying a joss stick. The decorations of the rink hall were such as to produce moonlight effects, and this added to the charm of the occasion.

In about two weeks, at a date not yet set, a skating cotillion will be given.

PELHAM FAIR

Red Letter Day for the Grange

SPLENDED EXHIBITS FROM THE FARMS

List of Sports Run Off in the Afternoon

With ideal weather prevailing throughout the day and a large attendance, the seventh annual fair under the auspices of the Pelham Grange conducted at Pelham yesterday was a brilliant success and the good folk of the town for miles around were there.

There were hundreds of visitors in attendance too, and all were highly pleased with what they saw. As an agricultural town Pelham is a hummer and when it comes to a display of garden and farm products she can make a splendid showing.

The fair was one of those genuine old fashioned functions of characteristic New England type and was, too, something of a family gathering for all our country cousins.

George S. Butler was the man. They always select Mr. Butler when they want to make a success of a thing. He managed the fair in a manner that left no chance for a slip up or a criticism. William E. Pearron was master of the grange and rendered able assistance to Mr. Butler.

The festivities opened shortly before noon in town hall where the agricultural exhibition was held. On long rows of tables were stretched the products of the farms, including all kinds of fruit, vegetables and other garden truck. Great interest was evinced in all these displays, and so good were the exhibits that the judges found great difficulty in awarding the premiums. In a separate department were several displays of chickens, geese, pigeons and fowl.

The entire upper floor was given to a display of fancy work of all kinds, and flowers and jellies, the women especially showing great interest in these displays. A large number of antique pieces of pewter, including a lantern and coffee pot, and a small and decidedly old fashioned stove attracted much attention.

The cattle exhibit in the stalls in the rear of the hall was rather small, but was nevertheless very good. In the class for bulls, Hubley Brothers' 14-months' old Holstein bull was awarded first premium, J. H. Marsh's 9 months' old bull second premium, and D. W. Burns' bull third.

Among the cows, D. Guild's Holstein, Sheffield Lyons Jersey cow and L. W. Burns' Aberdeen cow were awarded first premiums. R. M. Hill's cow and pen, the only display of the porcine family, were awarded a first premium.

A half dozen stalks of corn, nearly 14 feet in height, which were displayed in front of the hall by George H. Currier, was awarded a first premium.

Dinner was served in Pilgrim hall at 1.30.

A program of sports was carried out immediately after dinner and great interest was manifested in them.

A contest of pulling a dead weight of 3250 pounds was entered by five teams and R. M. Hills won first prize William D. Smith second and H. D. Snow third. The judges were Mr. McLean of Methuen, William Morris of Hudson and Mr. Buttrick of Derry.

The following is a summary of the sports:

50 yard run—Won by Isaiah Holmes, Time, 1.11. Second, John Peabody.

Three legged race—Won by Isaiah Holmes and William Canole. Time, 26 seconds. Second, Edwin Searles and William Smith.

Tug-of-war—(Teams of six men)—Won by Stephen Donovan's team, two pulls out of three. Second, team captained by Frank H. Hillman.

The committees in charge of the exhibits and the other details of the fair did their work magnificently. There was a unity in everything that was done, and with well regulated effort men and women attained what they set out to accomplish. The success of the fair was a commentary upon the character of the grange members.

The horse trot brought out several good steppers and intense interest prevailed. The half mile was won by Carl Shaw's Queen, in 1:20, and P. H. Knapp's Whirlwind was second.

The second event was a trot for the 2.21 class. This was won by C. E. Hathhorn's Winner, half mile in 1:24; John Flynn's Mark, second, and Arthur Fox's Delerce third.

A. K. Jones' Exercise won the three minute class trot in 2:57 and P. H. Knapp's Phinie was second. William Morris of Hudson, Mr. McLean of Methuen and Mr. Buttrick of Derry were the judges.

The following were the winners of premiums in the vegetable display:

Assorted vegetables—First premium, Samuel E. Mann; second premium, R. D. Snow.

Beets—First premium, F. A. Burton; second premium, Charles Guild.

Squashes—First premium, G. C. Mann; second premium, R. D. Snow.

Onions—First premium, Mrs. Estelle Hyde.

Display potatoes—First premium, W. E. Pearson.

Bushel potatoes—First premium, George S. Butler; second premium, R. D. Snow.

Tomatoes—First premium, G. E. Mann; second premium, Mrs. Estelle Hyde.

Cabbages—First premium, G. E. Mann; second premium, F. A. Burton.

Pole beans—First premium, George S. Butler.

Sweet corn—First premium, D. G. B. Burns.

Turnips—First premium, G. E. Mann.

Pumpkins—First premium, R. D. Snow; second premium, E. G. Hobbs.

Pop corn—First premium, G. E. Mann.

Trace corn—First premium, Ray Jones; second premium, F. A. Burton.

Cucumbers—First premium, R. M. Hills.

Special premium—Squash, George S. Butler.

COL. RHODES

BROTHER OF THE LATE CECIL RHODES DEAD.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The British South Africa company in London last evening received information of the death in Cape Town of Col. Francis William Rhodes (retired), brother of the late Cecil Rhodes, and managing director of the African Trans-Continental Telegraph company.

For participation in the Jameson raid, Colonel Rhodes was sentenced to death, the sentence being subsequently commuted to imprisonment, followed by banishment. The colonel served with distinction in the campaigns in the Soudan and on several occasions was mentioned for bravery.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The subscription list at the Academy of Music is swelling daily, and at the present time there are over 600 names on the book. Patrons of the theatre who have their names in the book find it a great convenience. During the past week there have been several theatre parties in attendance, and Wednesday and Friday evenings are becoming commonly called society nights, for these two nights seem to be picked out by the elites of this city.

Next week, Mr. Wright Huntington will be seen in "The Great Diamond Robbery," as the detective who is always on hand to punish the villain and rescue persecuted innocence. He is given an opportunity to assume some amusing disguises and practice many different kinds of dialect. The drama is very cleverly constructed, and while the detective appears in what might be called impossible places at different stages of the play, it is one which has met with great success every time when presented by a good company.

5 TIMES Her Own Weight IN EGGS

Chickens brought up properly and given Sheridan's Condition Powder regularly with their food, develop more rapidly—arrive at laying maturity earlier, and produce eggs abundantly. With Sheridan's Condition Powder to urge her, a four pound pullet will yield from four to five times her own weight in eggs the first year.

Sheridan's Condition Powder is a medicine used by poultrymen for over thirty years with wonderful success—it makes young pullets strong and healthy—it carries old hens quickly through the moulting season, and keeps them laying steadily throughout the winter when eggs sell from 40 to 50 cents a dozen.

If your dealer cannot supply you—we will send a sample package for 25c; 5 for $1.00. Large 2½ lb. can, $1.20; 6 for $5.00. Sample best poultry paper free.

THE MERRIMACK

Clothing Company

Women's Dept.

Advance Offering of High Grade

Fur Lined Coats

FOR TEN DAYS

The selling of women's fur lined garments promises to be a big feature of the coming season, and the very force and nature of the demand for them has caused prices on all furs to advance materially—and has thrown on the market a great quantity of undesirable skins, which pass as perfect.

The object of the Merrimack in holding this advance sale is to allow its patrons an opportunity of selecting from a choice assortment—and at more favorable prices than will rule later in the season.

The outside fabrics are of broadcloth, kersey or grosgrain silk—in black, castor, red or nile. The linings are a choice selection of skins including sable, squirrel, baby squirrel, and German squirrel. The collars and cuffs are of generous size in Persian, Jap mink or sable squirrel. The garments are 45 to 48 inches long, and are made by suit houses, which means good tailoring throughout.

The whole showing is of importance to every woman who wishes to dress well and economically.

Special at $25.00

One lot of fine coats of broadcloth or kersey in black only, cut 46 and 48 inches long, lined with natural or blended squirrel, susilcka; plush or quilted silk; collars and cuffs of river mink or Siberian squirrel. Every garment in the lot is well tailored, and worth from $5.00 to $10.00 more than this week's price.

Other garments up to $85.00.

NOTE—On payment of a small deposit, we will hold the garment of your choice until Nov. 1st.

A Big Value in

BOYS' SCHOOL SUITS

Double Breasted Jacket and Two Pairs of Pants, Value $3.50

$2.35

In two nice patterns of all wool cheviots—new fall goods. The pants are made strongly with taped seams and rivetted buttons. The coats are double-breasted and fit well. They are dependably made or we wouldn't have them, and they're worth $3.00 without the extra pant. We offer you the two pairs of pants and coat for $2.35.

The new suits are all in—the biggest stock we've ever shown. Prices $2.00 to $10.00.

The Merrimack Derby

The Hat of Style and Quality

$2.00

The man who has never worn a MERRIMACK DERBY has never known the utmost of hat value. The increasing cost of all the ingredients of a derby has caused a deterioration of quality in most makes. Not so with the Merrimack Derby. We have kept it up to the mark at all times—sacrificed profit a little—but "MERRIMACK" on a derby is the same as "Merrimack" on a coat—it stands for quality, no matter what the price—so the quality has been maintained.

The new fall style is a gem—a full crown and a rather rolling brim with a flat curl.

Four distinct proportions enable us to suit the features of any build of man.

MAN SHOT DEAD

Riot on New York's East Side

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—One man was killed, a policeman seriously injured and two persons shot in an east side riot last night. The fighting followed the effort of the police to clear away a crowd which had become disorderly in front of a restaurant in lower Second avenue. There had been numerous complaints from the neighborhood that remnants of several of the recently broken up "gangs" on the east side had been meeting at the restaurant and were becoming unruly. The police of the precinct were especially instructed by their captain last night to rid the vicinity of the vicious characters. The appearance of Policeman Walter J. Miller on the scene was at once the signal for trouble.

A woman jeered at him and when the men were told to move on they refused to go. Miller arrested a young man named Jack Klein and was immediately set upon by the fellow's companions. Miller was hit heavily over the head with a club and fell to the ground, still retaining his hold on Klein. The prostrate policeman was kicked and beaten but finally managed to draw his pistol, and after shouting a warning, fired twice. One bullet struck Klein between the shoulders and he fell dead. The second bullet passed through the leg of Max Felderbaum, causing a flesh wound and entered the foot of Florence Smith, a 19-year-old girl.

Reserves from two precincts had to be summoned before quiet could be restored. Several arrests were made on charge of vicious assault, inciting to riot, attempting to rescue prisoners. At the hospital it was said Policeman Miller may have a fractured skull.

FOUND IN WOODS

BODY OF JOHN O'HARA WHO WAS MISSING.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Two weeks ago the town authorities of Port Washington, L. I., received an anonymous letter telling them that they would probably find in a clump of woods the dead body of James O'Hara, a laborer, who had been missing since Aug. 13. The writer of the letter said he had overheard a conversation between Cleveland Poole who boarded with O'Hara and his wife, and another person, unnamed, which induced him to write to the police.

Yesterday a hunter stumbled across the badly decomposed body of a man near the O'Hara house. The clothing was quickly identified as that worn by O'Hara when last seen. Officers immediately arrested Poole, who admitted that he had been drinking with O'Hara on the last night the latter was seen alive. He said O'Hara had wanted to fight with him on the way home but he would not engage in a quarrel and finally left him on the public road. O'Hara was not seen again and inquiry at his home brought the answer that it was supposed he was visiting friends.

TEN YEARS

HIGHWAYMAN SENT AWAY BY JUDGE SCHOFIELD.

DEDHAM, Sept. 22.—Samuel W. Hunt, a negro, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Schofield in the Norfolk Criminal court to a term of from seven to 10 years in the State prison for highway robbery in Brookline on the night of March 1, 1905. Hunt made a scene in the court room when the sentence was pronounced.

Hunt had previously pleaded guilty to the charge of robbery. On March 11 last, Charles W. Birtwell was assaulted and robbed by three negroes near his home in Brookline. Hunt was captured a few hours later, and in his pockets were found paper that had been taken from Mr. Birtwell.

Albert Williams, another member of the party, was shot and killed by Police Captain Paige of Brookline while trying to escape arrest. The third man was never apprehended.

BOATS COLLIDED

Schooner Herbert Disabled and Leaking

CHATHAM, Sept. 22.—The two-masted schooner Herbert, bound from Rockport, Mass., for Newport, R. I., with a cargo of granite was in collision early today about 20 miles off Chatham, with an unknown schooner bound east. The bowsprit and head gear of the Herbert were carried away and as a result of the accident she is partly disabled and leaking. The plight of the schooner was observed during the morning by the life saving crew at the Nauset station. The mainsail of the unknown schoner was torn. According to Captain Perkins of the Herbert, the other vessel resumed her voyage after the collision, without offering assistance.

The captain and crew of the Herbert, numbering four men, believe that the schooner which struck their vessel was bound for St. John or some other provincial port from the south. She was apparently light. As it was dark, however, when the collision occurred, the crew of the Herbert could not discern the name of the vessel, which resumed her course east directly after the accident. It was observed that her main sail was badly ripped. The only explanation that Captain Perkins could offer of the collision was that in the thick gloom the men at the wheels failed to observe the lights of the schooner.

Shortly after daybreak the Herbert was sighted at anchor between Orleans and Nauset station. She was boarded later by Captain Walker of the Nauset guard, with several of the life savers, who assisted in getting the Herbert under way. The schooner proceeded north, leaking. At the request of Captain Perkins, Captain Walker sent a dispatch to the Rockport agent of the Herbert, asking that a tug boat be sent from Boston to tow the damaged schooner to that port.

The Herbert is a vessel of 114 tons and was built at East Boston in 1883. Her home port is Gloucester.

PEABODY DEAD

Was a Well Known Boston Banker

BEVERLY, Mass., Sept. 22.—Francis H. Peabody, a prominent banker of Boston, died suddenly at his home at Beverly Cove, early today. Heart disease was the cause of death. Mr. Peabody was 71 years old.

Mr. Peabody was stricken during the night and the illness proved to be so serious that the family physician, who was hurriedly summoned, could do nothing to relieve the dying banker.

Mr. Peabody was apparently enjoying excellent health yesterday. He went to Boston yesterday and spent several hours at the office of the Kidder, Peabody & Co., of which firm he was the senior member.

During the afternoon he boarded his yacht and went for a short sail, after which he returned to his summer home here, where he took dinner with the members of his family. Mr. Peabody retired early in the evening, but made no remark about feeling ill. Shortly after midnight the members of the household were hurriedly aroused, one of them having discovered that Mr. Peabody was experiencing difficulty in breathing. The family physician was summoned but although he arrived in a few moments he was unable to save the patient.

Mr. Peabody for nearly half a century has been prominent in the financial circles of the United States, and in 1865 organized the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., which is one of the best known financial institutions in the world.

The other members of the firm are Frank G. Webster, Robert Winsor and Francis E. Peabody, a son of the founder of the bank. In addition to the latter, Mr. Peabody is survived by a widow and one daughter.

Mr. Peabody was born at Springfield, Mass., October 9, 1831. He was the son of Rev. W. B. O. Peabody, a Unitarian clergyman. In 1847 he went to Boston to take a position as clerk in the office of John G. Thayer & Company, bankers. In 1865 the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Company was organized by Mr. Peabody, together with Henry P. Kidder and Colonel O. W. Peabody, both of whom had been connected with the Thayer company.

Mr. Peabody was a director of the Boston Elevated Railway company, and until a year ago he was director of the United States Steel corporation.

CAPT. ELLIS, S. S. "HALIFAX"

Popular Mariner Who Has Passed Through Many Tempests Tells How Vital Force Cured Him.

One of the best known and most popular mariners sailing out of the port of Boston is Capt. Alfred Ellis, master of S. S. "Halifax," Plant line. He contracted a terrible cold last winter while trying to make port at Charlottetown, Prince Edward's Island, and his testimony, freely given, in behalf of Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force is valid proof of the curative qualities of this marvellous remedy, which is destined to become a medicine of universal use the world over. Capt. Ellis writes:

"While standing on the bridge, trying to make port at Charlottetown, P. E. I., during a blinding storm of rain, snow and sleet, I contracted a severe cold, accompanied with soreness in my throat and intense pains about my chest and lungs. I was unable to speak above a whisper, was fearful that it would assume a dangerous phase, and knew full well that if I did not get rid of the cold at once, that I would be taking great chances on account of my being obliged to face the storms of winter. I had tried about everything recommended for such troubles, but none of them cured me. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force, and in fact, he had such faith in the medicine that he gave me several bottles of the remedy. I began its use right away and my hoarseness disappeared and the soreness in my throat, and pains in my chest left me in a short time. I continued taking it until I knew I was completely cured, and ever since I have kept a bottle in my cabin for emergency. I sincerely recommend this remedy for the speedy cure of throat and lung troubles, having given it an honest test, after other medicines failed to cure."

(Signed)
"ALFRED ELLIS,
"Master S. S. 'Halifax,' Plant Line.
"Nov. 12, 1904."

On land and sea, DR. BARTLETT'S VITAL FORCE is a wonderful medicine. No morphine, opium, cocaine, chloral, chloroform, arsenic or alcohol. A doctor's prescription, purely vegetable and not a patent medicine. In use over 33 years. Makes blood, feeds nerves, gives strength. Pleasant to take. Will give you mental force.

Dr. Bartlett's Current of Life Tablets guaranteed cure for liver ills, constipation, rush of blood, dizziness, sour stomach, sallow complexion, pimples, blotches etc. (mild laxative) 25c a box.

AN INJUNCTION

Sought Against Utah Copper Company

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Argument was heard at Newark yesterday before Vice Chancellor Pitney on a motion for an injunction to restrain the Utah Copper company from carrying out an agreement with the Guggenheim Exploration company, by which the latter concern would become the owner of 51 per cent. of the stock of the former. Enos A. Wall of Salt Lake City, vice-president and director of the copper company, is the complainant. He owns 20 per cent. of the stock of the company.

To carry out the plan which Wall is opposing the copper company desires to increase its capitalization to $6,000,000 and issue $3,060,000 of 6 per cent. ten-year bonds. The bonds and the $1,500,000 new stock are to be turned over, under the plan to the Guggenheim concern. At one stage of the proceedings, the vice chancellor exclaimed:

"My idea is that a man is nothing more than a born fool to take any stock in a company unless he goes in with men in whom he can have confidence and who will not manage the affairs of the corporation regardless of the rights of the small holders. I like to see a company managed on its merits, with a due regard for the small as well as the large stockholders."

Mr. Wall has obtained several temporary injunctions restraining the copper company from carrying out its plan and one of these will prevent a meeting set for tomorrow to put the new plan into execution. The vice chancellor reserved decision for a week.

MATRIMONIAL.

William Molloy of 34 Fern street, and Miss Margaret M. Byrne of 469 Hampshire street, both well known in Lowell, were married Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in St. Mary's church, Lawrence. Fr. Cuilliane performed the ceremony.

After the marriage a wedding reception was held at the home of the bride from 6 to 9 o'clock. Fully 200 guests were present and a bountiful repast was served to all.

The bride looked charming in an exquisite gown of purest white silk mulle and carried bride roses. Her bridesmaid was attired in a dainty dress of blue silk mulle and carried white pinks.

Friends were present from Dover, Manchester, Taunton, Franklin, Newark, N. J., Lynn, Lowell and Methuen.

The ushers were Michael Fay, Lewis Connor, Alec Long and Thomas Pender.

The wedding cake was cut and served by the bride herself.

A very fine musical program was rendered and the guests made merry until a late hour.

Ice cream was served at 9 o'clock, just before the departure of the bride and groom.

Despite the fact that dozens of watchful eyes were awaiting the departure of the newly married couple, they managed to slip away unnoticed and were nowhere to be found.

They took the 9 o'clock train for Boston and will enjoy an extended trip to Nantasket and Old Orchard beaches, and also the White Mountains. They will be at home to their friends Oct. 15, at 469 Hampshire street.

The bride wore a very becoming suit of blue broadcloth for a traveling gown, with hat to match.

The presents which the young couple received were very numerous and beautiful.

ALLAN—FRANKLIN.

Mr. David Allan and Miss Annie Franklin were united in marriage Wednesday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. James H. Greenwood in Wigglesville by Rev. B. W. Matthews. The house was prettily decorated. The best man was Mr. Emil Carlson, and the bridesmaid was Miss Annie Greenwood. The bride was gowned in white silk over taffeta, and the bridesmaid wore blue silk over taffeta. There were many valuable and useful presents. The young couple left for a week's trip in Maine and on their return will reside at 16 Epping street.

WEBER—BARRY.

At St. Lawrence's church in Lawrence Wednesday evening, William Weber of this city and Miss Helen G. Barry of Lawrence were united in marriage by Rev. Fr. Driscoll.

John McVey was best man, while Margaret A. Barry, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The bride was attired in blue silk. The bridesmaid was also becomingly gowned in similar attire. A reception was held at the home of the bride, 10 Elm street. The newly married couple left on the 3:40 train for an extended trip to New York. Friends were present from Haverhill, Lynn and Lowell. The presents were numerous and costly.

NORTON—HUTCHINS.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hutchins on Elm street, Lawrence, presented a very pretty scene on Tuesday night the occasion being the marriage of their youngest daughter, Carrie Louise to Clare W. Norton of Lawrence.

To the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, played on the piano by Edwin G. Booth, the bride entered, escorted by her father and attended by Miss Elva G. Hutchins, her niece, as flower girl. Immediately following was the bridegroom with ushers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur L. Snell of Fitchburg, a cousin of the bride.

They will reside at 117 Elm street.

BISHOP STANG

May be Archbishop at New Orleans

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The World this morning says that Bishop Stang of Fall River, Mass., will probably be the successor of the late Archbishop Chapelle at New Orleans, La. It adds:

"Dr. Stang is regarded as the most available candidate for the vacancy. He speaks fluently English, German and French and for this reason would be well qualified to fill the vacancy because of the cosmopolitan population of the archdiocese of New Orleans. He has been most favorably recommended by influential Catholic ecclesiastics."

Bishop Stang was for many years rector of the cathedral at Providence, R. I., and later became vice rector of the American college in Louvain. From there he was promoted to the see of Fall River, Mass.

BIG BONUSES PAID

New York Life Agents Made Good Money

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—Upon the assembling today of the special legislative committee which is investigating the life insurance business, Thomas Buckner, vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, who has charge of that company's agencies and who was unable to answer a number of questions yesterday without looking up records, was called to the stand. The matter of the Nylic accounts was taken up. They included records of a system of bonuses paid to agents. Nylic, he said, was a body of men drawn from the ranks of agents who create business for his company. It is divided into five classes:

Freshmen, first, second and third degree and senior Nylic. The freshmen have a written contract with the company and must produce business paying not less than $500 annually in premiums and give their entire time for five years. They are paid no salary but qualify for a higher degree. If there was default of qualifications they were dropped and had to recommence at the beginning. They received fifty cents a thousand per month for all business written by them. The first degree Nylic must produce business paying not less than $25,000 in premiums a year for five years to become a second degree Nylic.

The second degree Nylic received $10 a month per thousand. If an agent secures premiums of $25,000 a year he becomes a third degree Nylic. This degree lasts five years. Its members receive $1.50 per month per thousand and must also maintain the $25,000 total of premiums. At the expiration of five years he becomes a senior and receives 75 cents per month per thousand on new business over the average of insurance written during the previous twenty years. He need not give his entire time but must not write for any other company.

When this system was devised it became retroactive and all the agents went into these grades according to their terms of service and amount of business written. None of these had served sufficient time to become senior Nylics and at present the company has but three seniors.

Mr. Buckner said that what moneys agents got from Nylic was in addition to the regular agents commissions. Witness stated that the cost of Nylics today is one per cent. of the renewal premiums. Mr. Buckner said this system was invaluable in holding their agents in a solidarity.

Severance of connection with the company ends all benefits in Nylic, except in case of death when provision is made for payments to the estate of a Nylic above the grade of freshman for three to six months. Further post mortem benefits were paid under a resolution adopted in 1895, which provided that an agent's estate may receive a sum equal to $1 for every thousand of insurance written during the year preceding his death. This, by vote of the trustees, was made an annual resolution. In the ten years this mortuary fund has been expended. Witness testified that $23,000 had been paid out for this purpose.

Mr. Buckner could not state the bonus paid to agents above their regular commissions under the Nylic system but he thought it was not a very great amount. He would supply this information later.

Henry Dempsey, cashier of the Citizens' Central National Bank was called and testified that Andrew Hamilton had an account in that bank and produced a transcript of that account, which was placed in evidence.

Mr. Buckner testified that the total payments to Nylic members aggregated less than one per cent. of the total premiums. The company has 916 agents who are members of Nylic, and over five thousand who are not. It would be possible, Mr. Buckner calculated, for a man who had worked twenty years to retire altogether from active labor. A second Nylic was inaugurated January 1, 1902, for agency directors, inspectors and supervisors in the United States, Canada and the West Indies. A board of trustees was given control of a fund made up by amounts contributed in part by the members and in part by the Life Insurance company. This fund was to be divided among the members in 1913 according to the amount of business written under the direction of the members. The fund now amounts to $937,777.

In 1904 it appeared $432,601 was given as bonuses under various written agreements with agents and $191,113 was paid for general bonuses throughout the world, including those for special months.

"Now," said Mr. Hughes, "I find $6,662,448 put down for one year for commission on $14,048,535 first year premiums on new insurance and total commission as $7,292,593. These are independent of all payments on Nylic."

"Yes."

"What is the rate of commission in Germany?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"We are not allowed to pay more than 50 per cent. of the first year's premium on any policy and the average is 40 per cent."

Mr. Hughes asked for full statements from Mr. Buckner of the business written in the United States and Canada and in the other parts of the world with both showing the premiums and commissions paid and all other particulars, which would show to what extent, if any, the business of the New York Life was being extended throughout the world at the expense of the American policy holder.

BOLD ATTEMPT

To Wreck a Bank in Warsaw

WARSAW, Sept. 22.—An attempt was made at noon today to destroy the Shoreshevsky bank. A man threw a bomb at an open window of the bank, but missed his aim and the missile exploded in the court yard dangerously injuring the perpetrator of the crime, a young Jew.

It appears that the outrage was due to the fact that the bank officials had refused to contribute to the funds of the revolutionists.

$10,000 DAMAGES

Suit Filed Against a Local Contractor

George D. Kimball, through his counsel, has filed an attachment at the registry of deeds at the local court house against Edward W. Douglas, the well-known contractor, for alleged breach of contract.

The attachment is for $10,000 and alleges breach of contract. The bill is returnable the first Monday of November at the superior civil court at Cambridge.

BLACKMAIL CASE

Mayor Lynch Was the Leading Witness

The alleged blackmail case in which Messrs. Michael J. Ryan, Matthew De Grey Ripon, William P. White and William H. McMullin, of Lawrence, appear as defendants, was resumed in the municipal court in Lawrence today before Judge Mahoney and at the time of going to press the court was still in session.

Mayor Lynch was placed on the stand this morning and a letter alleged to have been sent to him by William H. McMullin was produced, but the court refused to admit the letter as evidence.

Inspector Murphy also testified to the reporting of a violation of the Sunday liquor law at the Hotel Brunswick.

HORNET'S NEST

The Committee on State Aid held a meeting this afternoon and a certain old resident appeared before the meeting to tell some things he knows about Supt. Potter.

It appears that he and the superintendent have been mixing it up a mite for the past month, or since his request that aid be provided for an elderly lady in whom he has taken an interest, was tabled as he says through the efforts of Mr. Potter.

The old resident has a couple of communications said to have been written by Mr. Potter, in which it is charged that this old resident secured a commission on every load of supplies that went out from the aid department to the woman for whom he applied for aid and another communication is alleged to state that the old resident eats some of his meals at the woman's house. Of course the charges are repudiated as false and calumnious.

The old resident is mad clean through and there promises to be a thoing or two doing when he meets Mr. Potter.

The latter, by the way, is away on his vacation, and will not be back until the middle of next week.

FOUGHT OVER COW

Lively Neighborhood Squabble in Tyngsboro

It was a peaceable, mild-eyed, and chewing cow and thereby hangs a tale.

And the tale of the cow was rehearsed before Judge Hadley in police court, this morning with a number of amusing details.

Joseph F. Demers pleaded not guilty of assault and battery on Mrs. Georgianna McEnnis as the result of a struggle for possession of the aforesaid cow and the eleven witnesses pro and con introduced a very amusing variety of dialects. Lawyer Hamel appeared for the defendant and Deputy Welch for the government.

The cow is owned by Mrs. McEnnis and a month ago her husband gave the animal to Demers for a month, with the signed agreement that Demers could have full possession of the animal for that time "for her keep." Last Sunday, the time being up Mrs. and Miss McEnnis went to Demers and reading the conditions of the agreement to him informed him that they had come to take the animal away. Mr. Demers told them that they would find the cow in pasture and to take her, but added: "Give me back that agreement before you take her."

"We won't give you the agreement until we take her," said Miss McEnnis.

"Then you won't take her," said Demers.

And that's how it started. The two women went to the pasture and started to put a halter on the cow. Demers got the halter away from them, whereupon they grabbed the animal by the horns and tried to lead her away. Demers, they claim, struck them with the halter and struck Mrs. McEnnis with his fist knocking her down and bruising her arm. Then the cow moved to the shade of an old apple tree with the contestants all fastened to different parts of her anatomy and in the mix-up Mrs. McEnnis was quite roughly used. Finally Mr. Demers got possession of the animal and locked her in the barn.

Three other witnesses heard Demers say he would not give up the animal and subsequently saw Mrs. McEnnis knocked down.

For the defence Demers claimed that he did not want to give up the cow unless he first got back his agreement but denied doing any striking. He claimed that the cow tripped up Mrs. McEnnis, causing her to fall.

One of the witnesses with a delightful French dialect said he saw Mr. Demers, two ladies and a cow all struggling together. There were seven witnesses for the defence and all were positive that Demers didn't strike Mrs. McEnnis. Judge Hadley reviewing the evidence said that Mrs. McEnnis was entitled to the cow on demand and that the defendant had no right to interfere with her. He fined Demers $15 for the assault. Demers appealed but afterward withdrew it.

FINED FOR TRESPASSING.

It is a most unusual thing for a complainant or a spectator in the police court to abruptly address the judge from the floor without asking permission but that's what George L. Fowler did this morning and his protest put a different complexion on things. A boy named John J. Osborn pleaded guilty of trespassing on Mr. Fowler's land, and had promised not to do so again. Agent Carleton accordingly recommended placing him on probation. The court was willing and the clerk was about to read the court's finding when Mr. Fowler walked to the clerk's desk and in a loud tone of voice said: "Has your honor been informed of the facts in this case?"

"The boy has pleaded guilty of trespass and has promised not to go there again," said the court in surprise.

"Well, the trespassing doesn't amount to anything. I don't mind that," said Mr. Fowler, "but I want protection for my property."

"Do you want this boy punished?" demanded the court. "He has promised not to go near your place again."

"I just went through there for a short cut," said Osborn.

"I don't know about this probation business," remarked Mr. Fowler. "These boys go into my blocking yard and they build a regular log cabin out of my blocks. Then they congregate in the cabin and play cards and shake dice and when the weather is cold they build fires in the cabin and burn up my blocks. When they hear me coming they run away and they go away and leave the fires burning and they're liable to burn down the neighborhood some day. They did it all last fall and this year they've built the cabin again and I am sure will start the fires as soon as the weather gets colder. I can't say whether this boy has done it or not but it has been done and I want some protection."

Officer Cauley who arrested Osborn said that he had seen Osborn in the cabin shaking dice and playing cards and warned him not to go there any more. Yesterday he caught him in the cabin again and arrested him.

Judge Hadley then withdrew the probation and fined Osborn $10.

Two drunks were fined. Thomas Graham who works on the Granitville railroad was released yesterday morning and pinched again at night. It cost him $6.

Thomas Berry when drunk yesterday struck his wife, Mary E., with a shoe. It's a bad habit he has when drinking though all right when sober. He was fined $20 and was placed under $100 bonds to keep peace for one year. He gave bonds.

Andrew Hamilton, a juvenile, paid a fine of $5 for throwing a stone at Jacob Smith, a junk collector.

DEATHS

BYWATERS—John Edward Bywaters, aged two months and 15 days, child of Mark and Lena, died today at the home of his parents, 59 Marion street.

MISCHIEVOUS BOY

WAS FINED IN THE POLICE COURT.

In the juvenile session of police court, this noon, Phileas Vincent, a boy was charged with malicious mischief in destroying the property of Octava Denault, an adiut.

Both parties live in Kenwood, where Denault has a boat on the river. A few days ago it is alleged Vincent threw a great stone into Denault's boat breaking the bottom. He also made threats against Denault and the latter reluctantly admitted that he stood in fear of him. Judge Hadley found him guilty and fined him $15 and placed him under $100 bonds to keep the peace.

The committee on sewers, Aldermen Grant, Walker and Cosgrove will give a public hearing this evening at 7.30 on a half dozen petitions for sewer improvements in various sections of the city.

CITY HALL NEWS

EX-MAYOR HOWE VISITS MAYOR CASEY.

Ex-Mayor Charles E. Howe graced the mayoralty chamber with his presence this morning.

He called to confer with Mayor Casey on a little matter of business, as it were. His mission was unknown to the wise ones though some said the question of street lighting was touched upon during the conference.

Prior to going into the mayor's office the former mayor let something drop which created the impression that he was interested in some manner or means in the Cleveland Street Lighting company.

The mayor stated to a representative of The Sun that nothing new had developed in the street light controversy.

VERY BRISK FIRE

Started in Denis O'Brien's Residence

A dangerous fire broke out in the dwelling house of Denis O'Brien at 65 Durant street shortly before 10 o'clock this morning and but for the prompt discovery and efficient work of the firemen the house would have been destroyed. As the house is situated on a high point of land the blaze and huge volumes of smoke were visible all over the city. Mr. O'Brien was unable to estimate the damage done to the house and contents, though the greater part of the damage was due to water.

When the fire started Mrs. O'Brien and one of her children were on the premises. Mrs. O'Brien was in the garden when a Mrs. Shuma, who is visiting friends in a house across the street shouted to Mrs. O'Brien that the house was afire. At that time smoke was issuing from the rear attic windows and through the roof.

She immediately telephoned to the Fourth street engine house and hose 10 and the truck responded. As the truck was going up Third street hill the men noticed that the whole rear part of the roof was ablaze and Captain Downs ordered one of his men to pull in the alarm from box 64.

When the apparatus arrived the fire was burning fiercely but it took but a short time to lay a couple of lins of hose and with the assistance of the chemical the fire was confined to the attic and the rear part of the roof. There was considerable furniture and other articles stored in the attic and these suffered considerable damage.

It was learned that there was a hole in the plastering in the attic, the hole being located near a rear chimney, and that the children using the attic as a play room often put rags and papers in the hole. The overheating of the chimney this morning set fire to the rags and paper and ignited the wood and lath work and then continued on its way to the roof.

Owing to the fact that hose 10 came on a telephone alarm that company had its line on the fire before the protective company arrived with the rubber blankets and the water soaked through the different floors, wetting practically every room in the house.

T. C. Lee Co. carried the insurance on the house and furniture.

TELEPHONE ALARM.

A telephone alarm shortly after ten o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a fire in a cottage at 17 Anderson street belonging to George L. Hubbard. The fire was caused by an oil stove, but was extinguished before any damage was done to the building.

FUNERALS

WILLIAMS—The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Williams, who died Sept. 19, in Boston, was held at the Edson chapel in this city yesterday afternoon. Rev. E. R. Smith officiated. Burial was in the Edson cemetery. Undertaker J. A. Weinbeck had charge.

BOLAND—The funeral of Harold Boland took place yesterday from the home of his parents, 177 Adams street. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertaker P. H. Savage had charge.

WOOD—The funeral of Mrs. Abigail Abbott Wood took place yesterday afternoon from 174 Liberty street. Rev. Charles T. Billings officiated and the quartet of the Unitarian church sang. Rev. George C. Wright had charge of the arrangements. Burial was in the Lowell cemetery under the direction of Undertaker J. B. Currier.

WARD—The remains of the late John H. Ward were consigned to their final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The funeral, which was largely attended by relatives and friends of the family, took place from his late home, 6 Appleton place, off Appleton street, at 8.30 o'clock, and proceeded to St. Peter's church in Gorham saret, where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at nine o'clock by Rev. Fr. Burns.

The choir was in attendance and sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory, Miss Mollie G. Ivers rendered "O Meritum Passionis," and at the conclusion of the service "Passing Out of the Shadow" was sung by Mr. John Warburton. As the remains were leaving the church the choir sang "Nearer, My God, To Thee."

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings in evidence, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by his many friends and acquaintenances.

The bearers were Messrs. Charles and Joseph Ward, Joseph Dunfey, Dr. Thomas B. and Edward L. Smith and Dr. Edward Tully of Fitchburg. The interment was in the Catholic cemetery, where the commital prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Burns. The funeral was under the direction of Funeral Directors John J. Higgins & Co.

LUNDBERG—The funeral of Frans D. Lundberg took place this afternoon. Services were held at the house, 217 Dutton street at two o'clock by Rev. E. P. Herrick. Mr. Hugh T. Johnson sang during the service. The bearers were Messrs. George Hinett, Walter Maher, Thomas McCarthy and James Wallace. The remains were taken to Wilmington for interment by Undertakers Charles H. Molloy & Sons.

LACROIX—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary F. Lacroix will take place from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Kane, 65 Bartlett street, at 8.30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at St. Joseph's church, Lee street, at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

BOARD OF HEALTH

The members of the board of health were called together for a special conference this noon, to consider a new phase in the cremator situation, brought about through the desire of Denis Connors, the owner of the land upon which it was proposed to erect the new incinerator machine, to have the site changed.

EXTRA

NEW SCHOOL LAW

Will Increase Attendance at Evening Schools

The new law extending the age for compulsory attendance in the public schools in cases where children are illiterate, which was passed at the last session of the general court and which will be effective after January 1, 1906, is not likely to affect Lowell to any great extent.

The new law provides that after the date specified, children under the age of 16 who cannot read or write, shall have to attend public day school in the city or town in which he or she resides and in cases where such children are employed, whether it be in factories, mercantile establishments or stores, they must discontinue work and attend school until they are fitted to comply with the requirements of the law which are that he or she shall be able to read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language.

The law further stipulates that no child under the age of fourteen shall be employed in any business for wages or compensation of any kind during the hours when the public schools are in session nor shall the child be employed before six o'clock in the morning or after seven o'clock at night.

There are many boys and girls, for the most part of a foreign element, between the ages of 14 and 16 now employed in the mills of this city who will be affected by the new law.

They are illiterates and must either adapt themselves to the requirement of the law before the first of the year or else leave work.

Supt. of Schools A. K. Whitcomb stated this afternoon that there are large numbers of youths and maidens in nearly every mill who will come within the scope of the new law and for the past few weeks he has been making efforts to get into communication with them with a view of fitting them up between now and the first of the year so they may be prepared when the time comes and continue to work.

He thinks that with a little special instruction these children may be fitted up with sufficient knowledge to comply with the law and has hopes that many of them will take advantage of the opportunity he will afford them.

He thinks that the general effect of the new law will be an increased attendance at the evening schools.

Should there be many who do not fit themselves for the test before the beginning of the year and who must leave the mills Mr. Whitcomb will recommend the opening of rooms and the assignment of teachers who will make a specialty of teaching the children to read and write and thus equip them in a month or six weeks with sufficient knowledge to return to work if they so desire and be in accordance with the law.

The city must provide education for them at any rate, says Mr. Whitcomb.

The local mill authorities do not look for any trouble with the youngsters.

It is understood that efforts will be made through the overseers to get the children to attend night school when it opens for the ensuing season and prepare themselves for the new requirements.

HIP FRACTURED

Roger Hayes Met With Serious Injury

Roger Hayes while driving through Fletcher street this afternoon met with a serious accident. The accident happened near the corner of Butterfield street, another wagon colliding with the one in which Mr. Hayes was riding. The force of the collision threw Mr. Hayes to the ground and the ambulance was summoned and he was removed to the Lowell hospital where upon examination it was found he was suffering from a fracture of the right hip.

He resides in Mammoth road.

JOSEPH GIRARD

Suspected of Knowing About Davis Murder

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A clipping found today in the room of Joseph Girard, who is accused of killing Augusta Pfeiffer, near the haunted oak at Pelham road leads the police to suspect that Girard may know something about the murder of Elizabeth Davis, at Middletown, N. Y. Detective Sergeant Price said today that the body of Miss Davis was found in the Wallkill river near Middletown, on March 30 last. It bore evidence of having been maltreated as was the body of the Pfeiffer girl, and physicians said it had been in the water about two months.

"The clipping we found in Girard's room," said the detective, "gave a complete account of the finding of the body. Girard was absent from his boarding house for a week about the last of January or at almost exactly the date it was shown that the Davis girl's body was thrown into the Wallkill."

SMALL CITIES

Will be Cut Out by the N. E. League

Reorganization plans for the Connecticut league were given additional impetus this week by the announcement that the Holyoke baseball club favors the scheme. The Holyoke club, producer of two pennant winners in two years, will be a powerful ally for the reorganizers, as Manager O'Neil of Springfield long ago announced that he would work for a complete reorganization.

The statement last week of the idea held by Manager Tom McDermott of Fall River has created an immense amount of talk all over the circuit and in New England league cities. That the promoters have a big job on their hands there is no doubt, but they intend to tackle the proposition at the annual meeting of the Connecticut league in Springfield Oct. 20.

The cities mentioned for the new combine include Holyoke, Springfield, Hartford, Bridgeport and New Haven of the Connecticut league, Fall River, New Bedford and Lynn of the New England league, and Worcester, for a short time in 1904 a member of the Connecticut circuit. Troy and Albany of the New York State league have been added to the list of possibilities.

President Jens J. Madsen of the Hoyloke club said that he and his colleagues are agreed that a reorganization is not only desirable but necessary. He talked the matter over with Manager McDermott when the latter was in this vicinity last week, and agreed to lend his assistance to the project. Self-preservation for the larger cities in the Connecticut league circuit is believed to demand immediate action and President Madsen says it would never do to let matters drift along until spring, as was the case with the New Haven muddle in the past season.

Tempting financial inducements were held before the eyes of the magnates hereabouts by Manager McDermott. He said Lynn is one of the best of minor league cities and he promised that New Bedford and Fall River, which are Holyoke and Springfield rivals over again, will do their share to make the plan a success. As an exmaple of having small cities in the circuit, Mr. McDermott told of a visit to Concord by his team when Fall River and Concord were fighting for the pennant, saying the money received by his team was about $60.

History shows that the same sort of thing has been true in the Connecticut league when any of the teams in the small cities were putting up a respectable fight for the flag. When Hoyloke and Meriden were setting the pace in 1903, few trips of Holyoke to Meriden were worth the trouble financially. The only notable exception was the closing game of the season, and then 500 Holyoke rooters accompanied their team to the Silver City.

AMATEUR BASE BALL

The Ketchup Club of Dracut plays the Centralville Blues at Spalding park on next Saturday afternoon. This game is agreed between the two managers to be for the championship of the city. Hickey and Burke will be the battery for the Dracut team, while Cronin and Vaughn will work with the Blues.

The Red Men want a game with the Ketchups before the season closes as each team has won one game. Manager Donovan of the Red Men states that his team will play ball until the snow flies if he can find anyone to play against it. Manager Donovan believes that if the Ketchups are game ones they will play the "rubber" with the Indians.

DIAMOND NOTES.

Geier of the St. Paul team threw out two men at first base from right field in a game the other day. The most surprising feat of the season in that line was done by Elberfield in Vicksburg last spring on the training trip. Elberfield played centre field that day and threw out two batters at first base.

One reason why collegians do not play a better grade of baseball may be due to the howl against summer ball. As one prominent professional recently observed, the college men are afraid to take a ball in their hands in summer, and the only playing they do is in the spring at college.

Speaking of the proposed post-season series between the Browns and the Cardinals, Stanley Robison says he is willing to give the players half of the net receipts. He suggests that the two teams divide this 50 per cent., 60 per cent. to the winner and 40 per cent. to the loser.

Bill Hart, the old-time pitcher, tells of a game played by the Lincoln team against the Wichitas back in 1887. The Kansans won the first game 4 to 3, which so rankled in the breasts of the Nebraskans that they trimmed the Sunflower men the next day, 46 to 7, making 50 hits. "No man on our team had less than five hits," says Hart. "We made nineteen runs in one inning."

The members of the Lincoln team at the time were: Swartzel, Dolan, Hart and Atkinson, pitchers; Kid Baldwin and Charlie Hoover, catchers; Beckley, first base; Dave Rowe, second base; Joe Herr, short; Fred Lang, third base; Schaefer, Reeder and Hall, outfielders.

In the eastern league a hot campaign is being waged, the intention being to oust President Power. A Buffalo paper mentions David Fultz, the New York A. L. outfielder, as a possibility for the position. Pat Powers is likely to be president of the league as long as he wants the place.

Jack Kiernan can be located at Leominster. He has been engaged as exchange editor on a paper there, and if Jack doesn't get enough press notices in for himself during the winter to land him in the Eastern league, then he will undoubtedly cavort around the left garden here next season and gather them in.—(Fall River Globe.)

Ed Hahn, the new outfielder from the Southern League, continues his good work as the head of the batting list of the New York Americans and is close to .350 for a score of games. He gained considerably on Keeler last week as the little fellow did not play in every game and was slightly off form in those that he did take part in.

At the reception tendered Messrs. Gulheen and O'Hara last evening by the Glee-Glu Club, Mr. Gulheen was presented with a handsome gold watch fob. Michael Hughes made the presentation speech, and Tommy responded fittingly. Master Griffiths presided at the piano, and J. Baptista Laflamme used the cutlass. Tommy Gulheen was presented with a handsome diamond ring while in Holyoke. "Friends," Tommy says, did the trick, but there are suspicions.—(Fall River Herald.)

Ganley, one time of Brockton, who joined the Pittsburg forces two weeks ago, has averaged more than two hits to a game and he is making a strong fight for a regular position on the team.

A Harrisburg (Pa.) special says: "The directors to a man favor 'Billy' Hamilton, and his election will follow. His acceptance has been assured, but it will be with the understanding that a different system will be followed. Manager Hamilton is to have full charge of the team. Manager Hamilton will lose no time to get in touch with desirable material."

FAMOUS WHISTLER

MISS TRUAX VERY POPULAR HERE.

Miss Louise Truax, the protege of Miss Helen Gould, visited Lowell last night and entertained one of the largest audiences that has yet been attracted to the new building of the local Y. W. C. A. Miss Truax is the whistler who made such a favorable impression on the Lowell people the last time she entertained in this city.

Arthur C. Spalding was the accompanist and solos were sung by Miss M. L. Eveleth, contralto soloist at the Eliot church, and Miss Nowell, a soprano soloist. Miss Nowell also gave a piano solo. Miss Gertrude Edmunds of the Training school was the reader and the three pieces she gave met with much applause.

The hall was crowded and there were as many people on the stairs and in the hallway.

Miss Truax came to the Y. W. C. A. upon this occasion of her own accord, as she was so well pleased with the reception she had received upon her last visit.

Y. M. C. I. TABLE.

The members of the Y. M. C. I. table of the coming bazaar of the Immaculate Conception church, held a pleasant dancing party in Prescott hall last night, there being about one hundred couples in attendance. Music for dancing was furnished by the Colonial orchestra, and those who officered the affair were:

General manager, George A. Willott; assistant general manager, John H. McCaffrey; floor director, James J. Flanagan; assistant floor director, William O'Meara; chief aid, Thomas Finerty.

BOY'S CRIMES

STARTLING STORY TOLD IN PROVIDENCE COURT.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 22.—The arrest of Leroy Staples, Andrew Watt and Edwin A. Steere, all 15 years old, disclose a startling chapter of juvenile depravity. Within a fortnight the three boys maliciously drove off a horse and carriage, stole a lot of trading stamps, attempted highway robbery, set a barn on fire, stole a woman's wallet and discussed burning a lumber yard. With the money in the wallet Watt and Staples started for New York, but were arrested by the New London police. They weakened and confessed the other crimes, which led to the arrest of young Steere.

Staples was sent to the reform school during his minority.

BOXING GOSSIP

The sporting writer of the Boston Traveler gives the following definition of fame:

Every dog has—well, anyway, James Edward Britt, who but a few days ago was comfortably reclining in the lap of glory, is today longingly gazing out of the attic window wondering whither all the joyous nuts have flown. Where once the outer space was filled with extended hands eager to duke James Edward's trusty right, now the dark and dismal mist of oblivion hovers menacingly about. The gladsome shouts of an overwhelming army of admirers no longer echo forth sweet melody into the one time champion's ear, and only an occasional word of greeting from the bill collector or the ash-man stimulates Jimmy's waning courage.

But what new sounds are those coming from the direction of the prosperity factory? Why, that is only a riot caused by people trampling one another under foot in a vain attempt to get close enough to shake the hand of Battling Nelson, champion lightweight of the world. Nelson is the little man at present and is now occupying an enviable position on the crest of the wave of popularity.

Nelson has been an habitual short ender during his entire ring career. He always was about a 10 to 7 long shot. Even in this last fight, which he won so conclusively, his defeat was universally predicted by the sporting public. People always regulate their opinions according to the strong qualities of the best man in the business. When Britt acquired the light-weight throne, all men of the class were judged from the standpoint of science and brain work. This accounts for the fondness of most sports in flocking to Nelson's standard of ruggedness. But, now that the Dane has materialized to the satisfaction of every one, all light-weight proclivities will be judged from the standpoint of stamina and punching ability.

A few weeks ago a boxing exhibition given by Battling Nelson could not have taken in expens in a penny arcade. But now not Battling Nelson, but the Lightweight Champion of the World packs a large playhouse every night by simply going a few rounds with his sparring partner.

Before the fight he was fortunate to get a letter once in a while from some close friend, but now it would take about "3 secretaries to handle his correspondence. A few days ago Billy Nelson was generally adjudged a suspicious crank, but today the whole sporting world is at his feet and every one is congratulating him on his diplomacy.

NEW STYLE FALL SUITS

AN IMPORTANT ELEMENT

When it comes to buying clothing is style. Even though the fabric and pattern is to your liking, you would not buy a garment unless the style were correct.

STYLE

Is, perhaps, the most notable feature of our garments. No local custom tailor can afford to hire such high salaried designers as are kept in the constant employ of the makers of our clothing. The entire time of these artists is taken up in modelling each successive season, garments that dictate the style the country over. Only such expert men tailors as made our garments can work out the fine points of these designs with any degree of success. Ordinary clothing is put together—not tailored—by women of the sweat-shop, and consequently lacks every element of style and correctness.

FRANCE AROUSED

Venezuela's Act Has Stirred Up Bitter Feeling

PARIS, Sept. 22—The offensive attitude of Venezuela toward M. Taigny, the French charge d' affairs at Caracas, has aroused indignation in official quarters here. Although the ministry has not yet taken definite action, it is said in the highest quarters that Premier Rouvier undoubtedly will demand that Venezuela disavow the offensive action and adopt a course conformable with the usual courtesies of diplomatic intercourse.

The Venezuelan authorities are now seeking to show that their action was directed against M. Taigny personally and not against the French government, but the officials here do not express the distinction between M. Taigny personal and official capacity. He has high standing at the foreign office where he recently served and aided Ambassador Cambon at Washington during the most delicate phases of the Spanish war negotiations. Therefore there is no indication here to permit Venezuela to make a scapegoat of him.

The official directly charged with handling Venezuelan questions, explained the general status of the controversy as follows:

Venezuela supports the closing of the French Cable company's inland stations on the ground of the decision of the Venezuelan courts. France does not question the general right of the courts but maintains that the decision of the courts contained nothing authorizing the executive branch to seize and shut up the cable stations.

Moreover only a day before shutting up the inland stations Venezuela gave assurances that General Velutini the Venezuelan minister at Paris, would take steps to satisfactorily adjust the question. Therefore, M. Taigny protested on the ground that the court's decision did not justify closing stations. This protest was not M. Taigny's personally but followed specific instructions from the foreign office. Therefore, it is impossible to raise a personal issue. A separate verbal protest was made against the expulsion of Manager Brun, of the French Cable company on the ground that the right to expel foreigners does not apply to M. Brun, who was permanently domiciled in Caracas. It is to be expected that a demand will be made that Venezuela disavow the action taken. The subsequent course of France will depend upon Venezuela's reply.

Inquiry makes it practically certain that Venezuela has placed orders at the Creusot works for eight field batteries and four mountain batteries, the latter consisting of four guns each.

The Temps this evening printed a leading article reflecting official sentiment on the subject. It said M. Taigny has been ordered to insist on Venezuela's withdrawing her offensive refusal to deal with him. If the withdrawal is made and President Castro makes an apology, then the negotiations will continue. If Venezuela does not accede it will be unwise immediately to break off diplomatic relations by the withdrawal of M. Taigny as this would leave French interests unprotected. The best course would be for France and the United States to make a joint naval demonstration similar to that in which Great Britain, Germany and Italy took part. Continuing the paper said:

"Already to our knowledge the cabinets of Washington and Paris have examined certain questions. Mutual confidences will render easier an understanding for efficacious joint intervention. This intervention, in which firmness will not exclude moderation and prudence, appears today to be essential."

THAT $100,000

HAMILTON SAYS IT WAS NOT USED TO INFLUENCE LEGISLATION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—The Evening World, today received a cable dispatch from Andrew Hamilton of Albany, who is in France, to the effect that the $100,000 received by him from the New York Life Insurance company in March, 1901, was not used for influencing state legislation. Mr. Hamilton yesterday reached Biarritz, where he was met by a telegraphic inquiry from the World relative to the $100,000 check made out to him by the New York Life Insurance company in March, 1901, to which he replied by wire as follows:

"You can deny for me that the check for $100,000 to me from the New York Life Insurance company in March, 1901, was, as asserted in New York, for purposes of influencing state legislation, or that it was so used."

IN A FOG

GENERAL TANK STEAMER COLLIDED WITH ANOTHER BOAT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—The steamer Ocean, which arrived here from Rotterdam today reported that the German tank steamer Phoebus, which she passed yesterday, was reported to have been in collision with an unknown steamer. The vessel with which the Phoebus collided, was thought to be the steamer Cornwall, which arrived here yesterday and whose captain reported that he believed he had been in collision with an Atlantic liner in a fog near Montauk on Wednesday night. The Phoebus was bound from New York for Flushing, Holland.

WINTHROP YACHT CLUB AT WINTHROP. THE CROSS SHOWS WHERE THE SUIT CASE CONTAINING THE BODY WAS FOUND.

Trunk of Girl Found in a Dress Suit Case

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The police of Winthrop and Medical Examiner Francis A. Harris of this city were called upon last night to investigate the death of a woman whose dismembered body was found in a suit case in the water near the Winthrop Yacht club house. There were no marks by which the remains could be readily identified.

The property of the Winthrop Yacht club is situated on the long narrow peninsula which makes entrance into Boston harbor. The local city is three miles from the city.

At 5.20 o'clock last evening two Winthrop residents, Alfred D. Allen and Randolph Pollard, who are members of the yacht club, were standing on the float near the club house. While engaged in conversation they noticed a suit case covered with olive green leather, floating deep in the water.

Thinking that it might have been lost overboard from a yacht, they took it from the water. They were unable to find any identifying marks on it and the men opened the suit case. They were startled to find the nude trunk of a woman wrapped in a strip of white oil cloth. There were no marks of identification. The police were immediately notified and the suit case with its contents was removed to the police headquarters at Winthrop.

Medical Examiner Harris viewed the body and later it was turned over to an undertaker. The medical examiner is of the opinion that the body had been in the water not longer than 24 hours.

Two cuts were found on the trunk, one extending from the breastbone down the entire length of the body, and another from the right hand side above the hip bone and meeting the other cut. There were four stitches in the latter cut. The intestines had been removed, indicating that the woman had been operated upon for an internal trouble. The body had evidently been dismembered by a sharp knife. The cuts were clean and no bones were broken.

The police hold the opinion that some one acquainted with surgery did the work. The theory of those who saw the remains is that some person attempted an operation and, failing decided to cut up the body and dispose of it in order that the authorities would not learn of the woman's death. It is thought that the suit case was taken on board some steamer, possibly the Nahant boat or a yacht, and dropped into the harbor, the wind and tide carrying the object to Winthrop.

The police estimate that the age of the victim was about 24 years and that the weight would be in the vicinity of 120 poiinds. The body is that of rather a small woman and would not exceed, the police think, five feet four inches in height.

THE POLICE

HAVE NO CLEW TO IDENTITY OF WOMAN.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The police of Winthrop, Boston and the state are giving their combined efforts in an attempt to unravel the mystery, which surrounds the crime discovered yesterday by the finding of the dismembered trunk of a woman in a dress suit case floating in the water off the Winthrop Yacht club's pier. Officers were at work on the case for several hours during the night but learned nothing that might lead to clew.

The Boston police are searching the city in the hope of locating the missing woman, as they are of the opinion that the crime was committed here.

The police of Winthrop state that the victim was probably not of that town, as they know of no one missing.

Absolutely no promising clews were in the possession of the police, although many rumors and theories reached them from various sources. During the day a woman notified the state authorities that she had seen a dress suit case similar to the one in which the body was found. The police refused to give more details. Still another inquiry was started through the report of a resident of Winthrop that a woman, apparently laboring under unusual excitement had been seen last Saturday to throw a large bundle or article over the Winthrop bridge into the water. Having done this, the woman left the scene quickly.

A squad of police assisted by residents spent the morning hours in examining the Winthrop shore in connection with the possibility that the head and arms and legs of the woman might be washed to the beach.

Deputy chief Neal of the state police today was informed by a man whose name is not divulged that a man had been seen yesterday walking toward a bridge in Winthrop and carying a dress suit case which looked very much like the one found in the water. A good description of the man carrying the case was given the deputy chief, who is making a thorough investigation of this possible clue.

"I do not believe that the woman was murdered," said Deputy Chief Neal. "I am satisfied that she died in some Boston hospital, as a result of an operation and that the physician who performed the operation cut off the head and legs. If we were to find the man who performed the operation and disposed of the body we could not charge him with murder. We could charge him only with an offense which the maximum penalty is twenty years in state prison. Legally, the man I am convinced, is only guilty of having performed a criminal operation.

"It looks as if we would be able to make an arrest in a short time."

57 PLAYERS

READY FOR THE GOLF TOURNAMENT TODAY.

HAMILTON, Sept. 22—The third round of the four rounds of medal play in the open golf championship started this morning at the Myopia Hunt club, with fifty seven players left in the running after yesterday's strenuous work. Realizing that not only steady, but brilliant play would bring honors and perhaps cash the survivors of the four score of starters yesterday assembled at the first tee this morning prepared for 36 holes of as near perfect golf as they were capable of showing. It was generally conceded before the play started that a dozen of those on yesterday's list had the best chance for getting in "the money" and that scarcely half that number had a chance for the chief honor.

Each one of the leaders had his little company of followers, all prepared to trudge along behind their favorites over the hills and dales of the long Myopia course.

Yesterday the largest gallery followed Anderson and Brown and nearly all were somewhat disappointed in the showing by the National champion. Today therefore, a number of enthusiasts prepired to follow Alex Smith and Stewart Gardner, who were tied at the close of the play yesterday for first place. There were others however, who decided to watch the play of little Alec Campbell, generally known as "The Nipper," while Gilbert Nichols of Denver, Arthur Smith, the Western champion and Peter Robertson, of Buffalo, each had their little band of well wishers. That the champion would have to make a total for the four rounds of 310 was the general belief before the play started.

The players found the weather conditions almost as fine as yesterday. G. Cummings of Montreal and Jack MacKay of Roseville were the first pair to tee off at 8.30 and were followed by the others at five minute intervals. Most of the leaders early scores were good with the exception of Alec Smith, who was unable to make the first nine holes under 40, the eighth hole causing him considerable trouble.

The most brilliant work of the earlier play was that of Champion Willie Anderson who, despite his disappointing 161 of yesterday was still regarded as a favorite. The first four holes were reached in 14 shots, an average of 3½ for each.

A. G. Lockwood, the local amateur did some excellent work returning a 38 for the first nine holes. Mr. Walter J. Travis was also well up, getting a 37 for the first nine holes.

Tom McNamara of Boston, one of the seven low men of yesterday turned in a 39, while A. Ross of Oakley and P. F. Barrett of Boston each made a 38. As usual, the largest gallery was that which followed Willie Anderson.

Anderson continued his good work for the balance of the round, finishing with a 76 for the 18 holes, making his total for the 54 holes 257 to 236 for Alec Smith. At the end of the third round, the championship was still in doubt.

Alec Campbell of Brookline and P. F. Barrett, with totals of 238 were only one stroke behind Anderson, while A. G. Lockwood finished with 245 and Tom McNamara of Boston had 242.

AGENTS

SCHOONER PALMER DAMAGED.

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 22.—The life savers at the Cape Elizabeth station reported shortly before noon today that they had sighted the five-masted schooner Harwood Palmer for this port which was yesterday in collision with the Juanita. The Palmer was in tow of a tug. Her headgear was gone, but otherwise the vessel did not appear to be badly damaged.

$20,000 LOSS

SEVERAL FIREMEN INJURED AT BLAZE IN CHARLESTON.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 22—A loss of $20,000 and serious injuries to a number of firemen resulted from a fire today near the business center of the city. Four fire fighters on the roof of a three story building were carried down to the cellar with a mass of wreckage that went down with the wall of an adjacent building. All were rescued but were badly hurt.

BY POISON

CORONER'S JURY FINDS THAT RALSTON MET HIS DEATH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—In the case of Archibald Ralston, Jr., of Boston, who died under sensational circumstances last week, the coroner's jury yesterday rendered a verdict that death resulted from poison taken with suicidal intent. The jurors believe the poison to have been cyanide of potassium. The conduct of the proprietors of the restaurant wherein Ralston took the poison and chief hospital surgeon Stephens in trying to conceal facts in the case, was severely criticised.

HELD IN $8000

PLYMPTON WAS ARRAIGNED IN COURT TODAY.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Sept. 22.—Eben Plympton, a well-known actor, who was arrested yesterday on the charge of having assaulted and seriously injuring Geo. Martin, was arraigned before Judge Osborne in the district court here today on charge of assault with intent to murder. He pleaded not guilty and the court granted the government's request for a continuance for one week to await the outcome of Martin's injury. Plympton was held in $5,000 bonds, which he expected to be able to furnish during the day.

Martin is in a critical condition in a Boston hospital as the result of the alleged assault, which is said to have taken place on Thursday night of last week.

THE BOSTON MARKET.

BOSTON, Sept. 22—The tone of the early Boston stock market was somewhat uncertain, but turned strong at the close of the first half hour's trading. U. S. Mining was a strong feature advancing on large transactions to 38 up 1¼. Am. Woolen advanced to 37, up 1 on moderate transactions. The loaning rates reflected the same condition in the market as for a week past. U. S. Steel was easier in the loans owing to covering by shorts.

WILL NOT RESIGN

Japanese Ministers Hold Their Jobs

TOKIO, Sept. 22—The number of direct memorials to the throne from different associations and individuals condemning the peace treaty and asking that it be not ratified exceeds forty, among which is an address signed by six professors of the Imperial university, one of whom was recently placed on the retired list owing to his strongly worded anti-peace thesis.

In spite of persistent editorials in the leading newspapers demanding the resignation of the cabinet, it is believed that the ministers will continue to hold office until after the adoption of the post bellum measures, especially those regarding finance and the Chinese and Korean problems.

It transpires that in spite of Premier Katsura's assurance to the contrary to the editors there exists a clause in the peace treaty by which Japan undertakes not to fortify Soya Strait. As a result intense indignation is felt among the influential classes as this is deemed to be the greatest humiliation Japan has ever suffered. The restriction thus placed on her territorial liberty is looked upon as constituting the blackest record in the history of a country which has never experienced a defeat at the hands of other nations. Not a few papers tomorrow are expected to print strongly worded editorials on this subject.

The constitutionalists are gradually assuming a firm attitude of opposition to the government. The editors of ten daily papers met today and appointed a committee to make representations to the government on the subject of the unusually long suspension of the Asahi and four other papers, all evening newspapers. The committee had an interview with Gen. Saknuma, commander-in-chief of the Tokio garrison, who is in charge of the enforcement of martial and other authorities, and it is expected that the unfortunate newspapers will soon be allowed to resume publication.

SAIMAN SIRK

HAS BOUGHT MORE PROPERTY IN BOSTON.

A Boston exchange says:

J. P. Webber has conveyed to Saiman Sirk the property numbered 635 and 634A Tremont street, south end, a four-story brick structure and 1600 feet of land, near West Canton street, in Boston. It has a taxable valuation of $20,500, of which sum $5200 is on the land.

Saiman Sirk has also taken title to west end property that numbered 28 Samford street, also in Boston, having been deeded to him by J. P. Webber. It comprises a three and a half story and basement brick building and 1800 feet of land, situated near Cambridge street and of total taxable valuation of $11,200, $9,000 is on the land. The property numbered 14 Allen street, running through to McLean street, Boston, title to which recently passed to Morris Weinstein, has been conveyed by him to Nathan Sklover. It is taxed on a valuation of $9000. The location is near Chambers street.

SILVER QUARTZ

FOUND IN ROCK NEAR SING SING.

OSSINING, N. Y., Sept. 22—Silver quartz were found today near Sing Sing prison in rock which was blasted by electric railroad contractors. The quartz was obtained near the site of an abandoned silver mine, which was wrecked by the English before the Revolutionary war. At the beginning of the war, the miners, most of whom were English, were driven away and never returned to work the mine. In 1829 and again in 1857 attempts were made to pump out and to operate the old mine, but the quantity of silver obtained was too small to be profitable and these attempts were abandoned.

ARMY QUESTION

COALITIONISTS READY TO MEET VIEWS OF KING EMPEROR.

BUDAPEST, Sept. 22—The audience which the coalition leaders will have with the King Emperor tomorrow is regarded most hopefully and there is widespread expectation that the compromise proposals which will be submitted by Count Julius Andrassy, Francis Kosub, Baron Banffy and Count Zichy, will lead to a settlement enabling the formation of a ministry and the restoration of administrative order. The coalitionists appear prepared to demonstrate to the king emperor their strong desire to meet the views of the crown on the army question by confining their demands to a general proposition for the development of the Hungarian army in accordance with the national spirit without insisting on the use of Hungarian as the language of command.

A PROTEST

ENTERED BY AMERICAN SOCIETY OF PLATE ENGRAVERS.

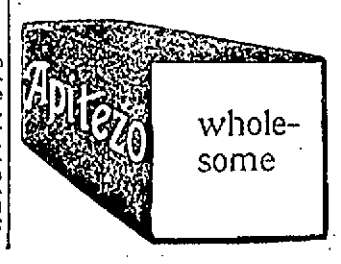

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor today considered a protest from the American Society of Plate Engravers against the employment of aliens in the United States Geological survey and decided that the matter should be brought to the attention of President Roosevelt by President Gompers.

The council received word that the Colorado State Federation of Labor had decided henceforth to affiliate with the national organization.

KELLY LOCATED

Missing Motorman Near Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Paul Kelly, motorman of the elevated train that was hurled over a curve at Fifty-third street and Ninth avenue—New York, on September 11, is under surveillance by local detectives at Edgemont, a town on the Chester Pike, 14 miles from this city. Kelly since the catastrophe has been a fugitive.

Late this afternoon, William C. Williams, of the firm of Williams & Corcoran, undertakers, of No. 126 West Market street, West Chester, was on his way from this city to his home on a trolley on the Southwestern Traction company. His attention was attracted while on the car to a man attired in the uniform of a motorman, not one such as the motormen of Philadelphia wear, but one that showed distinctly that he was from another city. The stranger, who was conversing with the motorman, told the latter, in confidence, that he was Kelly, the man who operated the ill-fated "L" train in New York City.

Knowing that Kelly was wanted in New York, Williams moved to a front seat in the car where he could hear better what the stranger had to say.

"It wasn't my fault," Williams said he heard Kelly say. "It was the switch tender's. People ought not to have tried to beat me after the accident. I wasn't to blame, that much I can easily prove."

From the appearance of the man, Williams declared it was plain he is laboring under some strong mental worriment. His face is sunken and hollow and to all appearances it looks as though Kelly's mind is becoming rapidly unbalanced under the strain.

Kelly remained on the car until he reached Edgemont ,where he alighted and entered a store.

Williams returned at once to this city and went to the office of the American Detective Agency, at No. 1421 Filbert street, where he told his story. Superintendent John S. Summerill at once took the matter under advisement and dispatched Detective Schmittinger to Edgemont. Later he received word from Schmittinger that Kelly had been located, that he (Kelly) had again admitted that he was the man who operated the "L" train, and that he could be found whenever wanted. Schmittinger remained at Edgemont to watch the movements of Kelly, while Superintendent Summerill notified Coroner Scholer of New York—Kelly will be put under arrest as soon as word is received from Coroner Scholer that this course is desired.

GAS KILLED TREES

Hearing Before the Park Commission

The park commission last night listened to the complaints of a number of indignant Middlesex Village residents and property owners who are losers through the "asphyxiation" of a number of shade trees in that section of the city, alleged to have been the result of illuminating gas escaping from a large main placed in upper Middlesex street by the Lowell Gas Light company about a year ago.

Testimony presented by the complainants was in effect that thirty trees along either side of Middlesex street through the village, including several stately elms, some fine maples, silver-leafed poplars and lindens, are barren and fading away and about a dozen more are in the dying stages and the escaping gas is the alleged cause of it all.

After the property holders had their say, Judge Pickman, chairman of the commission, stated that there was nothing the commission could do for the individual citizens, but he read an extract from a decision given in a test case similar in every respect to this one which was tried before a jury at Springfield, Mass., about a year ago.

In that case the City Forester brought suit in behalf of the city of Springfield against the gas light company on the ground that the company was guilty of criminal negligence in allowing gas to be sent through a defective main.

In consequence of this defect in the main, as in the case of Middlesex Village, several of the trees in the street were killed and the jury found a verdict against the company.

The damage for the loss of one tree was placed at $150 by the judge.

Many individual claims were put in after the verdict was returned, and all were settled at the same price per tree.

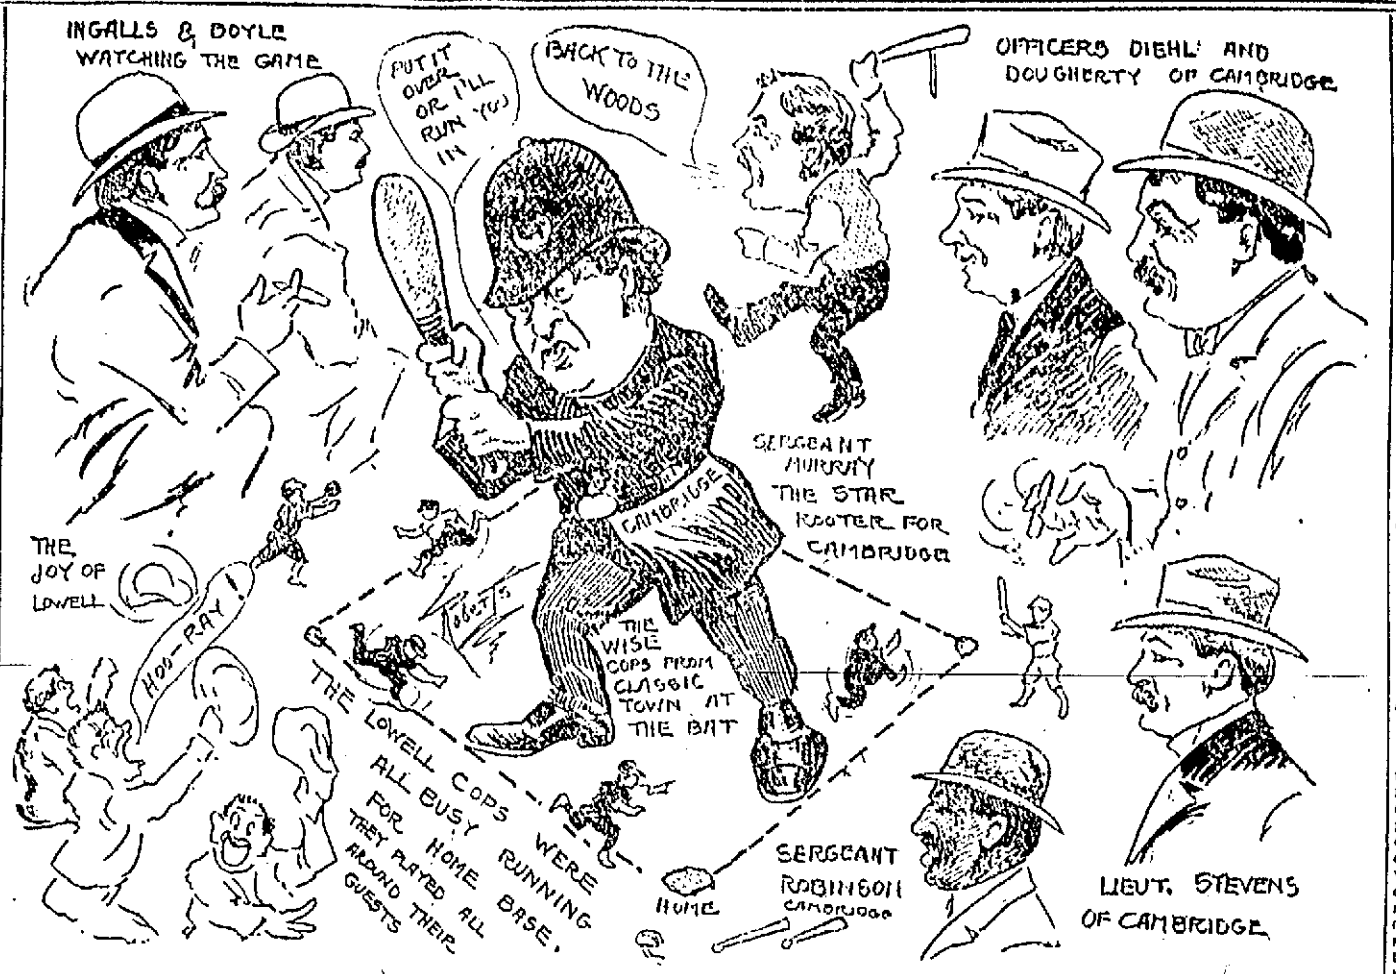

Judge Pickman simply read this decision as a suggestion and from the comment heard as the village people left the commission chamber, after the hearing, it is safe to predict that the gas company will have several civil suits on its hands in a short time.

The hearing was called to order shortly before eight o'clock by Judge Pickman, and O. M. Pratt, who lost three trees was the first speaker. Geo. L. Fowler was next and following him came Judge Samuel P. Hadley of the municipal court.

He said in part:

"The great elm on the corner in the village will be dead in a year. This was a truly magnificent tree. One should look down on the trees of the village from what is known as Baldwin hill. There the awful havoc is fully apparent. Mr. Welch complained to me about his cellar being filled with gas. There was no trouble at his home, it all came from the street. I look upon this as a positive calamity to our erstwhile beautiful village. I wouldn't have taken $100 for my big tree and there are some dead and dying, on the other side of the street that are or were worth more.

"When the main was being laid I went out to see the men laying it. I went and looked and the men at work did not act to me as if they knew their business. The joints were very poorly put together."

SKETCHES BY THE SUN ARTIST AT THE BALL GAME YESTERDAY BETWEEN LOWELL AND CAMBRIDGE POLICE.

SUES HUSBAND

WALTHAM WOMAN HAS ASKED FOR DIVORCE.

WALTHAM, Sept. 22.—A libel for divorce has been brought against Bernard W. Stanley, a prominent democratic politician, by his wife Agnes. The libel which was served by Rogers, North & Johnson of Boston, and is returnable at court the first Monday in October, came as a complete surprise to Mr. Stanley. The charge made is cruel and abusive treatment.

Mr. Stanley has engaged Attorney Patrick J. Duane to look after his interests, but what action will be taken has not yet been decided. It would not surprise Mr. Stanley's most intimate friends if counter proceedings for divorce were instituted. The couple have one daughter, Maud, 14 years of age, who attends the High school.

The Stanleys have lived on Whitney avenue, where they have rented rooms. It is stated on authority that this is the indirect cause of the present trouble; that the action of a male lodger had led to a growing coolness between husband and wife.

Mrs. Stanley spent the summer with relatives in Maine, her husband frequently sending her sums of money. Only two days prior to the serving of the libel on Mr. Stanley he sent his wife some money. It now transpires that when this sum was sent, Mrs. Stanley must have been in Waltham and preparing to bring the libel.

Mr. Stanley has not seen his wife since her return from down east. She is thought to be staying with a sister on the south side, and to have visited her home during the absence of her husband. The daughter is with the mother.

Mr. Stanley has always played a prominent part in politics, and was recently elected one of the democratic delegates from ward 5 to attend the senatorial and councillor conventions.

He is engaged in arranging to sell his household effects.

MORE TROOPS

WILL BE SENT TO FINLAND SOON.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 22.—A large increase in the number of Russian troops in Finland is expected shortly. About 4500, it is said, will be sent to Helsingfors, 900 to Viborg, and 900 to Vasa. The troops will be quartered in private houses.

An explosion near the residence of the Governor of Vasa yesterday evening created excitement but no damage is reported.

THE BUDGET

SHOWS A DEFICIT OF MORE THAN $4,400,000.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 22.—The finance minister, Dr. J. J. I. Harte Van Teckienburg, presented to the second Chamber of states general today, the budget for 1906 showing an estimated deficit of upwards of $4,400,000. The minister said he had not completed the details of his plan to restore the financial equilibrium but in order to temporarily relieve the budget, he proposed to place an additional ten cents tax both on capital and income.

BODY FOUND

WOMAN WAS DROWNED IN NARRAGANSETT BAY.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 22.—The body of Miss Augusta Ahlborn, one of the victims of a drowning accident, off Beaver Tail in Narragansett Bay last Sunday, was recovered today near the scene of the fatality. Miss Ahlborn was one of a party of four men and three women sailing in the bay when the boat was capsized. All were rescued but Miss Ahlborn and Mrs. Clans Ecks of Boston, whose body has not yet been recovered. A brother of Miss Ahlborn has been notified and he is expected here soon to take charge of the body.

A TOAST

PROPOSED TO MISS ROOSEVELT BY EMPEROR'S CONSORT.

SEOUL, Sept. 22.—Miss Alice Roosevelt and the women of her party attended a women's luncheon at the palace yesterday. Om, the Emperor's consort, who was hostess, proposed a toast to Miss Roosevelt. The luncheon was the first time in the history of the country that the women of the palace had entertained foreigners. Mrs. Bunkers and Mrs. Underwood, missionaries, acted as interpreters.

American Minister Morgan and British Minister Jordan gave a reception yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Roosevelt, to whom were presented the members of the Korean cabinet, the diplomatic corps, General Hasegawa, commander of the Japanese troops in Koren, and his staff, leading Korean officers and prominent foreign residents.

BILL IN EQUITY

BROUGHT BY THE INTERNATIONAL PAPER COMPANY.

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 22.—The International Paper company has brought a bill in equity in the United States Circuit court here against the Rodwell Water Power company of Oldtown, asking the court to restrain the latter company from erecting and maintaining dams on the Penobscot river and the Still Water branch. The paper company claims that the proposed dams would interfere with and lessen the flow of water in the river, thereby reducing the volume of water necessary for the operation of its paper mills. Concealed in the case are said to be many points of law which promise to make it an important and highly interesting legal battle, perhaps as much so as the famous Penobscot river case, which was in litigation for 18 years.

Judge Putnam has arranged for a preliminary hearing on the case tomorrow.

FIVE WON

WISE PICKING AT GRAVESCEND YESTERDAY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Merry Lark, second choice, easily captured the Hindoo stakes at Gravesend yesterday. Only three horses went to the post, with Cairngorm a 3-to-5 favorite, with 7 to 5 against Merry Lark and 100 to 1 laid against Chrysolite.

Despite the fact that his mount was carrying top weight, 126 pounds, Davis sent Cairngorm out to make the pace, with Chrysolite second and Merry Lark third. This order was maintained about one mile. Then O'Neill sent Merry Lark into second place, about 1½ lengths behind Cairngorm.

In the stretch O'Neill let Merry Lark down and soon was in front, and came away an easy winner by two lengths. Cairngorm was 20 lengths before Chrysolite.

The favorites had a remarkable run today, five public choices finishing in front, while one second choice won. The track was still heavy.

WILL DISBAND

FIFTH ROYAL GARRISON REGIMENT WILL BE BROKEN UP.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 22.—Orders were received today from the English war office for the breaking up on October 1, of the Fifth Royal Garrison regiment which has been in this station for about two years. As many of the men as desire will be enlisted in the Canadian service while others who still have time to serve and who do not care to enlist in the Canadian service will be sent to other garrisons in South Africa. Sir Charles Pearson, commander of this station will remain here until the end of the year.

NEW COURSE

TO BE ESTABLISHED IN RAILWAY EDUCATION.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Co-operation between the University of Chicago and several railroad officials has resulted in the establishment of a four year course in railway education.

An advisory board composed mostly of railroad men, has been established with E. W. McKenna, assistant to President Earling of the Milwaukee and St. Paul, as chairman and Daniel Willard, second vice-president of the Burlington, as vice-chairman. These men, representing all phases of railroading, will shape the courses which are to be given and will themselves as occasion requires deliver lectures.

The first year's course, from October to June, will be devoted to railway conditions in the United States. The second year will be devoted to freight service, railway transportation, railway law and rate regulation. During the third year the following branches will be covered: Passenger service, statistics and geography of railways, signalling and train service, railway auditing and finance and terminals. During the fourth year the following subjects will be studied: Motive power, car equipment, track, railway development abroad and the economics of railway locomotion.

UNDER CONTROL

OFFICIALS HAVE YELLOW FEVER SITUATION IN HAND.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—Believing after a conference with Dr. White that the yellow fever situation is under control, President Wilson will recommend to the school board tonight that the public schools be opened on Oct. 2.

The state board of health officials believe that the fever is being overcome in the state and that while there will probably be cases for some time to come, there is no danger of a further serious extension of the plague.

The quarantine situation is improving. There is also an improvement in steamboat traffic.

NOT GUILTY

URIBURI ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Julio Uriburi, of Buenos Ayres, was acquitted of the charge of embezzlement last night. Uruburi was formerly the friend and financial secretary of Signora A. Louisa Tetrazini, the singer, and a few months ago the prima dona caused his arrest, alleging that he had failed to send to Europe about 300 francs she had given him to forward to Italy.

CAPT. BOISMANN

A PRISONER OF LATE WAR IS DEAD.

TOKIO, Sept. 22, 8.30 a. m.—Captain W. Boismann, a prisoner of war, and former commander of the Russian battleship Peresviet has died at Matsuyama. Rear Admiral Nebogatoff and several other Russian naval officers have been permitted to give their parole and return home.

Rear Admiral Rojestvensky has almost recovered from his wound but he is still under strict medical care in Fushima. The Minister of War has instructed the removal of certain restrictions placed upon the Russian officers, who are held as prisoners of war.

YELLOW FEVER

CAUSED DEATH OF SPANISH WAR VET.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 22.—Edward B. Carson, a veteran of the Spanish war and of the Philippine insurrection, died of yellow fever in New Orleans, Sept. 11, according to a letter received yesterday morning from his father-in-law, William J. Browley.

When employed at the Charlestown navy yard four weeks ago Carson learned of a better opening at Dallas, Tex., and went there. Upon his arrival he was informed of a still better chance at New Orleans if he cared to risk the fever, of which he said he had no fear.

Carson enlisted at West Point in January, 1898, and when only 16 he served as a bugler in a light battery before Santiago.

In 1900, with a party of 75, he was hemmed in by Filipinos in Southern Luzon. Twenty-three were drowned trying to escape by swimming a river.

Carson swam it, and pressing forward to the coast found Rear Admiral Kempff's flagship. He signalled for aid and led a relief party to the rescue of his companions. He received a medal for bravery and was promoted to be electrician. Sergeant Carson was 23.

MAYOR COLLINS

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The will of the late Mayor Patrick A. Collins, which was filed for probate in the Suffolk county court today, contains no public bequests. The estate, the value of which it not given, is bequeathed to his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Collins, and his three children, Mrs. Agnes R. Stevens, Mary R. Collins and Paul Collins. The will was made on Aug. 7, 1903.

WATT'S DEFENSE

Will Claim There Was a Conspiracy

LONDON, Sept 22.—There was a further hearing today on the charge against Hugh Watt, a former member of parliament, of attempting to hire Marshall, a private detective, to assist him in murdering his former wife. It developed beyond an intimation that the defense would allege that the charge was the result of a conspiracy on the part of Marshall and other witnesses. A cattle dealer alleged that that he overheard a conversation between Marshall and other men during which Watt was threatened. The evidence of the cattle man was taken at this stage, so as to allow him to proceed to Canada.

The prosecution called a barkeeper nicknamed "Nosy" who testified that Watt gave him money to buy chloroform with which to kill Mrs. Watt.

ONE ACCIDENT

OCCURRED AMONG THE AUTOMOBILE RACERS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The first serious accident among the automobile racers who are preparing for the Vanderbilt Cup races on Long Island, took place today when Walter C. White, one of the entrants, together with his chauffeur was seriously injured. They were driving Mr. White's racing machine over the course and attempted to make a sharp turn at Lakeville without reducing speed. The machine swerved and struck a telegraph pole, throwing the occupants out. Doctors were summoned and the two men were taken back to their headquarters.

KILLED HIMSELF

CORAL BORROWED KNIFE FROM A FELLOW PRISONER.

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Sept. 22.—Andry Coral, a Russian prisoner at the county jail, awaiting trial on a charge of assault with intent to kill, committed suicide today by stabbing himself with a knife borrowed from a fellow prisoner.

Interesting News From Mill Centers

COLLETON, C. S., Sept. 22.—For the sum of $53,050 the Colleton cotton mills were sold at Walterboro by Redding & Pinckney to John F. Lucas of this town. There were two other bidders for the property, Mr. Morris Israel of Charleston, S. C., and Mr. Cherry of Rock Hill. The order for the sale of the mills was filed in the office of the United States district court on July 28, and the court fixed the upset price at $45,000. Mr. P. R. Rivers and the Hibernia Savings bank were appointed trustees. John F. Lucas is president of the Colleton Banking Co. It is not yet known what disposition or use will be made of the property.

DENISON MILL EQUIPMENT.

DENISON, Tex., Sept. 22.—A portion of the new machinery for the Denison cotton mill, all of which will cost more than $100,000, has arrived and the remainder will be here in a short time, having been shipped from the east already. The main building in which the mill is located is being cleaned, overhauled and repaired, as well as all the large storage sheds surrounding it. The mill begins operation about Oct. 15.

WAXAHACHIE MILL DIVIDEND.

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., Sept. 22.—The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Waxahachie cotton mills was held and the old board of directors and officers was reelected. A dividend of 10 per cent., payable Jan. 1, 1906, was declared, and the remainder of the undivided profits was added to the surplus or reserve account. The directors were instructed to increase the capacity of the plant as, in their judgment may be deemed necessary.

NOT GIRARD

SUSPECT ALLOWED TO GO BY THE POLICE.

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 22.—A man arrested here by a local officer late last night on suspicion that he was Jos. Girard, wanted by New York police in connection with the murder of Augusta Pfeiffer, was released today after Detective Sergeant Wines, of New York had talked with him. The man who was apparently a tramp was arrested in the outskirts of the city and as he answered fairly well the description of Girard, he was taken to police headquarters and the New York authorities notified. Sergeant Wines decided that he was not the man wanted.

FOR THE GOOD OF LOWELL

DRIVE THE GRAFTERS TO THE REAR

The art of grafting has not attained the alarming stage in Lowell that is reported from some other cities; but yet it is a growing evil that must be grappled with and effectually eradicated. When there is willful waste and needless extravagance in any department it is due to grafting; when the city does not get a dollar's worth in labor or material for every dollar expended, then grafting may be assigned as the unmistakable cause. When any citizen comes to realize that the city is being cheated, he has a right to complain and to call a halt to official grafting. The citizens look to the mayor and city council to keep the grafters at bay; but when it comes to be a recognized fact that most members of the city council will vote for a measure detrimental to the city's interests if paid for so doing, what is the remedy? What, but to send men of a different stripe to the city council. It would be well also to send a few grafters to jail just as a warning to others, but the proof is sometimes hard to procure and very few want to have a hand in bringing the offenders to justice. Clear the city council of grafters and that body can then be relied upon to banish grafting from the various municipal departments.

If the grafters get a hold on the city departments, it will take ten years to drive them out. Therefore, make up your minds now to drive the grafters to the rear.

The country will congratulate Paul Morton if he can make the receivers of illegal loans from the Equitable disgorge.

The Japan authorities make a mistake in suspending newspapers. Even Russia has learned that such a thing is worse than useless.

Three Japanese postmasters have gotten away with $165,000 in funds that were provided to pay other officials. It is remarkable how closely the Japs are copying our American methods.

President Roosevelt shows perhaps too much courage in deciding to visit New Orleans during the epidemic of yellow fever. It is more hazardous than going down in a submarine boat.

New Zealand is to have the next world's fair, and of course we must all see it. New Zealand will have some things to show that were not exhibited either at Chicago or St. Louis.

As a proof of his gratitude for the good offices of President Roosevelt in the peace negotiations the Czar has removed certain discriminating duties laid upon American products. That is a one-sided sort of reciprocity.

Judging from recent reports there is civil war or revolution in Colombia. When General Reyes declares a dictatorship and when the supreme court is thrown into prison matters have certainly reached an extreme stage.

THE LATE JOHN C. LINEHAN.

The state of New Hampshire mourns the loss of a highly esteemed official, a man who has long been in public life, who fought in the Civil war and who in every position to which he was called, showed those qualities of manhood, ability and integrity that command confidence, while a sort of personal magnetism combined with brilliant talents made him beloved of all who knew him—we refer to the late Colonel John C. Linehan, insurance commissioner of his state. Speaking of him the Manchester Mirror says:

"No suspicion of corruption or crookedness of any kind has ever touched his administration. No favoritism has ever shaped his policy or dictated his official acts. For whatever he believed was for the good of the honest companies and the policy holders of the state, for what his judgment and his conscience approved, he has stood fearlessly and unflinchingly; and with the universal grief over the loss of the man and the friend goes the feeling that his place as a public servant can hardly be filled."

LOCAL REPUBLICANS RESPONSIBLE.

It may be well to remind the republican party in this city that it and its leaders are wholly responsible for maintaining the worst defects in our city charter. For many years it was the custom with local republicans to appeal to the legislature to help them out in one way or another in local contests. The republicans were ousted from city hall at a time when a very valuable amendment in the charter took effect.

The amendment referred to gave the mayor the power of appointing the heads of departments but because a democratic mayor was in office the republicans went to the legislature and had the measure repealed. This explains why we have had extravagance ever since, why the heads of departments defy the mayor and why it is difficult to trace responsibility for wrong doing.

It is time that the republicans should forego for the instant, the consideration of party ascendency and cooperate with the democrats—no matter which party rules at city hall—in securing this and other necessary changes in the city charter. If they continue to hold out against charter revision of the right kind then let them bear the blame for all the evil results that come to the city in extravagance, in grafting, in political jobbery that keeps up the tax rate and places new burdens upon property owners. Will the republicans please take notice?

SEEN AND HEARD

The people who last year claimed that the roller skating craze would die out in a short time are now beginning to take back water, for if anything the people are more enthusiastic over the pastime this year than ever before and the different sessions at the several rinks in this city are well patronized during the day and night.

Yesterday's fine weather was welcomed by everybody, for we all had enough of rainy weather. The clerks in the down town stores felt very jubilant over the fact that the sun made its reappearance and many of them enjoyed car rides into the country and different pleasure resorts.

It is now almost time for the brush fires to start in. The local fire department has its hands full during the spring and fall with brush fires. They are hard to fight and a fireman would rather tackle a fire in a building than a brush fire, for the smoke from the brush is generally very dense and has to be fought with the aid of extinguishers and shovels.

The railroad company is beginning to store the small open electric cars used as extras and for the Lakeview line during the summer time. Some of these cars are stored at the Lakeview avenue barn while the others are sent to the car barn at the head of First street.

The football season will soon be ushered in.

Michael F. Larkin, who has held the undisputed titles of "champion long and short distance swimmer," "champion high diver," "champion ice man," and a thousand and one other titles, all of which were "of the Merrimack valley," will soon have to defend his titles for William Leahey of Lawrence, through his manager Jim Reagan, has posted a deft which Larkin will either have to accept or pack his titles into an express wagon and ship them to Lawrence. Leahey is ready and willing to swim Larkin at any distance in salt, fresh, hot or cold water, at any time or place, just for the mere honor and the title which Larkin claims to hold. As an event of this kind would attract thousands of people no doubt the two men might arrange to ask a small price from those who wished to witness the race. In case tickets should be sold Leahey wants to pick out the ticket taker, he claiming that there is a man in Lawrence who is the champion ticket taker of the world. On the other hand Mr. Larkin may introduce his friend Eddie Farrell, who takes tickets with his hands tied behind his back.

A man walked into a down town restaurant the other day and asked the waitress for a piece of Washington pie and a cup of coffee. In the course of a few minutes the waitress brought in a fine piece of pie with a nice cream top on it, and the coffee. When the pie was deposited on the table the man said: "I don't want that, I want a Washington pie. That's a George W. I want a Booker Washington pie." The waitress said she never heard tell of a Booker Washington pie "Why," the man said, "a Booker Washington pie has a chocolate top."

The vicinity of the ruins of Huntington hall is fast becoming a haven for the members of the Sons of Rest. Hundreds of these people arrive at the place early in morning and stay there until the men who are tearing down the walls, quit their work at night. They like to see other people work but have a horror of work themselves.

ARRESTED

MAN WANTED IN BOSTON WAS CAUGHT IN HALIFAX.

BOSTON, Sept. 22—Word was received here last night at police headquarters of the arrest in Halifax, N. S., of Frank Gallagher, who the police allege, robbed a number of lodging houses of this city of over $1000 worth of jewelry and clothing the past few months.

MAN KILLED

HE WAS DRAGGED 100 FEET BY A TRAIN.

BOSTON, Sept. 22—R. Ashton Lawrence, aged 37 years, a wealthy resident of the Chestnut Hill district, Brookline, was killed last night at the Chestnut Hill station of the Boston and Albany railroad. Mr. Lawrence who was coming to Boston to meet his wife, attempted to board the train as it was leaving the depot. He jumped onto the rear platform but lost his balance and fell to the rails. His feet, however, caught on the step and he was dragged over 100 feet before the train was brought to a stop.

ACTOR PLYMPTON

Charged With Intent to Kill

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 2.—Eben Plympton, the well known actor, was brought here yesterday from his summer home at Plympton, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill, upon Captain George Martin of New York, whom Mr. Plympton has described as his guest this season. In the neighborhood, however, Martin was thought to be the man-of-all-work around the place.

The condition of Captain Martin, who, according to report, is suffering from a fractured skull, is said to be very critical. He is at the Massachusetts general hospital, Boston. It is reported that he is still on the dangerous list, although the date of the alleged assault is said to be Wednesday of last week, Sept. 13.

What occurred on that date is not definitely known, as the stories differ. It is said, however, that the actor and his guest had been drinking a good deal on the day of the trouble, and that while at the Plympton railroad station they got into a heated discussion. It seems that from the station the two men went to Plympton's summer home on the shores of Silver lake. Later in the day two boys found the actor lying on the grass in his yard intoxicated, and his face covered with blood, evidently from scratches and bruises he had received in a fight. The boys helped him into the house.

People who have seen Plympton since say he said he got the worst drubbing himself that day that he ever received.

It is alleged, however, that Captain Martin was found in the house unconscious and it has since been declared that his skull was fractured.

MONEY GONE

DOCTOR THINKS THAT YOUNG JAP TOOK IT.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Dr. Fred W. Howard of 262 Congress street, Portland, a retired physician, who says he is now a mining promoter, told the police of division 4 last evening that he had been robbed of nearly $600 in the Winter place hotel. He claimed that a Jap, who is now in the marine corps and stationed in Charlestown, and whom he met by chance in Washington street, knew something about the affair. The man was brought to the station, where he was searched, but none of the money was found.

Dr. Howard told the police that he was walking down Washington street when he was struck by the appearance of the Jap, who seemed to be hungry. He was taken in tow and the pair went to a hotel just off Washington street, where they had dinner and something to drink. They then adjourned to the Winter place hotel. Dr. Howard said he had in a wallet in his inside pocket six $100 bills, which he received from a bank in Los Angeles just before he left the west to come to this city.

By some method, which the doctor is unable to explain, he says these bills were removed from his wallet, and in their stead were placed six $1 bills. He was sure that he had the bills of larger denomination when he met the Jap and that he had them when he went to Winter place.

PRIZE DANCE.

A prize dance was held last night at Canobie Lake park dance hall, under the auspices of the Haverhill and Southern New Hampshire Mutual Benefit association, and there were about 600 people present.

The prize dance, which was the feature of the program, did not have as many entries as was expected, but it proved to be a good drawing card, and was well carried out. A Mr. Freeman and Miss Allard of Lawrence who danced together won the first prize of $10 in gold.

The judges of the dance were eMssrs. William Mahoney, D. W. Murray and Mr. Murphy of Boston. One couple was entered from Lowell. The others were from Lawrence and Haverhill. Second prize was taken by John Casey of Lawrence and Miss Mabel Blake of Biddeford, a young woman who is visiting friends in Lawrence.

FIVE MEN KILLED

Pay Train and Combination Collided

TRAINS CRASHED ON A CURVE

$50,000 Scattered About the Tracks

HARRISBURG, Penn., Sept. 22.—Five train hands were killed and eight others seriously injured in a collision between a pay train and a combination passenger and milk train on the Philadelphia, Harrisburg & Reading railroad at Roushs curve, at Mt. Holly Springs, yesterday afternoon. None of the passengers were injured.

The pay train, consisting of a locomotive and one coach, was going west to pay the men along the division. The combination train, composed of locomotive, combination coach and two passenger coaches, was coming east. The two trains ran together on the curve, which is a sharp one, and is flanked by a heavy clump of trees.

John Amole, engineer of the pay train, jumped from his engine and landed at the foot of a 25-foot embankment. Ephraim McCleary, engineer of the milk train, was found on his engine with the whistle cord in his hand, it having been pulled clear off the machine, and all the brakes on the train set.

The pay car contained about $50,000 in checks, which were scattered about the tracks. Officials of the company here say the accident was probably due to a misunderstanding of orders.

SEWING CIRCLE MET.

The Sewing circle of the Paige Street church held its first business meeting of the season last evening and after the meeting an old fashioned New England supper was served to the members and guests present.

A large number were present, the excellent supper and a social time being enjoyed by all. The committee in charge of the supper was Mrs. John Roberts, chairman; Mrs. Margaret Hardy, Mrs. W. E. Wiggin and Mrs. Walter Chase.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular weekly meeting of the lyceum board of the C. Y. M. I. was called at the rooms with President Callahan in the chair. Considerable routine business was transacted. The literary committee has made all arrangements for the smoke talk to be held next Thursday evening and has selected M. J. Murphy of Somerville to give a lecture on some important topic.

The society intends to run an entertainment on Thanksgiving night.

A membership contest started last night. Simon Reilly was chosen captain of one team and John Cryan was chosen captain of the other. The gymnasium committee expects to start a handball tournament in the near future.

The game room committee is preparing for a whist and pool tournament which will be started in a few weeks. The members are beginning to practice for the different games. Some warm contests will take place when the old rivals face each other.

There will be a meeting of the bowling league at the rooms tonight.

The Women's Relief Corps 33 held its regular meeting, Thursday night, one member being reinstated. The sewing circle met in the afternoon, with a large attendance. The corps will give a baked bean supper Saturday, Sept. 30, from 5 to 7 o'clock. The next sewing circle will meet, October 5, at 2 o'clock. Voted to hold inspection the first meeting in November.

The first meeting of the Catholic Knights of America was held last night in Bay State hall in Central street, Charles Finn, state president of the order was present and stated the advantages of the knighthood. He said that there were 11 branches doing splendid work in Massachusetts. The total membership is said to be something like 25,000 in the United States.

There was an attendance of 36, and although no application blanks were signed, the sentiment was strongly in favor of establishing a Lowell branch. John P. Farley presided.

McAdoo Tells What He Should Be

DON'T GET FAT AND LAZY

Cut Out the Curbstone Conversations

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—Police Commissioner McAdoo appointed seventy-four patrolmen yesterday from the civil service eligible list. They were a husky lot. They all gathered in the trial room at noon, where they were addressed by the commissioner.

"Where is that soldier man?" asked the commissioner.

A strapping big fellow stepped from the rear rank. He told Mr. McAdoo, in reply to questions, that he had served two years in the Fifteenth United States Battery in the Philippines, and had lately been a recruiting officer in this city.

"You are a fine fellow," said the commissioner, after he had looked over the man's discharge paper. "You can ride a horse. I will give you a mount and put you in the traffic squad."

There were a dozen of the new men who were over six feet tall. Mr. McAdoo called them all before him and complimented them on their appearance. He was particularly pleased with a clean cut German who said that he was James Meade, lately the carriage man at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. He is 28 years old, is 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 202 pounds.

Then Mr. McAdoo called for the navy man. Whoever he was, he called on the commissioner a few days ago and asked if he was certain to be appointed. He didn't want to resign from the navy until he was sure of his new job. He didn't put in an appearance yesterday.

"I'm sorry he isn't here," said Mr. McAdoo. "He ought to go on the police boat."

Before the new men were sworn in by Col. Kipp, the chief clerk, Mr. McAdoo addressed them as follows:

I want you to keep your physical condition good. A policeman is liable to be called at any time for extraordinary duty; and if he allows himself to get fat and lazy and physically deteriorated he will not meet the demand when it is made upon him.

Be polite to citizens. You are the servants of the people of New York. When they ask questions answer them. If you do not know the reply to the question, say so politely.

Do not indulge in profanity. In most military services now that is looked upon as a great fault. There is no necessity for it. It is vulgar, aside from being profane, and it detracts very much from a police officer.

You are indebted to no living or dead man for this position. You are under no obligation to me. I took you as I found you on the list, unless there was obvious cause why I shouldn't. No influence got you this place, so far as the police department is concerned. You start, therefore, with a clean sheet. No possible influence should get between you and your duty to the people of New York.

Don't talk on the corners to citizens. Patrol, because the safety of life and limb and property depends upon whether or not you are faithful on patrol. You will get a great big post, maybe a mile, up on the West Side. You leave the station house at night to go on your post, and you are the whole police department of New York in that place.

Keep your eyes open. Watch the people on the streets. Get acquainted with the habits of people. Look for suspicious characters. Take mental note of everything you see.

After you are assigned to a station house, outside the actual patrol duty, you will be on reserve with other policemen. I believe, and I assert it again, that the majority of the police of New York are an honest, law-abiding and able body of men; but among them there are some men who are not good men, either in their morals or in their efficiency as policemen. If you get a suspicion of any man in the station house, if you don't believe he is a good, honest, square man, keep away from him. If there is a crooked policeman, I might say on the force, in the precinct where you young men go, he is like a sheep with a scab.

He will begin to tell you how to beat the police department, how to shirk an honest patrol; maybe whisper to you that everybody is crooked, anyhow, and you had better get your share. He will teach you tricks that you ought not to know. Put him right down at once or you will go with him.

Although I know you won't do it, I am going to ask you if ever you get evidence of a crooked policeman, to come right to the commissioner with it. I know policemen will say, "Well, I am no informer; I won't tell the police commissioner anything about it; I will get a bad name with the rest of the force." But if you know anything of a crooked policeman, put your hand right on him and say, "This man is crooked and I know it."

I am going to tell you a story. There was a marine on board on a battleship who was constantly getting in trouble, breaking the rules. He went to an old sailor man, and he said, "I will give you all my tobacco if you will tell me how to keep out of getting in trouble."

The old sailor man—they generally despise a marine, who are the policemen, by the way of the ship—took the tobacco, and he found it was all right, and he said, "Whenever you are feeling comfortable, you are breaking a rule."

RED HATS

BAGGAGE EXAMINERS MUST NOT WEAR THEM.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—The baggage examiners attached to the office of the appraiser of the port of New York have protested against wearing red hats, and Assistant Secretary Reynolds of the treasury has revoked the order requiring them to do so. The order was issued several months ago, to become effective on May 1.

The baggage inspectors at the docks when examining trunks and finding that they contain what appears to be dutiable merchandise above the value of the $100 allowed by law, are in the habit of calling an examiner for the purpose of having the value of the articles appraised. There are comparatively few appraisers, and as haste is necessary the inspectors have sometimes caused delay and annoyance to passengers by their inability to find an appraiser instantly. It was decided to have the appraisers wear red hats in order that they might be conspicuous around the docks, thus relieving the inspectors from the necessity of hunting for them.

Although the order was to go into effect on May 1, it was suspended for the time being on account of the approach of hot weather, and the officers were allowed to wear straw hats. On September 1, however, the straw hats were ordered out of commission and the red headgear ordered in. The appraisers wore the new hats two days and then a strong protest was lodged with Appraiser Whitehead. They told him that red was the badge of anarchy and that a free American citizen should not be required to wear it. They also reminded him that the porters at the Grand Central and Baltimore and Ohio stations wore red caps, and that they did not care to be classed as porters or servants.

Appraiser Whitehead forwarded the protest to Washington, and after considering the matter with Secretary Shaw the order was amended Wednesday by Assistant Secretary Reynolds. Instead of the red hats the assistant appraisers will be required to wear gray fedoras, which, although not as conspicuous as red, are deemed sufficient for purposes of quick identification on the crowded wharves.

COMMITTEE REPORTS READ.

BOSTON, Sept. 22. Committee reports took up the greater portion of yesterday's session of the convention of the National association of Retail Druggists. President J. L. Lemberger of the American Pharmaceutical association, told of the work done on the William Proctor, Jr. memorial fund and asked for the moral and financial support of the druggists in this project. The question was referred to the committee on finance. A pilgrimage to historic Plymouth is planned for tomorrow.

GRAND SACRED CONCERT

The second of a series of grand sacred concerts for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Patrick's parish will be given Sunday afternoon and evening at the Academy of Music. The concerts will consist of the latest moving pictures and illustrated songs.

Among the moving pictures to be shown will be "The Bee Hive," "Hooligan's Lunch," "Moonlight Dream," "Grand in Atrocities" and a big collection of humorous pictures never before shown in this city. Daniel J. Sullivan will be heard in three of the latest selections, being accompanied by the moving pictures.

The bill, on the whole, is a fine one and one which will be sure to please the most exacting audience. The prices for the afternoon will be 10 and 20 cents, while the evening prices will be 10, 20 and 30 cents. Seats are now on sale at the box office.

PRIEST DEAD

FR. DOWNEY WAS HEAD OF WORKING BOYS' HOME.

BEVERLY FARMS, Sept. 22—The parishioners of St. Margaret's church, Beverly Farms, and the Sacred Heart church at Manchester-by-the-Sea were shocked yesterday afternoon to learn of the death of Rev. Fr. John J. Downey, who died at the parochial residence on Haskell street at 3:15 yesterday afternoon at the age of 41, after a very short illness.

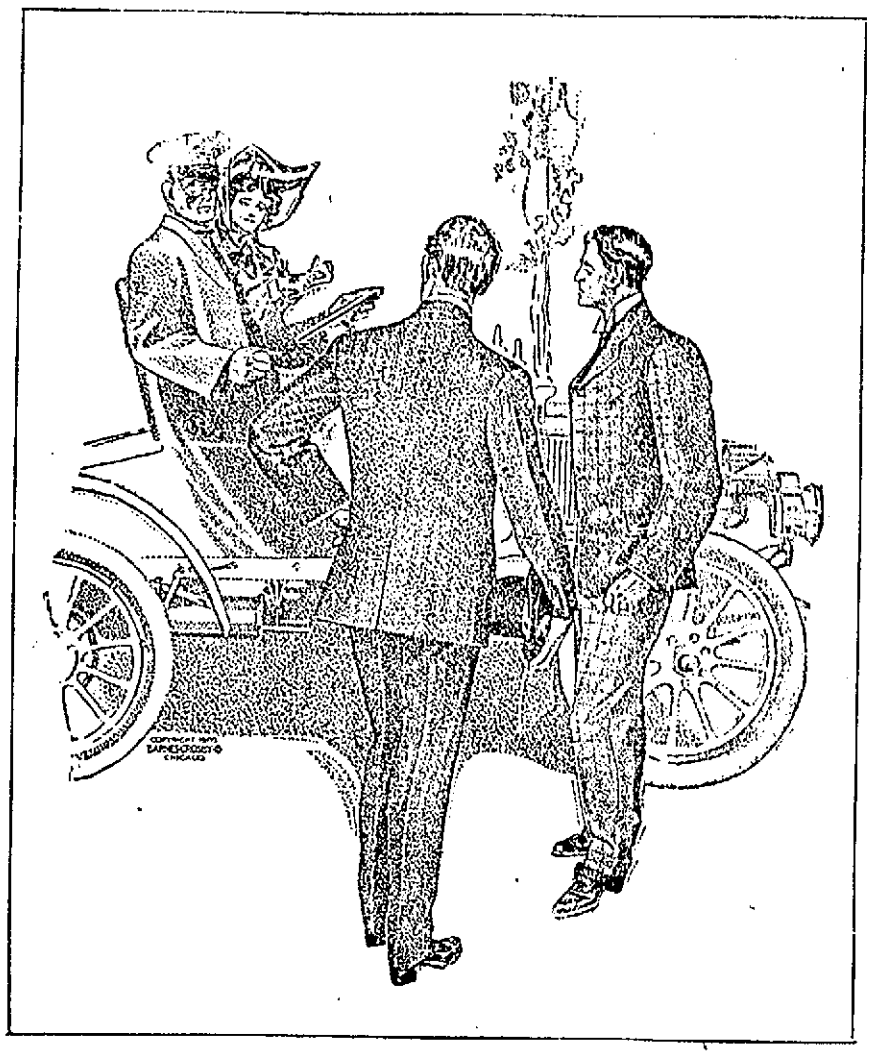

On Sunday morning he left the house at Beverly Farms to celebrate mass at St. Margaret's church, and while on his way to the carriage he was taken ill and was obliged to return to his room.

He thought little of his illness at the time, but later in the day his condition grew worse and his physician was sent for. The cause of his death was due to overwork and heart trouble.

FORGERY CHARGE.

Ready-Made That's in a Class Distinct and By Itself

The man who comes here for his Fall or Winter Suit is going to be pleasantly surprised by the smart style and excellent quality of the new suits; by the attractive patterns that are shown for the first time; by the superior and improved fit of the garments; by the broad variety from which he may choose; and above all, by the moderate prices for which he can buy thoroughly good clothing.

The clothes we sell from Rogers, Peet & Co. are recognized even by clothing manufacturers as the best ready-to-wear clothes that are made. They have reached the highest point yet attained in the production of clothes ready-to-put-on.

The suits from our own work-rooms, while they cost less than those from Rogers, Peet & Co., are thoroughly tailored, fashionably cut garments—in which the fabrics used are guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction.

If suits don't fit, we unmake them—and make them over to FIT. Even if they fit, we make such changes as you desire Suits are made to SUIT YOU.

The Fall suits are good and ready and you are invited to a practical exhibition of how to escape the tailor and save your time and money. Come in—look around at your leisure—try on all the suits you want—don't be afraid of being talked into buying.

Rogers-Peets Suits

Of the new hard-faced worsteds, new dark gray medium and wide wale worsteds, black cheviots, Thibets and unfinished worsteds, blue cheviots, serges and unfinished worsteds—and worsted cheviots. Suits in every respect as good as you could get from a first rate merchant tailor who would charge $50 to $60. We recommend these suits to the most critical men, perfectly confident that the fit and service will prove them to be as good as any suit made to measure. These Rogers-Peet's suits $15, $20 up to $32.

Men's Suits From Our Workrooms

Of hard-faced fancy worsteds, new gun metal grays in wide wale worsteds, black Thibets and unfinished worsteds — blue unfinished worsteds and new colorings in worsted cheviots. These suits are in double and single breast sacks, all of the new long model, and the coats have French hair fronts. The linings are carefully chosen for durability and the workmanship of the most pains-taking character. There is not a suit that is not unusual value—for $10, $12, $15.

Handsome Black Thibet Suits $10

A business suit that is always refined and dignified and still better than any other suit for informal wear. Cut on the new Fall patterns, longer coats with a deep vent in the back. These black Thibet suits all have hand padded collars and French hair cloth fronts and are made in single and double breast, sacks in regular, stout and long sizes. The cloth in these suits we bought many months ago, before the great advance in price. The suits are actually worth $13, they are remarkable suits for $10.

YOUNG MEN'S EXTREMELY STYLISH SUITS

More handsome suits in strictly young men's sizes than we have ever shown before. Even thus early in the season we have had a splendid business — simply because we have met the young man's idea in materials, patterns, style and price. The fashionable long sacks both double and single breast follow the outlines of the body closely and with the improved shoulders, broader lapels and deep centre vents, are better looking coats than ever.

The strongest point of our young men's suits is the fit. They are skillfully cut —and have all the individual merits of clothes from a first rate merchant tailor. If clothes do not fit—we make alterations to satisfy you. At least come in and see these smart clothes that are distinctly young men's.

YOUNG MEN'S

Smooth faced worsted suits, in very handsome Fall colorings. New shades of wide wale dark gray worsteds, wide wale heavy weight blue serges. Smooth faced worsteds are extremely desirable this season, and our collection of these fabrics is the largest we have ever shown. Double and single breasted sacks. All with fine hair cloth fronts, $10, $12 up to $25

YOUNG MEN'S

Black Thibet and unfinished worsted suits, and unfinished blue worsteds of the same smart cut as our fancy suits. These black and blue cloths were bought at much lower prices than they are worth today and the suits made especially for us. These are remarkable values, and the suits should bring at least $3 more than we ask for them. Double and single breast sacks $10 to $2

YOUNG MEN'S

Cheviot and worsted cheviot suits, in stunning new colorings and strikingly attractive patterns. Dark gray, blue and dark green grounds with overplaids of harmonious or contrasting colors, and in clever Scotch mixtures. There is a wider range of color effects in cheviots than it is possible to produce in worsteds, and for business they are very desirable. These suits $8, $10, to $20.

MITTEN AND PARKER

Made Serious Blunder in Filing Delegates

Bad Muddle in Ward Eight Representative Contest—Lawrence Will Swap Fletcher for Next Congressman--The Democratic Senatorial Contest--Other Political Notes of Interest

There is a most discouraging mixup ahead for the ligislature in ward eight, and unless the voters are carefully instructed as to how to cast their ballots on caucus day, ward eight box will be flooded with blanks. This is no reflection upon the intelligence of the republican voters of the ward, for the candidates are such as to confuse anyone, and show a lack of foresight on the part of the candidates in arranging their lists of delegates.

There are five candidates for representative, Messrs, Bradbury, Grant, Greenwood, Mitten and Parker. But only four lists of delegates have been filed and only one list of delegates can be voted upon by the caucus. Now the voter approaching the polls knows that the ward is entitled to two candidates, and is prepared to vote for two, naturally he will mark two lists of delegates, but if he does so he casts a blank ballot, for he can only vote for one list.

The mixup becomes even more confusing on account of the manner in which some of the lists are pledged. Parker and Mitten, for instance, have filed delegates pledged only to a single candidate, while there are two other delegates, one favorable to Bradbury and Greenwood, and the other to Bradbury and Grant. Thus it would appear that a voter cannot cast a ballot for Bradbury and Mitten, or Bradbury and Parker without casting a blank ballot.

The only safe way out of the muddle it appears, is to look the list over carefully, see who the different delegates are pledged to, and then vote for 24 single names of delegates, thus voting for one list. The mixup furnishes a strong argument in favor of direct nominations.

It would seem, in view of the mixup, that candidates Parker and Mitten have made a fatal mistake in not including Rep. Bradbury's name in their lists. It is conceded by all that he should be renominated and it is more than likely that rather than place him in jeopardy his friends will vote for the lists bearing his name, even though otherwise they would be with either Messrs. Parker or Mitten.

The Lawrence American (Republican) editorially says:

"Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher's campaign for Governor's Council is attracting a very general interest among the voters of Lawrence from the fact that they see the danger of a break in our alliance with the northern part of this district and a consequential danger to the Congressional situation. It is well understood that Lawrence is to have the next congressman if she desires it, and it is well known that we must have the support of Lowell, Chelmsford and Westford to prevail.

When Hon. W. S. Knox was our congressional candidate these places loyally supported him so long as he desired to be a candidate. The same is true when Byron Tyrell was the candidate for councillor and it would be of the deepest ingratitude not to aid Mr. Fletcher in every possible way. Inasmuch as we have nothing in common with Malden which is not in our congressional district and have so much in comon with the cities and towns of the northern part of the district, it would not be the part of wisdom to support the candidate from Malden which already has one of the fourteen executive offices of this state.

State Auditor Turner and Councillor Candidate Alfred E. Cox of Malden were guests of the Martin Luthers yesterday. Mr. Cox's presence was certainly a case of invading the enemy's country "some."

A party of the friends of Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher met at the New American House last evening and discussed his chances. A quite formidable bunch of republicans gathered and they promised the Westford man about everything in sight.

Registration opened yesterday and was quite large for opening and the number of young men was remarkable. The result of the sessions were as follows:

Afternoon, 1 to 3—Ward one, 4; two, 3; three, 1; four, 1; five, 1; six, 1; seven, 7; eight, 5, nine, 4.

Evening, 7 to 9—Ward one, 3; two, 9; three, 8; four, 11; five, 11; six, 6; seven, 9; eight, 7; nine, 4.

City Clerk Dadman swore in 150 out of 216 precinct officers last evening at city hall and gave them a talk on their duties and during the meeting the following problem was presented:

If a voter appeared at the caucuses and, being registered as a democrat, should demand a republican ballot, he would naturally be refused. If, however, he presses his claim, declaring that he has been wrongly recorded in his choice of party, the voter may, upon oath that this is true, vote the ticket he desires.

The ballot is marked and counted with the rest. It may be found later, however, that the voter took a false oath when he declared that he had been wrongly recorded. The problem at the meeting last night was, what would be the penalty for such false oath.

Exhaustive research failed to produce any penalty provided for in the law. The only result would be the throwing out of the ballot in case of a recount.

Out at Spalding park yesterday, Representative Barrett of Cambridge meeting "Old Hundred" Hayes, remarked: "Well, Mr. Hayes, are we going to have you with us next year?"

"Well, you can't tell," drawled Bill, slowly. "You never can tell what will happen at an election."

"He'll be there if he lives," remarked a friend of "Old Hundred," who overheard the question, and no doubt Bill is of the same opinion.

The committee in charge of Fred H. Rourke's campaign for the senatorial nomination present the proposition to the voters that a candidate with as honorable and as useful a record as a public servant should be kept in the public service in one branch or another as long as he will give his time to it. Mr. Rourke while in office they assert was confronted with a problematic condition, unprecedented in the history of the municipality and which probably will never arise again. It gave him an opportunity to earn the admiration and gratitude of his fellow citizens regardless of party. How well he met the situation and conquered it is a bright and interesting page in local municipal history and stamps Mr. Rourke as a safe and most desirable representative of the public to any branch of the public service, state or municipal. On these grounds the rallying committee urges his nomination for senator.

It's pretty good betting that Mr. Grimes of Reading will carry both Lowell wards in the sixth senatorial district. Senator Clark's record in labor legislation would hardly stand inspection by voters of a mill city like Lowell. The Grimes people are missing a great opportunity by not placing Senator Clark's labor record broadcast through the district.

"This end of the county will never get anything while the republicans of Lowell allow Teddy Weir, Roxy Shaw and Jim Ramsay to deliver them to the county ring, annually, and the best thing that has happened the republicans of Lowell in a long time is the bump which the Champlin men recently gave the ring by taking 18 delegates away from Sanderson after the latter had been delivered the entire party." Thus spoke a well-known republican to a party of friends a few days ago when the matter of county politics was under discussion.

Keep your eye on Mr. Cox of Malden. He is going to have a look-in on, after all. Last year Councillor Watson promised Mr. Cox that if Cox would step aside for him at that time he in turn would support him this year, and in fact the Lowell delegation was promised to Cox. This year, however, finds the Watsonites all hustling for ex-Senator Fletcher while though Mr. Watson, of course, is taking no hand in the contest, his confidential clerk, Mr. Richardson, is a delegate for Fletcher. There are some fair-minded republicans, however, who believe that the Watson people should live up to their promise to Mr. Cox, made last year and these will do all in their power to aid the man from Malden.

The claim recently made that Col. Gerting has 20 delegates in Lowell is now being attacked on all sides and it would appear that Draper has the pole in this city.

SUBWAY SANK

STREET RAILWAY TRACKS SETTLE SEVERAL INCHES.

BOSTON, Sept 22—A break in the sewer at the corner of Washington and Milk streets about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon allowed the water to wash away eight feet of sheathing of the new subway, resulting in the sinking of about 20 feet of street railway tracks to the extent of three or four inches.

Fortunately no workman was near enough to be caught in the falling debris, and no street car happened to be approaching.

The subway excavation at this point is 47 feet deep.

The police and construction employes roped off the dangerous portion of the street, and sent the surface cars down Franklin street.

Traffic was delayed for four hours.

SUICIDE PACT

One Man Took Poison, Other is Missing

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Despondent because he could not obtain employment, Leva Prenblay, 27 years old, whose home is in Southbridge, attempted suicide by taking paris green, early last night. Behind the man's attempt to end his life is a pathetic story of want and privation and final discouragement.

Prenblay came to this city about two weeks ago in search of work. He took up lodgings in the South End, and in his wanderings about town he became acquainted with a man named Smith. Smith also was looking for work, and the two became friends.

They read the daily papers and tried all the employment bureaus, but without success, and finally their money ran low. For several days they had been living on the scantiest meals, but they ran out of money and became utterly discouraged. They were rooming on Harrison av., near Broadway, but Prenblay could not remember the number of the house nor did he know his companion's first name.

When they met at their room last night and compared notes the men decided that it was hardly worth while continuing the struggle any longer, and after discussing their condition Smith suggested that they commit suicide. The proposition at first shocked Prenblay, he said, but after listening to his companion's arguments he yielded and the pair decided to die together.

They secured a quantity of paris green and each swallowed a portion of it. Prenblay sank into unconsciousness but when he recovered he left his room and made his way out to Roxbury. He reached Tremont street, and seeing Dr. Adams' office at 1637, called upon the doctor and informed him of his attempt upon his life.

Dr. Adams immediately notified the police of division 10 and then busied himself with Prenblay. The doctor administered an emetic and did his utmost to relieve the unfortunate man. Lieut Fessenden sent the ambulance and Prenblay was removed to the City hospital. It is believed that he will recover.

The police were unable to find any trace of Smith, nor had they received any report of his attempt upon his life.

TOM TAGGART

Says McCall Was Not Asked For Money

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Chairman Taggart of the Democratic National committee arrived in New York yesterday from Indianapolis. He denied the statement made by President McCall of the New York Life before the legislative insurance committee on Wednesday, that the Democratic National committee had solicited money for the campaign fund from that concern.

"No member of the national committee or any agent of the committee ever asked Mr. McCall or the New York Life for a dollar," he said.

Mr. Taggart added:

"Neither the Democratic National committee or any other authorized representative of the committee ever asked for a dollar from any insurance company."

He said he did not come to New York to testify before the insurance investigation committee. It was also stated at the investigation yesterday, that Chairman Taggart had not been asked to testify.

STANDS PAT

DALZELL TALKS ABOUT TARIFF REVISION.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 22.—The Hon. John Dalzell, senior representative from Allegheny county in congress, yesterday gave out a statement embodying his views on the tariff. Mr. Dalzell is a "stand patter." He said in part:

"I am not in favor of tariff revision at this time. In my judgment it would be unwise and impolitic.

"It is unnecessary. We are, as is universally conceded, enjoying a prosperity such as we nor any other people have before known. Our home market is the greatest in the world. Our foreign market has been increasing year by year under the operation of our present law.

"We can safely go to the country under the present law. It would be dangerous to do so under a new and untried one. I do not believe that there is any substantial demand outside of the democratic and mugwump press and the reciprocity theorists for tariff revision at this time. This I say deliberately after a journey across the continent clear to the Pacific coast. Everywhere I heard expressed the hope that there would be no interference with the tariff."

GEER DROWNED

HIS COMPANION HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 22.—By the upsetting of a canoe yesterday afternoon in the Connecticut river, Alfred D. Geer of Northampton, Mass., of the class of 1907, Dartmouth college, was drowned, and his companion, Francis B. Riley, '07, of Jamaica Plain, Mass., narrowly escaped with his life.

The young men started down the river in their canoe, for Claremont, 30 miles below here yesterday afternoon. They carried their canoe around Wilders falls, but in going down the rapids just below the falls, their canoe was capsized by the rapid current and young Geer's body was swept away. It has not yet been recovered. Riley was rescued in an exhausted condition, and was resuscitated with great difficulty. Geer was about 21 years of age, a member of the Sigma Mater fraternity and was prominent in college literary circles.

RECORDS GONE

DAN PATCH DID SOME GREAT WORK.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 22.—Records were broken in the races at the Allentown fair yesterday in the presence of 75,000 people, who shouted and cheered when Dan Patch paced by two runners and with H. C. Hersey driving, went a mile in 2.01. The quarters were made in 30½, 30, 30 and 30½. An hour later Dan Patch hitched to a road wagon, cut the pacing record of his sire, Joe Patchen, from 2.11½ to 2.05. The quarters were made in 31, 32, 32 and 30.

JOSS STICK PARTY.

A joss stick party was held at the Elite rink last night and it proved to be a grand success. At the first session there were 400 in the march and in the second session 350 were on the floor, each skater in line carrying a joss stick. The decorations of the rink hall were such as to produce moonlight effects, and this added to the charm of the occasion.

In about two weeks, at a date not yet set, a skating cotillion will be given.

PERSONALS

The annual tea party of the primary department of the Dracut Centre church will be held Saturday afternoon at the church from 2 to 5 o'clock. In case of rain the little people will have their party on the following Saturday.

Harold Jewett, Percy Hands of Humphrey street, Melvin Masters of Moody street and George Mevis of Methuen street will start Monday for the University of Vermont, where they will continue their studies. The young men are all graduates of the Lowell High school. Masters was well known in the athletics of the High school, being one of the fastest runners in the state.

Mrs. Anna Gould Carpenter and Mrs. John Smith of Vernon street have just returned from a pleasant trip to Portland, Me.

Mrs. Miner Williams of Oberlin, O., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Burtt of this city.

A very pleasant farewell surprise party was given in behalf of the friends of Miss Olga E. Pihl last evening at the home of her parents, 37 B street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Andrews and Miss Cora Bent have just returned from a trip to Halifax, Nova Scotia, Cape Breton and Prince Edward Island.

Miss Katherine Wholey of Fall River and her cousin, Miss Julia M. Wholey of Lowell have returned from Newport, where they spent a very enjoyable "old home week." Miss Julia M. Wholey has resumed her studies at Boston university, from which institution she will graduate in June, 1906.

Rev. Charles L. Merriam, former pastor of the Highland Congregational church, now of Derry, N. H., will preach at the Highland church next Sunday morning and evening.

Born in Dracut, Sept. 18, to Mr. and Mrs. Sam McDonald, a son.

Albert Spicer, for the past two years boss of the overhead construction work of the Boston & Northern in Haverhill, has resigned his position and, after a four weeks' vacation in Maine will come to Lowell, where he will take a similar position on the Lowell division of the same company.

PELHAM FAIR

Red Letter Day for the Grange

SPLENDED EXHIBITS FROM THE FARMS

List of Sports Run Off in the Afternoon

With ideal weather prevailing throughout the day and a large attendance, the seventh annual fair under the auspices of the Pelham Grange conducted at Pelham yesterday was a brilliant success and the good folk of the town for miles around were there.

There were hundreds of visitors in attendance too, and all were highly pleased with what they saw. As an agricultural town Pelham is a hummer and when it comes to a display of garden and farm products she can make a splendid showing.

The fair was one of those genuine old fashioned functions of characteristic New England type and was, too, something of a family gathering for all our country cousins.

George S. Butler was the man. They always select Mr. Butler when they want to make a success of a thing. He managed the fair in a manner that left no chance for a slip up or a criticism. William E. Pearson was master of the grange and rendered able assistance to Mr. Butler.

The festivities opened shortly before noon in town hall where the agricultural exhibition was held. On long rows of tables were stretched the products of the farms, including all kinds of fruit, vegetables and other garden truck. Great interest was evinced in all these displays, and so good were the exhibits that the judges found great difficulty in awarding the premiums. In a separate department were several displays of chickens, geese, pigeons and fowl.

The entire upper floor was given to a display of fancy work of all kinds, and flowers and jellies, the women especially showing great interest in these displays. A large number of antique pieces of pewter, including a lantern and coffee pot, and a small and decidedly old fashioned stove attracted much attention.

The cattle exhibit in the stalls in the rear of the hall was rather small, but was nevertheless very good. In the class for bulls, Hubley Brothers' 14-months' old Holstein bull was awarded first premium, J. H. Marsh's 9 months' old bull second premium, and D. W. Burns' bull third.

Among the cows, D. Guild's Holsteins, Sheffield Lyons' Jersey cow and L. W. Burns' Aberdeen cow were awarded first premiums. E. M. Hill's cow and pig, the only display of the porcine family, were awarded a first premium.

A hall dozen stalks of corn, nearly 8 feet in height, which were displayed in front of the hall by George H. Currier, was awarded a first premium.

Dinner was served in Pilgrim hall at 1.30.

A program of sports was carried out immediately after dinner and great interest was manifested in them.

A contest of pulling a dead weight of 8250 pounds was entered by five teams and E. M. Hills won first prize William D. Smith second and R. D. Snow third. The judges were Mr. McLean of Methuen, William Morris of Hudson and Mr. Buttrick of Derry.

The following is a summary of the sports:

700 yard run—Won by Isaiah Holmes. Time, 1.14. Second, John Peabody.

Three legged race—Won by Isaiah Holmes and William Canale. Time, 20 seconds. Second, Edwin Searles and William Smith.

Tug-of-war—Teams of six men)—Won by Stephen Donovan's team, two pulls out of three. Second, team captained by Frank H. Hillman.

The committees in charge of the exhibits and the other details of the fair did their work magnificently. There was a unity in everything that was done, and with well regulated effort men and women attained what they set out to accomplish. The success of the fair was a commentary upon the character of the grange members.

The horse trot brought out several good steppers and intense interest prevailed. The half mile was won by Carl Shaw's Queen, in 1:30, and P. H. Knapp's Whirlwind was second.

The second event was a trot for the 2.21 class. This was won by C. E. Rathborn's Winner, half mile in 1:24; John Flynn's Mark, second, and Arthur Fox's Defence third.

A. K. Jones' Exercise won the three minute class trot in 2:57 and F. H. Knapp's Phinie was second. William Morris of Hudson, Mr. McLean of Methuen and Mr. Buttrick of Derry were the judges.

The following were the winners of premiums in the vegetable display:

Assorted vegetables—First premium, Samuel E. Mann; second premium, R. D. Snow.

Beets—First premium, F. A. Burton; second premium, Charles Guild.

Squashes—First premium, G. C. Mann; second premium, R. D. Snow.

Onions—First premium, Mrs. Estelle Hyde.

Display potatoes—First premium, W. E. Pearson.

Bushel potatoes—First premium, George S. Butler; second premium, R. D. Snow.

Tomatoes—First premium, G. E. Mann; second premium, Mrs. Estelle Hyde.

Cabbages—First premium, G. E. Mann; second premium, F. A. Burton.

Pole beans—First premium, George S. Butler.

Sweet corn—First premium, D. G. B. Burns.

Turnips—First premium, G. E. Mann.

Pumpkins—First premium, R. D. Snow; second premium, E. G. Hobbs.

Pop corn—First premium, G. E. Mann.

Trace corn—First premium, Ray Jones; second premium, F. A. Burton.

Cucumbers—First premium, R. M. Hills.

Special premium—Squash, George S. Butler.

COL. RHODES

BROTHER OF THE LATE CECIL RHODES DEAD.

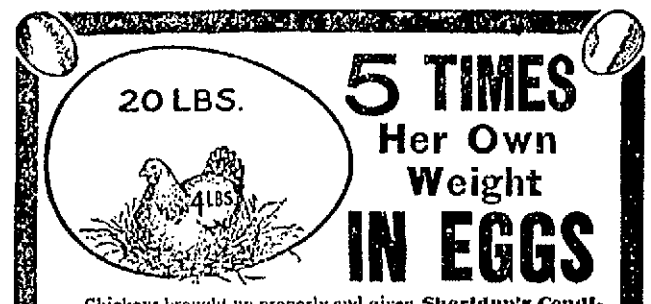

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The British South Africa company in London last evening received information of the death in Cape Town of Col. Francis William Rhodes (retired), brother of the late Cecil Rhodes, and managing director of the African Trans-Continental Telegraph company.

For participation in the Jameson raid, Colonel Rhodes was sentenced to death, the sentence being subsequently commuted to imprisonment, followed by banishment. The colonel served with distinction in the campaigns in the Soudan and on several occasions was mentioned for bravery.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The subscription list at the Academy of Music is swelling daily, and at the present time there are over 600 names on the book. Patrons of the theatre who have their names in the book find it a great convenience. During the past week there have been several theatre parties in attendance, and Wednesday and Friday evenings are becoming commonly called society nights, for these two nights seem to be picked out by the elites of this city.

Next week, Mr. Wright Huntington will be seen in "The Great Diamond Robbery," as the detective who is always on hand to punish the villain and rescue persecuted innocence. He is given an opportunity to assume some amusing disguises and practice many different kinds of dialect. The drama is very cleverly constructed, and while the detective appears in what might be called impossible places at different stages of the play, it is one which has met with great success every time when presented by a good company.

5 TIMES Her Own Weight IN EGGS

Chickens brought up properly and given Sheridan's Condition Powder regularly with their food, develop more rapidly—arrive at laying maturity earlier, and produce eggs abundantly. With Sheridan's Condition Powder to urge her, a four pound pullet will yield from four to five times her own weight in eggs the first year.

Sheridan's Condition Powder is a medicine used by poultrymen for over thirty years with wonderful success—it makes young pullets strong and healthy—it carries old hens quickly through the moulting season, and keeps them laying steadily throughout the winter when eggs sell from 40 to 50 cents a dozen.

If your dealer cannot supply you—we will send a sample package for 25c; 5 for $1.00. Large 1lb. can, $1.20; 6 for $5.00. Sample best poultry paper, free.

THE MERRIMACK

Clothing Company

Women's Dept.

Advance Offering of High Grade

Fur Lined Coats

FOR TEN DAYS

The selling of women's fur lined garments promises to be a big feature of the coming season, and the very force and nature of the demand for them has caused prices on all furs to advance materially—and has thrown on the market a great quantity of undesirable skins, which pass as perfect.

The object of the Merrimack in holding this advance sale is to allow its patrons an opportunity of selecting from a choice assortment—and at more favorable prices than will rule later in the season.

The outside fabrics are of broadcloth, kersey or grosgrain silk—in black, castor, red or nile. The linings are a choice selection of skins including sable, squirrel, baby squirrel, and German squirrel. The collars and cuffs are of generous size in Persian, Jap mink or sable squirrel. The garments are 45 to 48 inches long, and are made by suit houses, which means good tailoring throughout.

The whole showing is of importance to every woman who wishes to dress well and economically.

Special at $25.00

One lot of fine coats of broadcloth or kersey in black only, cut 46 and 48 inches long, lined with natural or blended squirrel, sustlcka; plush or quilted silk; collars and cuffs of river mink or Siberian squirrel. Every garment in the lot is well tailored, and worth from $5.00 to $10.00 more than this week's price.

Other garments up to $85.00.

NOTE—On payment of a small deposit, we will hold the garment of your choice until Nov. 1st.

A Big Value in

BOYS' SCHOOL SUITS

Double Breasted Jacket and Two Pairs of Pants, Value $3.50

$2.35

In two nice patterns of all wool cheviots—new fall goods. The pants are made strongly with taped seams and rivetted buttons. The coats are double-breasted and fit well. They are dependably made or we wouldn't have them, and they're worth $3.00 without the extra pant. We offer you the two pairs of pants and coat for $2.35.

The new suits are all in—the biggest stock we've ever shown. Prices $2.00 to $10.00.

The Merrimack Derby

The Hat of Style and Quality

$2.00

The man who has never worn a MERRIMACK DERBY has never known the utmost of hat value. The increasing cost of all the ingredients of a derby has caused a deterioration of quality in most makes. Not so with the Merrimack Derby. We have kept it up to the mark at all times—sacrificed profit a little—but "MERRIMACK" on a derby is the same as "Merrimack" on a coat—it stands for quality, no matter what the price—so the quality has been maintained.

The new fall style is a gem—a full crown and a rather rolling brim with a flat curl.

Riot on New York's East Side

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—One man was killed, a policeman seriously injured and two persons shot in an east side riot last night. The fighting followed the effort of the police to clear away a crowd which had become disorderly in front of a restaurant in lower Second avenue. There had been numerous complaints from the neighborhood that remnants of several of the recently broken up "gangs" on the east side had been meeting at the restaurant and were becoming unruly. The police of the precinct were especially instructed by their captain last night to rid the vicinity of the vicous characters. The appearance of Policeman Walter J. Miller on the scene was at once the signal for trouble.

A woman jeered at him and when the men were told to move on they refused to go. Miller arrested a young man named Jack Klein and was immediately set upon by the fellow's companions. Miller was hit heavily over the head with a club and fell to the ground, still retaining his hold on Klein. The prostrate policeman was kicked and beaten but finally managed to draw his pistol, and after shouting a warning, fired twice. One bullet struck Klein between the shoulders and he fell dead. The second bullet passed through the leg of Max Felderbaum, causing a flesh wound and entered the foot of Florence Smith, a 19-year-old girl.

Reserves from two precincts had to be summoned before quiet could be restored. Several arrests were made on charge of vicious assault, inciting to riot, attempting to rescue prisoners. At the hospital it was said Policeman Miller may have a fractured skull.

FOUND IN WOODS

BODY OF JOHN O'HARA WHO WAS MISSING.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Two weeks ago the town authorities of Port Washington, L. I., received an annoyamous letter telling them that they would probably find in a clump of woods the dead body of James O'Hara, a laborer, who had been missing since Aug. 13. The writer of the letter said he had overheard a conversation between Cleveland Poole who boarded with O'Hara and his wife, and another person, unnamed, which induced him to write to the police.

Yesterday a hunter stumbled across the badly decomposed body of a man near the O'Hara house. The clothing was quickly identified as that worn by O'Hara when last seen. Officers immediately arrested Poole, who admitted that he had been drinking with O'Hara on the last night the latter was seen alive. He said O'Hara had wanted to fight with him on the way home but he would not engage in a quarrel and finally left him on the public road. O'Hara was not seen again and inquiry at his home brought the answer that it was supposed he was visiting friends.

TEN YEARS

HIGHWAYMAN SENT AWAY BY JUDGE SCHOFIELD.

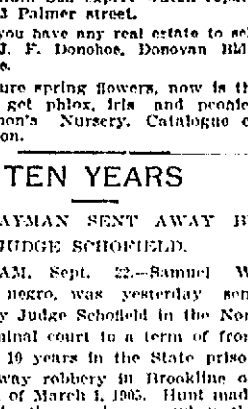

DEDHAM, Sept. 22.—Samuel W. Hunt, a negro, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Schofield in the Norfolk Criminal court to a term of from seven to 10 years in the State prison for highway robbery in Brookline on the night of March 1, 1905. Hunt made a scene in the court room when the sentence was pronounced.

Hunt had previously pleaded guilty to the charge of robbery. On March 11 last, Charles W. Birtwell was assaulted and robbed by three negroes near his home in Brookline. Hunt was captured a few hours later, and in his pockets were found paper that had been taken from Mr. Birtwell.

Albert Williams, another member of the party, was shot and killed by Police Captain Paige of Brookline while trying to escape arrest. The third man was never apprehended.

BOATS COLLIDED

Schooner Herbert Disabled and Leaking

CHATHAM, Sept. 22.—The two-masted schooner Herbert, bound from Rockport, Mass., for Newport, R. I., with a cargo of granite was in collision early today about 20 miles off Chatham, with an unknown schooner bound east. The bowsprit and head gear of the Herbert were carried away and as a result of the accident she is partly disabled and leaking. The pilot of the schooner was observed during the morning by the life saving crew at the Nauset station. The mainsail of the unknown schooner was torn. According to Captain Perkins of the Herbert, the other vessel resumed her voyage after the collision, without offering assistance.

The captain and crew of the Herbert, numbering four men, believe that the schooner which struck their vessel was bound for St. John or some other provincial port from the south. She was apparently light. As it was dark, however, when the collision occurred, the crew of the Herbert could not discern the name of the vessel, which resumed her course east directly after the accident. It was observed that her main sail was badly ripped. The only explanation that Captain Perkins could offer of the collision was that in the thick gloom the men at the wheels failed to observe the lights of the schooner.

Shortly after daybreak the Herbert was sighted at anchor between Orleans and Nauset station. She was boarded later by Captain Walker of the Nauset guard, with several of the life savers, who assisted in getting the Herbert under way. The schooner proceeded north, leaking. At the request of Captain Perkins, Captain Walker sent a dispatch to the Rockport agent of the Herbert, asking that a tug boat be sent from Boston to tow the damaged schooner to that port.

The Herbert is a vessel of 114 tons and was built at East Boston in 1883. Her home port is Gloucester.

PEABODY DEAD

Was a Well Known Boston Banker

BEVERLY, Mass., Sept. 22.—Francis H. Peabody, a prominent banker of Boston, died suddenly at his home at Beverly Cove, early today. Heart disease was the cause of death. Mr. Peabody was 74 years old.

Mr. Peabody was stricken during the night and the illness proved to be so serious that the family physician, who was hurriedly summoned, could do nothing to relieve the dying banker.

Mr. Peabody was apparently enjoying excellent health yesterday. He went to Boston yesterday and spent several hours at the office of the Kidder, Peabody & Co., of which firm he was the senior member.

During the afternoon he boarded his yacht and went for a short sail, after which he returned to his summer home here, where he took dinner with the members of his family. Mr. Peabody retired early in the evening, but made no remark about feeling ill. Shortly after midnight the members of the household were hurriedly aroused, one of them having discovered that Mr. Peabody was experiencing difficulty in breathing. The family physician was summoned but although he arrived in a few moments he was unable to save the patient.

Mr. Peabody for nearly half a century has been prominent in the financial circles of the United States, and in 1865 organized the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., which is one of the best known financial institutions in the world.

The other members of the firm are Frank G. Webster, Robert Winsor and Francis E. Peabody, a son of the founder of the bank. In addition to the latter, Mr. Peabody is survived by a widow and one daughter.

Mr. Peabody was born at Springfield, Mass., October 9, 1831. He was the son of Rev. W. B. O. Peabody, a Unitarian clergyman. In 1847 he went to Boston to take a position as clerk in the office of John G. Thayer & Company, bankers. In 1865 the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Company was organized by Mr. Peabody, together with Henry P. Kidder and Colonel O. W. Peabody, both of whom had been connected with the Thayer company.

Mr. Peabody was a director of the Boston Elevated Railway company, and until a year ago he was director of the United States Steel corporation.

CAPT. ELLIS, S. S. "HALIFAX"

Popular Mariner Who Has Passed Through Many Tempests Tells How Vital Force Cured Him.

One of the best known and most popular mariners sailing out of the port of Boston is Capt. Alfred Ellis, master of S. S. "Halifax," Plant line. He contracted a terrible cold last winter while trying to make port at Charlottetown, Prince Edward's Island, and his testimony, freely given, in behalf of Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force is valid proof of the curative qualities of this marvellous remedy, which is destined to become a medicine of universal use the world over. Capt. Ellis writes:

"While standing on the bridge, trying to make port at Charlottetown, P. E. I., during a blinding storm of rain, snow and sleet, I contracted a severe cold, accompanied with soreness in my throat and intense pains about my chest and lungs. I was unable to speak above a whisper, was fearful that it would assume a dangerous phase, and knew full well that if I did not get rid of the cold at once, that I would be taking great chances on account of my being obliged to face the storms of winter. I had tried about everything recommended for such troubles, but none of them cured me. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Bartlett's Vital Force, and in fact, he had such faith in the medicine that he gave me several bottles of the remedy. I began its use right away and my hoarseness disappeared and the soreness in my throat, and pains in my chest left me in a short time. I continued taking it until I knew I was completely cured, and ever since I have kept a bottle in my cabin for emergency. I sincerely recommend this remedy for the speedy cure of throat and lung troubles, having given it an honest test, after other medicines failed to cure."

(Signed) "ALFRED ELLIS,
"Master S. S. 'Halifax,' Plant Line.
"Nov. 12, 1904."

On land and sea, DR. BARTLETT'S VITAL FORCE is a wonderful medicine. No morphine, opium, cocaine, chloral, chloroform, arsenic or alcohol. A doctor's prescription, purely vegetable and not a patent medicine. In use over 33 years. Makes blood, feeds nerves, gives strength. Pleasant to take. Will give you mental force.

Dr. Bartlett's Current of Life Tablets guaranteed cure for liver ills, constipation, rush of blood, dizziness, sour stomach, sallow complexion, pimples, blotches etc. (mild laxative) 25c a box.

AN INJUNCTION

Sought Against Utah Copper Company

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Argument was heard at Newark yesterday before Vice Chancellor Pitney on a motion for an injunction to restrain the Utah Copper company from carrying out an agreement with the Guggenheim Exploration company, by which the latter concern would become the owner of 51 per cent. of the stock of the former. Enos A. Wall of Salt Lake city, vice-president and director of the copper company, is the complainant. He owns 20 per cent. of the stock of the company.

To carry out the plan which Wall is opposing the copper company desires to increase its capitalization to $6,000,000 and issue $3,000,000 of 6 per cent. ten-year bonds. The bonds and the $1,500,000 new stock are to be turned over, under the plan to the Guggenheim concern. At one stage of the proceedings, the vice chancellor exclaimed:

"My idea is that a man is nothing more than a born fool to take any stock in a company unless he goes in with men in whom he can have confidence and who will not manage the affairs of the corporation regardless of the rights of the small holders. I like to see a company managed on its merits, with a due regard to the small as well as the large stockholders."

Mr. Wall has obtained several temporary injunctions restraining the copper company from carrying out its plan and one of these will prevent a meeting set for tomorrow to put the new plan into execution. The vice chancellor reserved decision for a week.

MATRIMONIAL.

William Molloy of 34 Fern street, and Miss Margaret M. Byrne of 469 Hampshire street, both well known in Lowell, were married Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in St. Mary's church, Lawrence, Fr. Cullinane performed the ceremony.

After the marriage a wedding reception was held at the home of the bride from 6 to 9 o'clock. Fully 200 guests were present and a bountiful repast was served to all.

The bride looked charming in an exquisite gown of purest white silk mulle and carried bride roses. Her bridesmaid was attired in a dainty dress of blue silk mulle and carried white pinks.

Friends were present from Dover, Manchester, Taunton, Franklin, Newark, N. J., Lynn, Lowell and Methuen.

The ushers were Michael Fay, Lewis Connor, Alec Long and Thomas Pender.

The wedding cake was cut and served by the bride herself.

A very fine musical program was rendered and the guests made merry until a late hour.

Ice cream was served at 9 o'clock, just before the departure of the bride and groom.

Despite the fact that dozens of watchful eyes were awaiting the departure of the newly married couple, they managed to slip away unnoticed and were nowhere to be found.

They took the 9 o'clock train for Boston and will enjoy an extended trip to Nantasket and Old Orchard beaches, and also the White Mountains. They will be at home to their friends Oct. 15, at 469 Hampshire street.

The bride wore a very becoming suit of blue broadcloth for a traveling gown, with hat to match.

The presents which the young couple received were very numerous and beautiful.

ALLAN—FRANKLIN.

Mr. David Allan and Miss Annie Franklin were united in marriage Wednesday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. James R. Greenwood in Wigginville by Rev. R. W. Matthews. The house was prettily decorated. The best man was Mr. Emil Carlson, and the bridesmaid was Miss Annie Greenwood. The bride was gowned in white silk over taffeta, and the bridesmaid wore blue silk over taffeta. There were many valuable and useful presents. The young couple left for a week's trip in Maine and on their return will reside at 16 Epping street.

WEBER—BARRY.

At St. Lawrence's church in Lawrence Wednesday evening, William Weber of this city and Miss Helen G. Barry of Lawrence were united in marriage by Rev. Fr. Driscoll.

John McVey was best man, while Margaret A. Barry, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The bride was attired in blue silk. The bridesmaid was also becomingly gowned in similar attire. A reception was held at the home of the bride, 10 Elm street. The newly married couple left on the 2.50 train for an extended trip to New York. Friends were present from Haverhill, Lynn and Lowell. The presents were numerous and costly.

NORTON—HUTCHINS.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hutchins on Elm street, Lawrence, presented a very pretty scene on Tuesday night the occasion being the marriage of their youngest daughter, Carrie Louise to Clare W. Norton of Lawrence.

To the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, played on the piano by Edwin G. Booth, the bride entered, escorted by her father and attended by Miss Elva G. Hutchins, her niece, as flower girl. Immediately following was the bridegroom with ushers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur L. Snell of Fitchburg, a cousin of the bride.

They will reside at 117 Elm street.

BISHOP STANG

May be Archbishop at New Orleans

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The World this morning says that Bishop Stang of Fall River, Mass., will probably be the successor of the late Archbishop Chapelle at New Orleans, La. It adds:

"Dr. Stang is regarded as the most available candidate for the vacancy. He speaks fluently English, German and French and for this reason would be well qualified to fill the vacancy because of the cosmopolitan population of the archdiocese of New Orleans. He has been most favorably recommended by influential Catholic ecclesiastics."

Bishop Stang was for many years rector of the cathedral at Providence, R. I., and later became vice rector of the American college in Louvain. From there he was promotsd to the see of Fall River, Mass.
